Roosevelt Says He Will Go to Chicago If Republican Convention Desires to Hear Him

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM COMMITTEE ADOPTS PLANK FOR SUFFRAGE

Subcommittee, Which Had Rejected Votes-for-Women Clause, 5 to 4, Is Reversed 26 to 21—Prohibition Turned Down Without Record Vote—Strong Declaration for Universal Military Training.

COLISEUM, CHICAGO, June 8.—A plan calling for nationwide compulsory military training was defeated by the Republican Resolutions Committee after much discussion, 19 to 23.

COLISEUM, CHICAGO, June 8.—The Republican Committee on Resolutions by a vote of 26 to 21 today decided to incorporate in the platform a plank endorsing in principle, woman suffrage.

Immediately after the committee reconvened Senator Borah of Idaho, introduced the following plank:

"The Republican party, reaffirming its faith in government of the people, by the people and for the people, favors the extension of suffrage to women as a measure of justice to one-half the adult people of this country."

Later the committee sent a call for absentees and this was taken to presage a move to reconsider the suffrage plank.

This action was taken following the refusal of the subcommittee, by a vote of 5 to 4, to sanction votes for women. The subcommittee was in session until 1:30 o'clock this morning.

The plank was discussed and debated for nearly an hour and a half when a vote was taken and the plank adopted. The advocates of suffrage were widly enthusiastic over the indorsement of their measure. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Association for Woman Suffrage, declared the insertion of the plank in the Republican platform would set the cause ahead 25 years.

After deciding on the suffrage plank the committee took up the discussion of prohibition and by an informal vote decided against the inclusion of a prohibition plank in the platform.

The committee adopted a plank affirming that the United States should maintain perfect neutrality.

An attempt to take up the discussion of a plank favoring the establishment of an embargo on munitions of war was ruled out of order. Notice was given that the subject would be raised again.

Some Platform Provisions.

The full Committee on Resolutions did not resume its work until 11 o'clock, when it immediately entered upon the consideration at the Coliseum of the subcommittee's draft of a platform.

Much interest centers about the declaration dealing with affairs in Mexico, owing largely to the fact that the members of the subcommittee developed differences on this question. The provision adopted by the subcommittee in addition to its censure of the Democratic administration of affairs in Mexico calls for protection of American lives and property, not on the Mexican border alone, but throughout Mexico.

The platform specifically calls for legislation for the protection against child labor and just as specifically declares for general workmen's compensation legislation and for legislation for the compensation to workmen injured in the Federal service.

There is a plank devoted to merchant marine in general terms and another calling for the conservation of American resources, but the latter is modified so as to require that such conservation shall not be so administered as to interfere with the utilization of the resources by the people of the country.

Progressive Wishes Heeded.

Other planks touching on labor, Americanism, national defense and other questions have been adopted in a form to meet Progressive sentiment. Planks for the recall, the initiative and the referendum have been rejected in the subcommittee.

The preparedness plank declares both for military and industrial preparedness. Provisions relative to the increase in the strength of the army and navy—able to meet any possible foe—entirely satisfactory to the Navy League and similar organizations, have been incorporated. A constructive program for industrial preparedness is urged upon Congress.

The platform contains a strong declaration for the adoption of a system of universal military training.

The restoration of a protective tariff is declared essential to the prosperity of the nation. It is declared that unless a protective tariff is restored serious consequences will follow the close of the war. Possible importation of products of cheap foreign labor, if the present Democratic tariff is continued, is viewed with alarm. The tariff plank also declares for a tariff commission.

The platform reaffirms the Monroe Doctrine, asserting its necessity for our peace and safety and for the attainment of our manifest destiny.

"We declare in favor of national control of transportation agencies through the Interstate Commerce Commission by a constitutional amendment if necessary," says the platform.

Restriction of immigration through a literacy test, as advocated by organized labor, is favored.

In order to meet the views of Progressives, some of the social justice planks of the 1912 Bull Moose platform are incorporated.

Among them is a provision favoring the enactment of women's hours legislation in factories which do an interstate commerce business. The social justice plans which, by unanimous consent, are omitted from the platform, include the recall and the initiative and referendum.

Bartholdt Aids German-Americans.

German sympathizers in this country, represented here by former Congressman Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis, and others, who speak for a large element of pro-German-Americans, notified members of the Committee on Resolutions that any reference to the acts of Germany in the European war would be considered an affront to a large element of American citizens. They feel certain now that the members of the committee will refrain from affronting any body of Americans.

Representtatives Madden and Howland and Senator Borah, Fall and Oliver practically had promised they would not support any proposition to criticise Germany or any other nation. chow.

Full Text of Roosevelt's Statement

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 8.

FOLLOWING is the text of the telegram sent by Sol. Theodore Roosevelt today in answer to a telegram from William B. Jackson, former United States Senator from Maryland and Republican National Committeeman from that State, asking the Colonel to go to Chicago in the interest of harmony:

"Honorable William B. Jackson, Republican Headquarters, Chicago, Ill.

"In answer to your telegram I can only say that the matter lies with the Republican Convention and that if the convention desires me to address it I shall be glad to do so.

"I very earnestly hope that the Republicans and Progressives assembled at Chicago will keep steadily in mind the gravity of this crisis, not only for America, but for the world, and the need that their action in dignity, foresight and patriotism shall rise level to the crisis. I hope that the aim will not be merely to nominate a man who can be elected next November, but a man of such powerful character, steadfast conviction and proved ability that if elected he will again place this nation where it belongs by making it true to itself and therefore true to all mankind. President Wilson, however amiable his intentions, has rendered to this people the most evil service that can be rendered to a great democracy by its chosen leader.

"He has dulled the nation's conscience and relaxed the spring of lofty national motive by teaching our people to accept high sounding words as the offset and atonement for shabby deeds and to use words which mean nothing in order to draw all meaning from those which have a meaning. It will be no easy task to arouse the austere self-respect which has been lulled to slumber by these means. To this task we should bend our united energies in the spirit of Washington and Lincoln, the spirit of genuine democratic leadership, the spirit which sets the standard to which the nation ought to rise, and then with confident hope appeal to the soul of the people, so that they may in fact support the standard thus raised.

"The differences that have divided, not merely Republicans and Progressives, but good Americans of all shades of political belief, from one another in the past sink into nothing when compared with the issues now demanding decision, for these issues are vital to the national life. They are the issues of a unified Americanism, and of national preparedness. If we are not all of us Americans and nothing else, scorning to divide along lines of section, of creed or of national origin, then the nation itself will crumble into dust.

"If we are not thoroughly prepared, if we have not developed a strength which respects the rights of others, but which is also ready to enforce from others respect for its own rights, then sooner or later we shall have to submit to the will of an alien conqueror.

"These questions are not in the realm of abstract thought. They must be taken out of the world of cloudy promises and vague phrasing into the world of performance and of fact. They are today in concrete form before you and your fellows for decision. For two years, in the face of the awful world cataclysm, this nation has stood supine and helpless and has not in the smallest degree prepared itself to ward off the danger. No promise, no excuse now made by those responsible for this inaction is entitled to serious consideration. It is for you and your associates to show the people that they have a worthy alternative to which to turn.

"The professional German-Americans, acting through various agencies, including so-called German-American alliances, are at this moment serving notice on the members of your convention that your action must be taken with a view to the interests, not of the United States, but of Germany and of that section of the German-American vote which is anti-American to the core. I believe with all my heart that the action of these sinister professional German-Americans, will be repudiated with angry contempt by the great mass of our fellow citizens, who are in whole or in part of German blood—and who, as I well know, are unsurpassed in rugged and whole-souled Americanism by any other citizens of our land.

But the professional German-Americans are seeking to terrorize your convention; for they wish to elect next November a man who shall not be in good faith an American President, but the viceroy of a foreign Government. It is for your convention in emphatic fashion to repudiate them. This can be done in effective manner only if such action is taken as to enable Republicans, Progressives, Democrats who are true to the principles of Andrew Jackson, and Independents—in short, all loyal Americans—to join in the effort to reach the goal we all have in view.

"Can we not, forgetting our differences, now join, for the safety and honor of our country, to enforce the policies of genuine Amercansim and genuine preparedness? Surely we can afford to act in accordance with the words ot Abraham Lincoln, when he said: 'May not all having a common interest reunite in a common effort to save our common country? May we ask those who have not differed with us to join in this sane spirit towards those who have?'

"As far as my soul is known to me it is in this same spirit that at this time I make my appeal to Republicans and Progressives assembled at Chicago.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Chicagoan Selected by Committee for Permanent Presiding Officer of the Progressives.

AUDITORIUM, June 8.—Some of the Progressive leaders, including Chairman Murdok of the National Committee, were seriously considering immediate nomination today of Col. Roosevelt. Murdock was quoted as saying it might be "too late" tomorrow.

AUDITORIUM, CHICAGO, June 8.—By a vote of 25 to 11 Raymond Robins today was chosen over Hiram Johnson by the Permanent Organization Committee as permanent chairman of the Progressive convention. No ballots were cast for any other official. The convention met shortly after 2 o'clock.

Even though the Republican and Progressive parties reach a deadlock on a presidential nominee, substational harmony in platform declarations was assured today. Leaders of Resolutions Committee on both parties today cooperated to frame documents in parallel vein on practically all political issues including Americansm and preparedness.

Adoption of the platform today, promised to be the principal bueinsss of the Progressive convention. Reports of the rules, permanent organization and other routine business was on the program to precede consideration of the platform.

The purpose of the co-operation between the resolutions committees of the two conventions was to work out their drafts so that no hitch in a possible union would come on that score. It was desired taht the Progressive platform should not be so radical sa to preclude acceptance by the Republican nominee or the Republican platform so conservative the Progressives could not accept in case of a joint nomination.

Patient Sues Surgeon Who Operated on His Nose.

A suit for $50,000 for loss of smelling power was filed today by George D. Pogue of 14 Portland place against Dr. W. E. Seaur in the Humboldt Building.

The petition states that in July, 1915, Pogue engaged Dr. Sauer to remove a growth from his nose and that later he paid other doctors $300 trying to correct the damage. Dr. Sauer, when asked for a statement, said he did not wish to discuss the suit.

"LET US FORGET OUR DIFFERENCES," COLONEL WIRES

T. R. Replies to Invitation to Chicago Sent by Republican Committeeman.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 8.—Col. Roosevelt today issued an appeal to the Progressive and Republican conventions at Chicago to forget their past differences and join "for the safety and honor of our counttry to enforce the policy of genuine Americanism and genuine preparedness." He was ready, he said, to go to Chicago and address the Republican convention if the convention desired. He assailed President Wilson as having rendered "the most evil service that can be rendered to a great democracy," and declared that it was for the convention to show the people "that they have a worthy alternative to which to turn."

He charged that "professional German-Americans" were seeking to terrorize the Republican convention and that they wish to elect as President "a viceroy of a foreign Government."

The appeal was contained in a message to former Senator William B. Jackson of Maryland, Republican National Committeeman, in reply to the latter's personal invitation to the Colonel to come to Chicago.

Harding Says He Has No Authority to Invite T. R.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Chairman Harding after reading the statement from Roosevelt saying he would come to Chicago if requested to by the Republicans convention said:

"Col. Roosevelt is always interesting and a leading American, but the chair has no authority to invite and could not recognize him as a speaker except on order of the convention."

LOUIS P. ALOE SUES NEIGHBOR

Alleges Carrie Manewal House Is Violating Kingsbury Place Restrictions.

Louis P. Aloe and his wife, Edith R. Aloe, entered suit today against Carrie Manewal, T. P. Barnett, architect, and James A. Godfrey, a contractor, to compel them to conform to the building restrictions of Kingsbury place.

Aloe has lot No. 7 adjoining the Manewal lot, No. 6, and it is asserted in the suit that the Manewal house, now in course of construction, violates the restriction agreement for the place by having a balcony at the second floor which projects more than five feet across the front of the building.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION RECESSES TO 4 P. M. AFTER LISTENING TO SPEECHES

Organization Is Perfected, Harding Receives Ovation and Depew and Cannon Make Addresses, While Platform Committee Works.

COLISEUM, CHICAGO, June 8.—The Republican convention at 1:31 p. m. today, after being in session two hours and nine minutes, recessed to 4 p. m. to await the report of the resolutions committee which still was working on the platform.

The convention today perfected its organization, gave an ovation to Permanent Chairman Warren G. Harding and listened to speeches by Chauncey M. Depew of New York, "Uncle Joe" Cannon and Senator Borah of Idaho.

When the doors of the Coliseum were opened this morning two hours before the Republican convention was due to begin business, the pouring rain which has soaked the delegates and spectators for three days was still falling. The hall was cold and damp. The band played as the crowd began assembling.

The usual line of ticket speculators braved the rain, hawking admissions, the price of which are steadily declining.

Inasmuch as the temporary organization was made permanent yesterday, nothing remained but to report the proceeding to the convention today and ask its approval.

The continued gloomy weather was beginning to show its depressing effect on all phases of the convention. There was evident among the early arriving delegates something of a disposition to hasten the proceedings and bring about a final adjournment on Friday.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon was one of the early arrivals. He was having some trouble getting to the Illinois delegation and a big policeman backed up the line to let the former Speaker through.

W. Murray Crane and some of the other leaders began to arrive around 11 o'clock.

Police Chief Healy looked over the hall and reported to Col. Stone, the Sergeant at Arms, that it was the most orderly convention he had seen in 30 years.

The floor of the Coliseum was only a fraction filled at 10:50, 10 minutes before the time set for convening. None of the officers was on the platform at 11 o'clock.

At 11:20 o'clock the band broke into the "Star-Spangled Banner." The crowd rose and there was scattered handclapping.

The delegates began to get seated and the police began to clear the aisles.

It was just 11:22 when Chairman Harding brought down the gavel. Chairman Harding asked the convention to rise while Mgr. Francis G. Kelley read a prayer. The convention stood in silence as he read the invocation.

Harding then called for the report of the Credentials Committee. Senator Smoot, the chairman, came up on the platform to make the report and was greeted with applause. The report recommending the seating of 987 delegates was read by the Senator with a list of the decisions in contested cases. Senator Smoot moved the adoption of the report. There was no objection. A rolling chorus of ayes put it through.

The number of votes necessary to nominate will be 494.

Ovation for Harding.

The report of the Committee on Permanent Organization was next. William H. Hahn of Ohio read the report recommending the temporary organization be made permanent. Former Representative Bennett of New York took the gavel and put the question and it was carried. Mr. Bennett then presented Senator Harding as permanent chairman. There was quite a demonstration and when he tried to gavel it down the crowd cheered a little louder. Repeated whacks of the gavel only brought more of a demonstration. The delegations rose and the cheers rolled louder. It was the longest sustained demonstration of the convention so far.

Finally the crowd quieted and Mr. Harding thanked the convention for its approval. He said:

"Ladies and gentlemen of the convention: I am sure the chairman is very grateful to you for your manifestations of approval and I take this oportunity of thanking the Committee on Permanent Organization for its recommendations and of thanking the delegates in this convention for their approval of the report.

"I must take this opportunity also to do what I neglected to do yesterday, namely, to thank the Committee

G. O. P. NOMINATION IS EXPECTED TO BE MADE TOMORROW

Convention Likely to Stay in Session Saturday Awaiting Progressives' Action.

FAIRBANKS OR BURTON FOR THE VICE PRESIDENCY

"We Left Door Open and Republicans Don't Seem to Be Coming In," Says Chairman Murdock—Hughes Men Think Justice Is Sure to Win on Third Ballot.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 8.—When the Republican and Progressive national conventions reconvened today it became more and more apparent that there would be two tickets in the field.

Victor Murdock, chairman of the Progressive National Committee, summed up the whole situation when he said: "Well, we left the door open and the Republicans don't seem to be coming in."

That was the Progressive leaders' reply to inquiries as to whether there remained any prospect for harmony and whether there was likely to be appointed today conference committees representing both parties to receive and pass upon peace suggestions.

Republicans leaders, too, discounted the success of the peace talk, saying that action had been delayed for so long that a majority of the Republican delegates already have decided to proceed without regard for any third party and nominate Justice Hughes, to whom the most support has been gathered.

Some Want T. R. to Come.

There are some among the Progressives and among Roosevelt Republicans as well, who still believe that the Colonel himself could save the day if he would come to Chicago. Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, who was defeated for Republican delegate-at-large from Massachusetts on the Roosevelt ticket, pleaded with Progressive leaders to bring Col. Roosevelt on without delay. Word came from Oyster Bay, however, that Col. Roosevelt had no present intention of coming to Chicago.

The Republican nomination for president probably will be made in the Coliseum tomorrow, but it is not expected the convention will adjourn before Saturady.

Ostensibly the session will be prolonged to give more deliberate consideration than is usual to a nomination for second place, but the real purpose, it is believed, is to avoid adjournment before the Progressive convention has acted.

The Progressive convention will probably will not nominate before Saturday. There will only be a few hours of session today and that will be devoted to platform making and other routine. The delegates are confident that on Saturday they will name as their ticket Roosevelt and Johnson, their standard bearers of four years ago.

While there has been little real discussion by Republicans of vice-presidential possibilities, it is recognized that geographical conditions and political expediency will govern. Considerable talk was heard today indicating that there might be concentration on either former Vice-President Fairbanks of Indiana, or former Senator Burton of Ohio.

Hughes Grows Stronger.

But one certain, clean-cut result pushes its way through the maze of reports, rumors and pronouncement. That is that Justice Hughes becomes stronger from hour to hour.

Committees of both conventions named yesterday worked most of the night and this morning endeavoring to clean up their work. The Resolutions Subcommittee of the Republican convention finished its deliberations at 1:30 o'clock this morning, having drafted a platform. Other committees pressed forward with their programs, trying to be ready with reports when the convention sessions were resumed.

From Progressive headquarters came reports that certain Western Progressives were set against any plans for fusion and peace. It was said that North Dakota and other Progressive state delegations desired a third party above all else and would do everything possible to prevent the auditorium convention from entering into or ratifying any sort of peace pact. These state delegations, it was reported, were sufficient in numbers to block every effort of George W. Perkins and other Progressive leaders to enter into agreement with the Republicans.

If this situation is true, it means in all probability that the Progressive convention will go on and complete its work regardless of what the leaders may suggest or order, and that Col. Roosevelt will receive a nomination whether he wants it or does not want it. Such conditions are serving in part to increase expectancy of Roosevelt's coming to Chicago, as it was stated by men closely in touch with developments that only Roosevelt's arrival on the ground would head off the rank and file of Progressive delegates in the mood they exhibited yesterday and today.

Fulton Hughes Floor Leader.

A rumor circulated last night that Justice Hughes had sent word to the Hughes campaign managers that he would not accept the Republican nomination unless it comes from a united party, was revived today. It was denied by Frank H. Hitchcock and others at Hughes' headquarters. The favorite son combination and Roosevelt supporters were greatly interested in the report and naturally took no steps to counteract it.

It was said today by those in charge of the Hughes forces that former Senator Fulton of Oregon will be floor leader in the convention for Hughes. He will also make the speech seconding the Justice.

The perspective given today by the occurrences of yesterday served greatly to increase hope and activity among certain elements of the Republican organization. Rumors that Roosevelt had informed his managers over the telephone that he would not withdraw unless Hughes were eliminated and that he would refuse to discuss fusion on one of the minor candidates was taken as a sign of weakening on the part of Roosevelt to the "Old Guards" preposal to eliminate Hughes if the Colonel would withdraw also and enter into a compromise on another candidate.

The Hughes managers reiterate their claim that he will have about 300 votes on the first ballot. Frank H. Hitchcock, spokesman for the Hughes followers, said there would be no attempt to nominate the Justice on the first ballot and that it was their desire to have all the favorite son delegates deliver their complimentary votes. He believed, however, that the second ballot, with the release of many delegates from their obligations, would swell the Hughes vote to such proportions that his nomination would almost certainly be made on the third ballot. Many of the Hughes supporters were even more optimistic and said they thought that before the result of the second ballot was announced the drift would be apparent to all delegates and there would be enough changes of votes to bring a nomination.

The Hughes managers expect Arizona, second on the roll of states, to yield to New York, so Gov. Whitman may place Justice Hughes in nomination. At one time it was said Alabama would yield to New York, but it developed that the delegation was divided between two or more candidates and, having no candidate to offer, would pass when the State was called.

When the Hughes tide became apparent many inquiries were made of those who are supposed to speak for him as to whether his acceptance, in case of nomination, would be in any sense contingent upon a third party nomination by the Progressives. The answer was that such a contingency would in no wise be taken into consideration by Mr. Hughes.

Asks Colonel to Come West.

Former Senator Jackson of Maryland, Republican national committeeman from that State, last night sent a telegram to Col. Roosevelt urging him to come to Chicago in the interest of harmony and announcing he would do his utmost in case of an acceptance to have Mr. Roosevelt given the privilege of the convention floor. Mr. Jackson's telegram read as follows:

"The national interest demands the complete reunion of the Republican party, which unhappily divided in 1912. I believe this can be accomplished by a more perfect understanding between you and the Republican convention now assembled. I therefore most earnestly urge you to come to Chicago immediately to address this convention and to make common cause in our deliberations. If you will indicate your willingness to take this course, I will use my utmost endeavors to secure for you the privileges of the convention floor."

As a result of the hearing conducted by the Committee on Credentials yesterday there will be 987 votes in the convention, with 494 necessary to nominate. The District of Columbia, which had three contesting delegations, was denied representation. Hawaii, the Philippines and Porto Rico were granted votes, but Porto Rico did not send a delegation.

By a vote of 28 to 6 the Republican convention's Committee on Rules and Order of Business approved the present basis of apportionment of delegates to the national convention made by the National Committee in December, 1913, and later indorsed by every state convention, which reduced the representation of Southern States 89 delegates. Under this rule each State is given four delegates-at-large and one delegate for each congressional district, with an additional delegate in each district casting 7500 or more Republican votes.

Other rules followed by the National Committee in the call for the 1916 convention which were approved by the convention committee were:

A rule eradicating the National Committee to accept without question the election certificates of state officials where legalized primaries for the election of delegates have been held for use in making up the temporary roll of the convention.

A rule limiting all seconding speeches to five minutes. No change was made in the order of business for the convention.

DELEGATES FROM MISSOURI NEAR A ROW OVER PEACE

J. C. McKinley Forcefully Objects to Any Overtures Toward Progressives.

By CURTIS A BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The Missouri delegation to the Republican National Convention last night held a meeting in its quarters in the Morrison Hotel which almost broke up in a row.

The meeting was called by Otto Stifel, the St. Louis brewer, who is its chairman, to promote harmony within the inharmonious ranks.

Thinking to avoid any danger of a wider split over the problem than already existed, an agreement was entered into that there should not be mentioned the name of any candidate for the presidential nomination.

So far as the agreement was concerned all went well, but the disagreement arose over the suggestion of Republicans and Progressive leaders of the conventions that a peace committee be appointed by each convention in an effort to bring the conventions to an agreement on a candidate and a platform.

Former Lieutenant-Governor John C. McKinley started the argument with a statement that he did not believe there should be any peace conferences. "I am a party man," he said, "and I don't believe in any of this conferring with the Progressives. We have had no conferences with President Wilson or the Democratic party and I don't see why we should have with the Progressives. They are not Republicans and have no right to a voice in our convention."

Nathan Frank for Peace.

Nathan Frank of St. Louis and other speakers immediately took issue with McKinley. Frank is a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, and is interested in having plenty of Republican votes cast. He and the other speakers said that any movement toward peace should be encouraged and that the Republicans should be willing to confer with the Progressives at any time if by such conferences the Progressives could be induced to again become Republicans.

The test of the strength of the delegation was not made by a vote, but nearly all the speakers except McKinley indicated a strong desire for peace between the parties.

The greatest surprise in the Missouri delegation is the loss by E. L. (Liv) Morse, Republican boss in Northwestern Missouri, of the control of the delegation.

Morse, who is a practical politician of wide experience, started out several months ago to have selected a Missouri delegation which would be for Senator Weeks.

At a meeting of nearly the full delegation in St. Louis two weeks ago it was thought Morse would control more than 20 of the 36 delegates and that they might have as many as 25.

Stifel a Weeks Man.

A change in sentiment was noticeable after Morse succeeded in "putting over" Otto Stifel for chairman of the delegation. Stifel is a Weeks man. Although many members of the delegation will not say for whom they are going to vote, members who are for Justice Hughes for the nomination have made a careful canvass of the delegation.

They said last night Hughes would have 27 votes on the first ballot.

Among the more active of the Hughes supporters of the Missouri delegation are A. E. L. Gardner of St. Louis County and J. A. McAnulty of Newton County. David W. Peters of Jefferson City has announced openly that he is willing to vote for any candidate except Weeks.

"I would not dare go back home if I voted for Roosevelt or Weeks," he said. "No matter what the facts might be, the boys at home would say I had sold out if I voted for Weeks."

John Schmoll, chairman of the Republican City Committee, said this afternoon that when he came here he was inclined to vote for Hughes because he thought Roosevelt would support him and the two parties could probably be united. But he added that he was not so strong for Hughes now because he knew Roosevelt would not indorse the Supreme Court Justice. Tom Marks of Kansas City, speaking for Hughes, said that he never bought a bag of apples without taking out one and eating it.

Might Vote for T. R.

Before buying this Hughes bag of presidential apples he said "I think we should take an apple out of the bag and have a look at it, to see whether the bag contains just what we want."

There are a lot of Missourians here who are saying that they would be glad to vote for "Teddy" if he should be nominated. Rush Lake of Kansas City, former Coal Oil Inspector of Missouri, is one of these.

Mayor Once a Week.

The Grafton City Council has elected Jean McClintock as Mayor pro tem to take care of the duties of Mayor Barker while he is absent. Barker has a position at the Standard Oil refinery in Wood River and is unable to be in Grafton except on Sundays.

Depew, Cannon and Borah Address G. O. P. Convention

on Arrangements for so signally honoring me with the temporary chairmanship nomination. It is a very great honor to preside over a Republican National Convention.

"I am a believer in the keeping of compacts; and it was insisted that if I were to be honored with the permanent chairmanship, I should make no speech. I am going to keep the compact.

"Again thanking you, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, the Chair calls for the next order of business, which is the report of the Committee on Rules and Order of Business."

The report of the Rules Committee was next but it was not ready and at the chairman's request the band started up again, while awaiting the report.

The chairman stopped the music to recognize Senator Smoot again for a supplemental report from the Credentials Committee. It proposed to give votes to the six delegates from Hawaii, Porto Rica and the Philippines. It was adopted without opposition. That made the total number of votes in the convention 989, making 495 votes necessary to a nomination.

Rules Report Adopted.

Finally the report of the Rules Committee was ready and National Committeeman C. B. Warren of Michigan presented it and it was adopted. It was a unanimous report and has been published. Briefly, the rules of the convention are those of the House of Representatives with certain modifications to adapt themselves to the needs of so different a body. One of the rules prohibits a State delegation from changing its vote unless there has been an error in casting it. Heretofore delegations have been able to do so.

While the report of the Rules Committee was being read an Associated Press dispatch from Oyster Bay quoting Col. Roosevelt as willing to come to Chicago if the Republican convention wanted him to address it, was handed to Chairman Harding. He showed it to others.

The report of the Resolutions Committee was the next order of business, but the chairman announced that with the arbitrary authority which goes with the gavel he would appoint former Secretary Stimson and Speaker Sweet of New York to escort Chauncey M. Depew to the platform. Bowing and smiling, Depew took his place while the delegates applauded. Some of the delegates shouted "Speech," and Depew began.

Depew Addresses Delegates.

Eighty-two years old, the famous New Yorker's voice, still full and round, carried better than those of the younger men who had preceded him and he received the closest attention.

Depew told the convention it was the sixty-first anniversary of his preaching of Republicanism.

"Today we have a world crisis in which even Christianity is doubted," he said, referring to the war. "We are entering upon this canvass either with an assertion of Americanism that will keep us out of it or a mollycoddle policy that will put us into it."

"The world has always understood us until now," said he. His reference to the President as "the professor" brought roars of laughter.

The mention of Elihu Root brought scattering applause and cheers. It was the first mention of the name of one of the Republican candidates. The general tone of Depew's speech was for national preparedness and the convention approved it.

New Yorker Speaks Half Hour.

When Depew gave signs of stopping, the crowd cried "Go on." After speaking 17 minutes, Depew turned to the chairman and asked if he should continue: "Go ahead," said Senator Harding.

"When I turn to a pacificist," said he, resuming, "I turn to a leading exponent, my friend, Mr. Bryan, who is here in the hall."

The former Secretary was in the press stand as a newspaper correspondent and sat smiling at the reference to himself and the laughter that followed.

Depew spoke 30 minutes. His parting shot was that if the convention gets in trouble over any question before it the delegates should call on the elder statesmen, and he was one of them.

There were calls for other speakers, and after Chairman Harding had restored order he introduced former Speaker Cannon as "grand old Uncle Joe."

Cannon Without His Cigar.

Without the celebrated black sigar "Uncle Joe" bowed and smiled. The Resolutilons Committee still was at work and the speakers devoted their efforts to killing time.

"Chauncey," said Uncle Joe, turning to Mr. Depew, "I am coming to your 100th anniversary." Tho crowd laughed.

"We fell out form the personal standpoint largely four years ago," said Cannon, 'but there is no going to be any further falling out, because this convention will nominate a worthy ticket and it will be elected."

"This year we'll have no shiboleth from anybody," he said. "The country's bigger than any man or set of men."

When he got to discussing Americanism, Cannon virtually repeated the "melting pot" speech he delivered several months ago in the House, during the passage of the immigration bill.

Cannon closed by predicting that "the gates of Hell" would not prevail against the Republican platform if it were mare broad enough to cover all Americans.

Demonstration for Borah.

Chairman Harding then presented Senator Borah of Idaho. There was a demonstration for him.

A report reached the platform that the Reesoltion Committee still had several hours' work ahead before being ready to report.

Borah, numbered among the Progressive Republicans, made a plea for a straight Republican pronouncement.

"Make it broad enough for all who want to come," said he, "the rest we do not want."

"Our pathway as a party is clear. It will not shirk the responsibility of maintaining the rights of their station among the nations of the world," he declared.

"Let us pledge ourselves again as we did 50 years ago, to a united republic," said Borah. "Let us reconsecrate the Republican party to the principles for which it always has stood.

"There are other questions in this campaign, but they are not controlling."

"Too Cowardly to Live."

"A nation which declares itself too proud to fight," said Borah, "will soon be regarded as too cowardly to live."

"Columbus and Glenn Springs," said he, referring to the Mexican raids, "were the answer to the policy after Santa Ysabel."

Borah spoke 18 minutes and then Herbert Parsons moved that the convention recess to 4 p. m. to wait further for the Resolutions Committee. There were shouts of "Good" and the delegates were moving out before the motion was formally carried. The recess was taken at 1:31 o'clock.

CONVENTIONS IN FOOTRACE TO NAME HUGHES OR T. R. FIRST, WM. A. WHITE SAYS

Nomination of One Expected to Have Great Bearing on Attitude of Other, but Kansan Says Moosers Could Not Accept Jurist.

By William Allen White.
Kansas Progressive Leader, Editor and Author.

Copyright, 1916, by George Matthews Adams.)

CHICAGO, June 8.—The contest in Chicago today has developed into a 24-hour footrace, not between men, but between conventions.

If the Progressives can get Roosevelt nominated before the Republicans get Hughes nominated, they feel that Hughes will not accept; if, on the other hand, the Republicans can get Hughes nominated before the Progressives can get Roosevelt nominated, the Republicans believe that Roosevelt will not accept.

The nomination, which every one figured, should come Saturday in both conventions, may now come Friday afternoon or night. The noisy demonstration for Roosevelt in the Progressive convention yesterday revealed something more than mere claque. It revealed an unshakable purpose on the part of the Progressives to name Roosevelt.

It is unthinkable that the Progressive convention should get itself in a mood to nominate Hughes, and what is more, the fight was raging at midnight in the Progressive Platform Committee to draft a plank condemning members of the Supreme Court for becoming even receptive candidates for any other office than Chief Justice. If that plank is made a part of the platform, it will serve notice on Justice Hughes in advance that he cannot run on the Progressive ticket.

It is only fair to say that the plank is being opposed bitterly by some of Col. Roosevelt's stanch friends. But the introduction of the plank and its support by a considerable minority of the Platform Committee indicates a temper against Justice Hughes which will make his nomination well-nigh impossible.

On the other hand, the favorite sons are dying hard in the Republican convention. Theirs will be the tactics of delay. They will try to shift the nomination of a presidential candidate over until Monday.

The Hughes boom is impulsive. They feel that if they can hold it off over Sunday and if, during that time, Col. Roosevelt indicates that he will accept the Progressive nomination, a statement from Justice Hughes will be forthcoming, forbidding the use of his name by the convention at all.

Other than these facts, everything today from the convention is but the froth of rumor. Rumor says that Penrose talked to Col. Roosevelt over the telephone. Rumor says that the Colonel is ready to declare for Hughes. Rumor says that a coalition of the favorite sons against both Roosevelt and Hughes has been formed, with a working majority of the convention.

But these rumors are unimportant. The big important phase of the news today is that it is a race of an overwhelming majority in the Progressive convention against a bare majority and possibly only a minority in the Republican convention to name Roosevelt before Hughes or Hughes before Roosevelt. All the tumult and the shouting in the Bull Moose convention was but a notice from the Progressives that the race was a one-heat race and that soon it would be over.

As a sidelight on the issues of the race it may be well to note that the keynoting in the Progressive convention was punctuated by applause and that it sounded like a football match with a close score in the last quarter. While the sad, silent and respectful way the Republicans heard their keynote suggested "taps" rather than anything else.

The gentle reader is left to consider whether a compact enthusiastic one-minded crowd can act with more celerity and precision than a rather vaguely disorganized group of jealous minorities, without direction or purpose, enthusiasm or vision. By Monday the Republican party may come to itself in convention assembled. But today it is not ready to announce its mind.

CHICAGO ADS CALL HUGHES CANDIDATE OF PRO-GERMANS

Intimation Made That Otto Stifel Is Trying to Put Nagel Across as Vice President.

CHICAGO, June 8. — Advertisements placed in Chicago papers this morning by the Progressives attack Justice Hughes as the candidate of pro-Germans who desire to overturn the administration's present foreign policy. It is also intimated that the plan is to nominate Charles Nagel of St. Louis Vice President in order to further satisfy the German-Americans.

The advertisements were a surprise, in view of the fact that George W. Perkins had announced there would be no newspaper campaign for Roosevelt.

PROGRESSIVE PLATFORM DRAFT IS FOR SUFFRAGE, DEFENSE AND TARIFF

CALLS FOR BIGGER ARMY AND NAVY AND ENFORCED MILITARY INSTRUCTION

High Protective Tariff, Permanent Expert Tariff Commission, Regulation of Industries, Just Distribution of the Products of Industry, Conservation and Development of National Resources Urged.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Ringing declarations of Americanism and for preparedness, military, spiritual, economic and industrial, are keynotes of the Progressive national platform completed today in co-operation with the Republican convention platform builders. The Progressive platform leaders hoped to present their document to the convention today or tomorrow at the latest.

The "Americanism" planks, minus direct reference to hyphenism, declared in vigorous terms for upholding American rights on land and sea, guarding the "honor and influence of our nation," and maintenance of "the integrity of international law."

The platform also declares that the supreme duty of civilization is to make peace permanent after the war, for which this nation should be prepared in every sphere. Regarding military preparedness, the platform declares for "a navy restored to at least second rank in battle efficiency," a standing army of 250,000 men and a system of universal military training—a citizen soldiery—controlled by the national Government."

Regarding Mexico, the platform asserts that "every resource of the Government should be forthwith used to end these conditions.

Other platform declarations are for woman suffrage, regulation of industry and "just distribution of its returns;" conservation, re-establishment of the American merchant marine; national highways developments; a permanent tariff commission and a protective tariff.

Text of Tentative Platform.

Following is the text of the tentative platform draft:

"This is the year of decision for the nation's future. As we now decide, so we shall go forward in righteousness and power, or backward in degradation and weakness.

"Of necessity, we deal now with the foundations of our national life. We are facing elemental facts of force, of right and wrong, of extreme national peril. Our present choice of path will be irrevocable. The tradition of isolation has been ended. The United States is now part of a world system of civilization. We stand or fall as we prepare to take our part in peace or war and hold our own therein.

"As members of an international community we are subject to certain basic duties:

"To secure the rights and equal treatment of our citizens, native or naturalized, on land and sea, without regard to race, creed or nativity.

"To guard the honor and uphold the just influence of our nation;

"To maintain the integrity of international law. These are the cornerstones of civilization. We must be strong to defend them.

Must Be Strong in Defense.

"The present war shows that it is the supreme duty of civilization to create conditions which will make peace permanent. Our country must be able and ready to take its part in that work The peace which we desire for our country is not the peace of submission and cowardice, but the peace of justice. War and its evils will not be done away with by suffering injustice to ourselves or others, nor by pledging ourselves to drastic action for international right, if we do not prepare the force which would sustain such action. We can perform our rightful part in promoting permanent international peace only by a willingness and a prepared ability to defend our own rights and the rights of other nations. We earnestly desire to keep the peace. But there are higher things that we must keep, as Washington and Lincoln kept them for us.

"Failure to deal firmly with the menace of Mexican disorders has brought conditions worse than warfare and has weakened national self-respect. Every resource of Government should be forthwith used to end those conditions and protect from outrage the lives, honor and property of American men and women in Mexico.

"Adequate provision for the common defense has become the task of foremost national concern. We must be ready in spirit, arms and industry. Preparation in arms requires:

"A regular army of 250,000 men, fully armed and trained, as a first line of land defense.

"A system of military training adequate to organize with promptness, behind that first line of the army and navy, a citizen soldiery, supplied, armed and controlled by the National Government.

"In our democracy every male citizen is charged with the duty of his country. This duty is not new. It has existed from the foundation of the Government. Under modern conditions, it cannot be performed without military training; service without training means slaughter and disaster. As the nation has always recognized and exercised the right to enforce compulsory military service in time of war, so should there be universal military training for that service in time of peace.

"We believe in preparedness for defense, but never for aggression. We should not sacrifice the lives of men for the glory or gain of military conquest. And we believe that the women of the country who share with men the burden of the Government in times of peace and make equal sacrifice in time of war, should be given the full political right of suffrage.

"Arms alone cannot maintain a nation. Of far greater permanent importance must stand a national industry efficient for the general welfare, a prosperity justly distributed, a national life organized in all points for national ends. Four years ago this party was born of a nation's awakened sense of these fundamental truths. In the platform then adopted we set forth our position on public questions. We here reaffirm these declarations. They are made on national issues.

"A nation to survive must stand for the principles of social and industrial justice. We have no right to expect continued loyalty from an oppressed class. We must remove the artificial causes of the high cost of living; prevent the exploitation of children in industry; protect the wage earner and by a properly regulated system of rural credits encourage the farmer and give the landless man opportunity to acquire land.

"A country must be worth living in to be worth fighting for.

Favors Protective Tariff.

"To make possible social justice, to maintain our position in peace and war, we must insure business and industrial prosperity. This can be done:

"By regulation of industry aimed at promoting its growth and prosperity and a just distribution of its returns.

"By a conservation and development of our national resources for the good of all.

"By the re-establishment of our merchant marine.

"By the development of a system of interstate national highways.

"By making a new standard of governmental efficiency through a complete civil service system, a national budget and the destruction of pork-barrel legislation.

"By the creation of a permanent, export tariff commission, with a view of intelligently and scientifically adjusting the tariff, so as to build up, rather than destroy, American industry.

"The protective system is essential to our national prosperity. Tremendous new pressures will be thrown upon our industries after the war by the highly mobilized production of Europe. At all times conditions of competition must be equalized between our own and foreign countries. We can only get the protection we need through the use of exact and complete knowledge, unaffected by prejudice or politics. We can secure that knowledge at all times and when needed, only through such a commission.

"The industrial issues are chiefly national. The present and certain future make it imperative that the regulation and promotion of industry, and especially of transportation and foreign trade, be national, not local Only Federal power can work justice to capital and labor throughout the nation. Only national authority can mobilize industry for defense as the nation's need demands it.

"Beneath the structure of military and economic strength, must be a unified spirit of this cosmopolitan people, a deep loyalty and undivided allegiance to America, the land which has welcomed us and our immigrant forefathers. Back of any adequate national preparedness in arms or industry must remain the democratic soul of an undivided people, determined to keep America's great traditions unfalteringly in first place.

"If in this melting pot of a hundred nations, the children of any fail to find our common destiny worthy of common devotion and defense, we shall confront loss of national character.

"We have set forth in this platform the plain essentials of national existence with which most men agree; which any man can propose. They are not new principles. Our urgent and immediate need is for their performance. We have had ample experience with the promiser; with words and the bitter taste of words retracted.

Issue Is One of Men.

"We must find a man who not alone by words, but by past deeds, gives guarantee that he can and will make these ideals good. The issue is one of men. In the midst of world changes unparalleled in history we cannot forecast the problems which will confront our Government during the war and at its end. We therefore need as President a leader who knows the nations, a man who acts. If we continue longer to stand for words as above deeds, for hopes as above facts, we shall receive and merit the fate that surely awaits the man or people who do not face the truth.

"We will meet and work with any man or party who sees the nation's need and puts forward a leader fit to meet it. We will accept no less, in plan, or in the man, and we solemnly charge upon any who place partisan politics above country the responsibility for a nation's future, sacrificed to self-inteerst and spoils."

Women Before Committee.

Rival woman suffrage factions appeared before the Progressive Resolutions Committee at its hearings last night. Representatives of the National Woman Suffrage Association urged a general suffrage plank; those of the Congressional Union asked recommendation of a constitutional amendment. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Dr. Jones of Iowa and Miss Conant of Nevada advocated the former plan and Miss Alice Carpenter of New York, Mrs. E. L. Gerberding and Miss McCrill of California the latter.

National prohibition advocates also appeared before the committee. William Shaw of Boston, general secretary of International Christian Endeavor Societies denounced alleged partnership of the Government with the liquor traffic.

NORTH CAROLINA IS FOR T. R.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 8.—Theodore Roosevelt was the choice of the Republican voters in the State at large and rural districts in the presidential preferential primary at Saturday's election, according to complete returns received.

Justice Hughes carried two districts. This would give Roosevelt 17 of the North Carolina delegates in the national convention and Hughes 4.

HUGHES IN SECLUSION, WORKS

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Justice Hughes remained secluded at his home on Sixteenth street yesterday, writing opinions to be delivered from the Supreme Court bench Monday, the last decision day until next fall. He had no callers and his only diversion was an automobile ride in the evening with Mrs. Hughes.

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 8.—Five thousand potters returned to work in the tableware potteries here and in the West Virginia towns across the Ohio River, today, when the National Brotherhood of Co-Operative Potters refused to recognize the strike of 300 kiln drawers which was called several weeks ago.

KEYNOTE SPEECH WITHOUT SUBJECT OR AN OCCASION, WILLIAM J. BRYAN WRITES

Says Eloquence Was There, but Inspiration Was Lacking in Topic of Restoring Republicans to Power; "Preparedness Talk Used as Cloak."

By William Jennings Bryan.

Written Especially for the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Senator Harding's speech as temporary chairman was all that conditions and circumstances would permit. The great Webster said: "Eloquence exists in the man, in the subject and in the occasion." Eloquence had only one-third of a chance today; it had the man.

Senator Harding is an orator. The committee could not have selected a better man to open such a convention as this. He is both pleasing and imposing in appearance. He has an excellent voice and a splendid delivery, and he represented in his views and hopes that element of the party which is dominant in the convention. His speech possessed strength and humor and his thoughts were expressed in phrases that will be re-presented by those who lack his skill in rhetoric.

Speech Satisfied Audience.

The speech satisfied the audience, for it was just such an audience as would like that sort of speech. He was greeted with enthusiasm on his appearance, his principal points were applauded enthusiastically and his conclusion brought forth another burst of enthusiasm. He may feel that he acquitted himself with credit and the convention can find great satisfaction in the fact that it got what it wanted in the way of a speech.

But the subject and the occasion were lacking. The subject was a restoration of the Republican party to power, and there is no inspiration in such a subject to bring forth an epoch-making speech. The Republican party was put out of power because it had been guilty of high crimes and miscemeanors. It had converted popular government into a predatory oligarchy; it had betrayed the people and given them over to spoliation at the hands of the special interests. Favor-seeking corporations had been permitted to take control of the instrumentalities of government and employ them for private enrichment.

The injustice finally became so rank and the swollen fortunes so conspicuous that a large portion of the Republican party revolted. More than half of the Republicans had the independence to leave the organization, and by bolting they expressed their determination to rid the party of corporate domination, even if it were necessary to pass through a national defeat in order to make the party free.

What Democracy Inherited.

As a result of the division in the Republican ranks the Democratic party came into power and proceeded to put into law a reform program without parallel in the history of the country. In addition to facing domestic problems of great importance; in addition to having to deal with abuses that had grown in size until a remedy was more or less impossible without industrial disturbance—in addition to these home embarrassments, the Democratic administration inherited from the Republican administration a Mexican situation, and was soon afterward confronted with a world war without a parallel in history.

Senator Harding's subject was the attitude of the Republican party toward the administration that had rescued the nation from Republican misrule, and kept the country at peace amid distracting turmoils on all sides. How could a partisan speaker satisfy a partisan convention without offending a universal sense of justice? The task was an impossible one.

The delegates had gathered to plan for the country's return to the bondage of the interests, and Senator Harding would have disappointed the delegates if he had conceded to the Democratic administration any merit whatever. He did not disappoint them. On the contrary, he lived up to the highest requirements of partisanship and extolled the Republican record as flawless and pictured the Democratic record as a menace to prosperity at home and peace abroad.

Preparedness Talk Criticised.

His declarations on the subject of preparedness were sufficiently emphatic to arouse all the fears that have been assiduously cultivated by the manufacturers of munitions, and yet were not definite enough to inform the taxpayers of the burdens which the jingoes have in store for them.

It was not, however, until he reached the tariff question that he let out all the sails. He is a believer in protection for protection's sake, and he knows that protection is the issue on which the standpat Republicans and the Progressives are most nearly in agreement. They rival each other in devotion to the theory that a tax is a blessing when collected through the customs house.

If the subject was a chilling one for impassioned eloquence, the occasion was no more encouraging. The delegates are not here to outline any constructive work; they have planned nothing from the experience through which they have passed.

They base their hopes of success upon a reunion of the two elements of the party and feel confident that this reunion can be effected without commending any of the reforms accomplished by the Democratic party or pledging the Republican party to remedial legislation. "Let us forget our differences," is the Republican slogan. But will the public forget the riot of privilege? This is the program as outlined, if it is stripped of its drapery and plainly stated.

What Chief Issue Will Be.

If the platform to be written and the ticket to be selected are in keeping with the keynote, the chief issue before the country will be whether the reforms which have been secured by 20 years' agitation are to be lost by the restoration to authority of those who by the misuse of power aroused the voters to revolt.

No wonder those who are interested in the success of this program seek to divert attention from economic issues to so-called preparedness.

A B C of the Situation at Chicago, How G. O. P. Convention Is Ruled

Old Guard Leaders—Penrose, Crane and Barnes Do Not Want Either Hughes or Roosevelt, but Will Take the Justice Reluctantly if "Pie" Hungry Delegates Compel Them To.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Two mighty forces are contending for control of the Republican National Convention in session here to nominate candidates for President and Vice President of the United States and write a platform. To fully understand the convention it is necessary to know what these forces are.

One force is designated, for convenience, as the "Old Guard," or the standpat, high-tariff element of the party—the element which the great corporate interests of the country prefer to see in control. The other element is the Progressive or radical element.

The old guard is personified in the leadership of six or eight men, who are seldom seen or heard in the convention, and who never mingle with the crowd that packs the hotel lobbies and shouts itself hoarse for favorite sons or for one great commanding figure in this complex situation, Theodore Roosevelt. The mention of Roosevelt's name in any lobby crowd or in the street cars or the conventions themselves always arouses spontaneous enthusiasm. Remember the Progressive National Convention is also in session here, to do precisely the thing that the Republican National Convention is to do in the matter of naming candidates, but it represents only one thing—Theodore Roosevelt—and what he stands for.

Why Harmony Is Wanted.

The Republican convention is cold, deliberate; the Progressive is enthusiastic, spontaneous. The controlling factors in both conventions know that to insure any measure of party success next November, the two parties must be brought together in the nomination of candidates and the making of platforms. If each party nominates tickets, every delegate to both conventions, as well as every shouter, knows well that Woodrow Wilson will be re-elected next November.

The student of the national political situation, with respect to the Republican and Progressive parties, of course, knows that the Progressive party, under the leadership of Roosevelt, sprang into being four years ago as a protest against what was then popularly known as stand-patism, the apostles of which were the "old guard."

Personified, the old guard is William Barnes of New York, Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania, Murray Crane of Massachusetts and a group of less conspicuous men and their sattelites. For practical purposes it is necessary to speak only of Barnes, Crane and Penrose, for they are the factors which control the situation and they will name the candidate of the Republican party, unless the Progressive element should develop enough strength to overthrow them.

Penrose is boss of Pennsylvania and occupies a seat in the United States Senate. Barnes is boss of New York and Crane of Massachusetts.

Four years ago, in the face of a popular demand for Roosevelt for president, the old guard, operating through the Republican National Committee, controlled the convention and forced the nomination of Taft. Roosevelt avenged himself by creating a new party, running independently as its candidate and polling 4,219,000 votes. It is the shadow of those 4,219,000 votes lost to the party in 1912 which is causing the old guard to tremble today, and which is actually the strongest influnce behind the really remarkable boom of Justice Hughes of the United States Supreme Court.

Radicals Behind Hughes.

The Progressive or Radical element in the Republican party is behind Hughes, in the belief that he is progressive enough to induce the return of the Progressive voters to the Republican party, and at the same time hold the 3,500,000 voters who cast their ballots for Taft four years ago.

The Hughes boom is almost without tangible or visible leadership. Gov. Whitman of New York is the leading political power behind it, and Frank H. Hitchcock, former postmaster-general under Taft, himself an intensely practical politician of the old guard type, is the active manager. The thing that made the Hughes boom go was the belief that Roosevelt would support the Supreme Court justice, and bring back with him the voters he took out of the Republican party four years ago.

There is no doubt the old guard leaders lent encouragement to the Hughes movement, in the beginning, in the belief that Hughes could be used to kill off Roosevelt, who was then beginning to regain his old time popularity, and loom up as a formidable candidate for the Republican nomination. The old guard hates Roosevelt, primarily because he tion. He is looked upon as a traitor.

To the regular party a bolter is the most despicable political character in existence. To discourage bolting, bolters must be dealt with as traitors. For that reason the old guard would rather sacrifice the Republican party for another four years than to nominate Roosevelt, or any candidate presumed to stand for his ideals. In order to win back the Progressive vote, the old guard is willing to write into its platform some of the Progressive ideas of the Roosevelt platform of 1912; but it is not willing to take Roosevelt and it does not wish to take Hughes. It may have to.

Through Barnes, Penrose, Crane and their representatives in each state an organization has been working to try to control the delegates to the convention to prevent them from nominating either Hughes or Roosevelt. While old guard leaders assert with a great deal of confidence that they are in complete control of the situation, there is no doubt that they are greatly worried over the formidable strength of Justice Hughes, who gained renown as the power behind the investigation of the insurance scandal of New York several years ago, and who, as the result of his work, was elected Governor of New York. As Governor of New York he put into force some progressive legislation, such as the abolition of racetrack gambling, which other Governors, notably Folk of Missouri, had put into effect years before.

The Hughes movement is presumed to represent the voice of the people calling for a progressive leader. It more nearly typifies, however, the voice of the politicians calling for a leader who can win. The Republican politician has been without Federal office for four years, without postoffices and their emoluments. The politicians particularly want to get back to the "pie counter." They don't care a continental whether the President at Washington is progressive or reactionary. They want pie. In order to get pie, they are willing to take Hughes, because he is the only candidate who appears to have any chance of winning in November.

The Standpat Candidates.

The other candidates, Fairbanks, Burton, Weeks, Sherman, are classified as standpatters. The old guard would be eminently satisfied with any one of the group in the White House.

The delegates to this convention, except those elected by primary, were elected by district conventions, controlled by local bosses, who are mere agents or representatives of the greater bosses. Even the primary-selected delegates, in many instances, were carefully hand-picked by the local bosses, who were acting for the big bosses. The bosses, that is, Crane, Penrose, Barnes, are not worrying much about the delegates, because they believe they can control enough of them to be masters of the situation. The only reason they cannot control the delegates against Hughes is that the delegates believe Hughes could be elected, and they are willing to take a chance with him.

While the Republicans were crying a few months ago that they could beat Wilson with anybody, they now realize that they will have to have a candidate who will appeal to the imagination of the voters. Even with Hughes and the two parties united they admit the situation is most critical. While the delegates are running madly around packed hotel corridors, expressing their views freely on the situation, the powerful group of politicians, sitting behind closed doors, and seldom seen in public, is making the program, and preparing to deliver the delegates to that program. The delegates, in the convention merely ratify what the leaders agree upon in private conference. If the leaders finally decide to accept Hughes, he will be put over. If they decide not to accept, he probably will be defeated—barring the possibility that enough of the delegates will take the situation into their own hands and force his nomination.

Favorite Son Candidates.

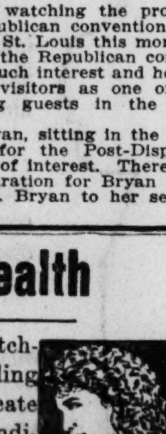
There is always a group of favorite sons' candidates before each national convention. These candidates go out in their own states and get instructed delegates. They try to use their delegates for trading purposes. Some of the favorite sons in this contest have a real chance of being nominated. If Hughes should be elminated, the most available favorite son might be selected by the big leaders and put over. For the reason that each of the more conspicuous men, like Fairbanks of Indiana, Burton of Ohio, Weeks of Massachusetts, have more or less remote chances to win, they are trying desperately to hold their state delegations together for several ballots in the hope that delegates from other states will come to their aid.

M'COMBS AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

COLISEUM, CHICAGO, June 8.—W. F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was sitting on the platform today watching the proceedings of the Republican convention. He came here from St. Louis this morning. His presence in the Republican convention attracted much interest and he was pointed out to visitors as one of the most interesting guests in the Coliseum.

William J. Bryan, sitting in the press stand, writing for the Post-Dispatch, is also a center of interest. There was a small demonstration for Bryan when he escorted Mrs. Bryan to her seat in a box.

Hair Health



Dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair, all indicate a diseased condition of the scalp and hair cells.

Plain Yellow Minyol rubbed thoroughly into the scalp will remove all traces of dandruff and scalp irritations and put the hair cells in a perfectly healthful condition. This promotes hair growth and gives life and lustre to the hair strands.—ADV.

HUGHES SONG FOR PROGRESSIVES

Tune, "Three Little Maids From School."

By Clark McAdams.

CHICAGO, June 8.

THE Progressive convention is going to have time on its hands if it is to wait upon the Republican convention's action before nominating Col. Roosevelt. If it finds itself looking for something to do, Just a Minute is glad to offer this song, which it might sing with considerable zest:

I am a jurist all unwary
Just from the ladies' seminary,
I am a cautious person, very—
One little man from school.

"Ladies," said I, speaking sweetly
"We must arm ourselves discreetly"—
That and more things said I neatly
One little time in school.

All the pupils smiled sedately,
Backing what we're doing lately,
Nodded all and separately—
One little voice in school.

"That's the stuff," said I, with fervor,
"Love your country well and serve her,
Let no bugaboo unnerve her!"
One little boost in school.

In their eyes I know, was cheering,
Each her country's flag revering,
Though it did not reach my hearing—
One little stir in school.

Then said I, resuming, "Prize her,
Lest the world without despise her—
Cleave ye here from King and Kaiser!"
One little flag in school.

One little girl responded "Yes, sir,
It is sticking on my dresser,
Proof against the fell oppressor!"
One little girl in school.

"I'm the same," said I, "as Teddy,
Ever rough and ever ready!"
Then the girls all ran to beddy,
One little night in school.

Preparadists, Pussyfoots and Pacifists Lineup as Seen By Progressives

"Just a Minute" Says That Without Kansas and California Moose Convention Would Have Bolted the Colonel.

By CLARK McADAMS.
("JUST A MINUTE.")
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 8.

AN expert on the political situation has about the same following here now that a war expert has in the newspapers. It is one of those things not to be experted. The people who looked in on the song service at the Coliseum yesterday and then went up to the Auditorium and watched the Progressives put on the madhouse scene from "Fear God and Take Your Own Part" did not know what to think. The Progressives put on a Wild West show beside which the Republican convention looked like a meeting for the purpose of devising ways and means of paying the national debt.

One would suppose from the enthusiasm of the one convention and the forced draft on brass bands at the other that Col. Roosevelt had the people and the old guard had nothing but a few sad memories of when it could flag the pie wagon with no more than lifting its little finger. If there is anyone in the Republican convention who has a cheer in him he is carefully husbanding it against the time when it may do him some good. The Roosevelt people, upon the other hand, are prodigal of whoops, whoopees and whatever serves to make them look different from the disheartened people whom the mere thought of cheering in the present unfortunate state of affairs makes sick at the stomach.

No crueler difference of opinion ever divided men in their being than this. The Progressive doesn't care what becomes of the Republican party, and the Republican thinks that if it is dying, as seems likely, everybody ought to go about on tip toe saying, Hush! The doctor is in Oyster Bay. Whether he will do anything is to be doubted. He owes the family some consideration, of which he is not insensible, but if the patient is willing to meet his maker without thought of repentance, as appears to be the case, the doctor cannot see that coming to his rescue would be worth a hard buggy ride in the night. If the worst happens, Democrats will kindly omit flowers. The Progressives will furnish all the flowers necessary. They say their own party will attend to everything, and will then round up the mourners behind the Colonel and beat the Democrats with them.

Fors and Againsts.

The reason why the humors of this situation pervade the city to such a degree is that there are two kinds of Republicans here—Fors and Againsts. The Fors are all for the Colonel. The Againsts are for nobody. If they nominate Hughes it will not be because they are for him, but because they are against the Colonel. They have tried out everybody, and they are against them all. They are against the Colonel most, but they are against everybody to some extent. They are the Againsts. If ever a convention was all flagged up and did not know where to go, this one at the Coliseum is. The Hughes people say they will win, but nobody is for Hughes hard. Enthusiasm for him is out of the question. The Roosevelt people have taken that out of everybody. Different groups have felt at times that they were for some one, but after witnessing one of the Roosevelt demonstrations they have concluded that they are not. One could amuse one's self all day following the Roosevelt people around and watching this 101 Ranch stuff.

Whether one likes the inspiration of their amazing infatuation or not, one must say this—they are for him heart, soul and howl. When they decide to cheer they take air carefully, shake out their chest muscles, lay their heads back in a comfortable place between their shoulder blades, and cheer. It is not a mere expulsion of air through the esophagus in a quick, swift blast, but a full-toned and deep-chested volume of sound that rises with the grandeur of the Giant Geyser. It has thrilled Chicago, that yell. It has also terrified the Republican bosses. In that smashing and sweeping vocal torrent, which no door will exclude, which is heard around Progressive and Republican headquarters alike, and which has made the blood run cold in veins varicosed by the fortuities of politics until the Old Guard looks like the ghost in "Hamlet," is the whore terrible warning of what the Republican party will be up against if the Colonel runs on his own ticket. The Roosevelt following is one of the phenomena of our times. These men don't care who laughs at or reviles them. They are the Fors.

In the philosophy of these people the lineup for the campaign is as good as made. It will consist of the Preparadists led by Roosevelt, the Pussyfoots led by Hughes, and the Pacifists led by Wilson. We shall all stand at last at the Sign of the Colonel, the Sign of the Cat or the Sign of the Dove. There are two states at the bottom of this thing. They are California and Kansas. Without those two hotbeds of revolt the Progressive convention would have bolted the Colonel two days ago and have united with the Republicans on some candidate with whom they could stand on common ground. All hope of that has now been destroyed. The great mass of Progressive delegates has been so fired by men like Johnson and Murdock that it is by this time as hot as the torch which set it ablaze. Those men and a few others like them have told the Progressive candidates what they are here for. They are here for the purpose of making the Colonel President of the United States.

Johnson is everywhere. He goes from one meeting to another spouting fire. It is worth something to see him in action. If the Republicans had anyone like him they could do something. He is an orator of the penguin type who first pitches himself forward upon his toes and then sweeps his audience off its feet. He never hesitates. He has one gesture, an uppercut with the right arm, with the forefinger brought leveled from the height of the eyes. That forefinger sweeps around like the barrel of a machine gun. It gets you. The passion of the man darts from it like lightning. It sizzles and crackles around in men's hair and men's eyes until they don't know whether they are afoot or horseback. The Johnson-Murdock-White-Allen group is the West—the West which has had but one President, the West of which no President but Roosevelt ever heard. That is at least what they seem to say. Gov. Major's word picture of the prairie schooner lumbering across the plains is a weak water color beside the rich Western oil that these men paint. One sees buffalo, Indians, bears. Roosevelt rides. Wolves howl. The ranchman stands at his cabin door. Children play in the bright western sunlight. They all want him again.

WOMEN WILL NOT DEMAND SUFFRAGE VOTE IN MISSOURI

Defeat in Iowa Causes Postponement of Submission of Amendment for Time.

The Missouri Equal Suffrage League will not submit a suffrage amendment to the Missouri voters in November, owing to the defeat Monday by Iowa voters of a similar constitutional amendment, according to Miss Alma Sasse of McPherson avenue, secretary in charge of suffrage headquarters, 1006 Locust street.

The suffragists several months ago entered into an agreement with the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, providing that the suffragists would not submit their proposed amendment if the Iowa election went against them.

Miss Sasse stated that the suffragists will concentrate their attention upon educating Missourians in the need of equal suffrage and will submit the amendment a year or so later. In the meanwhile, they are actively working to place a suffrage plank in the Democratic National platform.

The suffragist headquarters yesterday was presented with a donkey to be used in their advertising campaign during convention week. Yesterday he was christened "Democratic Plank" and decorated with ribbons. A convention delegate who will promise to vote for a suffrage plank in the platform may have a free ride on "Demmy."

Proposal to Submit Suffrage Amendment Defeated in Louisiana.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 8.—The Louisiana House yesterday defeated by a vote of 60 to 49 the proposal to submit to the voters a constitutional amendment granting suffrage to women.

WOMEN ARE PLAYING GREATER PART AS THE CONVENTION PROGRESSES

IDA TARBELL FINDS THAT WOMEN KNOW HOW TO PLAY POLITICAL GAME

She Writes of Woman's Party and of the Tragedy Furnished by Another Suffrage Association That Opposes New Body.

By Ida M. Tarbell,
Noted Writer on Industrial and Economic Subjects.

(Copyright, 1916, by George Mathew Adams.)

CHICAGO, June 8.

NOTHING of the many things happening in the city of Chicago this week equals the dramatic interest of the crystallization that is going on in the ranks of organized women. For the women themselves the drama has moments of deep and real pathos, and it has, too, a touch of tragedy. There is plenty of comedy marking its development. But it is the men, not the women, who are the victims. Never have I seen gentlemen stray so quickly from amused and interested confidence to puzzled and irritated humility, or plain scare, as at the meeting on Tuesday night.

The new Woman's party had permitted representatives of five different political parties to appear before them and briefly present their various claims to the suffrage of the women.

"We do not ask you here to tell us what we can do for your parties, but what your parties can do for us," Miss Martin told the speakers in a tone of exultant sweetness which sent a cheer from shore to shore of the human sea that filled the house. There were at least two unusual mobile faces among the gentlemen. Victor Murdock, who spoke for the Progressives, carries a face like an open book and he makes a point of keeping it open. It was a gay pace at the start, but a rueful one at the end. Those of the gentlemen who had not been too long in politics to learn from that which happens to them, must have sensed several things before the meeting was over. One very important thing was that they faced a body of women who can follow more understandingly and sympathetically a Socialist like Allen Benson in spite of his flaunting them and their support to their faces than they can an old-fashioned Republican like John Hays Hammond.

Women Cheer Benson When He Defies Them.

"Votes don't matter," Benson shot at them; "nothing but educations matter; women, like men, don't know how to vote, nevertheless, if you have nothing but ignorance you have a right to contribute that."

Much as they gasped at Benson's defiance of their "power," they took it like sports and sent him to his seat with rounds of cheers and long waving of their lovely banners. They have a wonderful eye for color, these new politicians. But when Mr. Hammond, confident and bland, assured them that the Republican party offered them protection fro minvaders they jeered him.

Another thing that the gentlemen must have noticed, used as they are to the same game, and that was that no amount of eloquence made the faintest scratch on the rock-ribbed determination of the women. The one and only thing they wanted to know, so the women told the men after they sweated through their ordeals, was whether or not they proopsed to support the Susan B. Anthony amendment. That was the only possible interest they had in what the gentlemen could say. Was it "yes" or "no."

They asked action; action now. The amendment is before Congress. Your representatives are in Congress. If that amendment is not passed we representatives of 3,000,000 voters propose to hold you personally responsible.

I am not sure that it was the votes the women represent that made the men go away so rueful; I rather think it was the discovery that these women know how to play the political game—like men—and with a certain steel-like implacability, which belongs only to women. We are getting what we are in for, women politicians—the inevitable result of women voters—but the joke is on the men so far.

The pathos and the tragedy is with the women. For in another theater of Chicago has been sitting through the stirring organization of the National Woman's Party, an equally large, equally able body of women. They are the members of an association which in the rudiments at least, was flourishing before some of the leaders of the new party were born—the National American Woman's Suffrage Association. It has been largely through the work of the members of this association that the women of the new party have their voting power, and these women do not believe in pushing suffrage by a national amendment. They believe in following the road by which it has been obtained in the 11 suffrage states, the methods which have given this very week so great a vote in Iowa.

Woman's Party Called Political Blackmail.

They see a woman's party as a form of sex antagonism; they call it political blackmail and declare that women cannot afford to sully their new-found power by questionable methods. They call upon their sense of loyalty, both in the women in the association who have given them their support and to the men in the various states who have been their backers. How can we ask Republicans in a state fighting for suffrage for their votes if you are combining against Republicans in another state which has suffrage?

The tragedy seems to be to center in one of the finest and ablest figures among the public women of this country—Dr. Anna B. Shaw. She, more than any other women, has taken the place of Susan B. Anthony. Somehow she has been able to preserve more humor and more real human understanding than most lifelong campaigners, men or women. She is one of the best women speakers in the land. She is valiant and quick-witted and noble—42 years of her life she has given to suffrage. She has what the youngsters of the new party, for the most part have not—wisdom and knowledge. She has learned that the surest way is not always the quickest. She looks at the effort to secure the amendment by political union as a short way bound to be the longest. And she, the leader crowned, powerful, full of experience, sees youth taking its bit in its teeth and running over a precipice. It is a fateful decision, but it is the inevitable logic of votes for women.

Votes means politics, the power to do what you think best.

Dr. Shaw never thinks like any leader that has worked for 42 years in any cause. It is this division that is the tragedy to the observer, this crystallization of youth, this lining up of East and West, for the new woman's party comes out of the West. It is a party of women with votes. The National Woman's Suffrage Association of the East is a group still to feel its fingers tingling over a vote, its blood stirred by a call to a political battle. The new woman's party has this association to reckon with when it comes to actual work.

WILL TRANSPLANT TREES TO CHECK FLYING GOLF BALLS

Cunliff Believes This Plan Will Remedy Condition Complaned of at Municipal Links.

Following complaints that flying golf balls from the municipal links in Forest Park were a menace to residents of Hillcrest, a subdivision just west of Skinker road, Park Commissioner Cunliff today said he would have a row of trees planted along the western limits of the golf course. The trees will be as large as it is possible to transplant, and he believes they will check the filght of the golf balls.

Mrs. P. J. Tooomey, a resident of Hillcrest was struck with a ball about a year ago and similar occurrences have been reported since then.

ARRIVING AT THE COLISEUM – BANNERS IN TATTERS

SKETCHED AT CHICAGO BY Marguerite Martyn

Marguerite Martyn Finds Spectacle Was Marred Only Sartorially by Chicago Rainstorm—Votes for Women Arguments Made to Convention Committee.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 8.

IF feminine vanity, physical disability, insincerity and instability of purpose have been held against women as reasons for their unfitness to vote, right valiantly were these charges disputed yesterday before a goodly number of the men in power by 5000 women marching afoot in such a storm as only this city by the lake is capable of visiting upon a nation's representatives. Under leaden skies, over flooded pavements, with a driving wind beating the rain upon them, they battled the elements to prove a purpose.

Tattered banners, faded streamers, bedraggled petticoats, umbrellas turning inside out, musical instruments wheezing and whining, gay uniforms and costumes mantled by nondescript coverings, did their best to render ludicrous and grotesque what had been intended as a beautiful and impressive spectacle. But, who knows but that a more convincing impression was produced than any that could have been planned by human devices?

Certain it is that what the audience crowding the sheltered windows and doorways lost in numbers it made up in noisy acclamation, for continuous applause greeted the marchers all the way. In some cases the impression seemed too solemn for cheering. I saw grave men bare their heads in silent respect and caught a glimpse of a group of girls in a beauty parlor weeping—who looked like the type that would have come to scoff at an ordinary suffrage parade. Nor did the elements in all their ferocity succeed in obliterating all the planned effects.

The white and yellow of Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks, grand marshal and first marcher to come into view, was somewhat faded and her white shoes oozed water as she walked, but she almost pranced to keep her balance and that of the huge silk flag she carried. It happened that the oilskin coat she wore over a wonderful costume was yellow, the suffrage color, and not unbecoming to her tall, statuesque blonde beauty. The plan to have a large American flag upon which rested the petition for a suffrage plank, embossed on vellum, borne by four women from the four corners of the United States, was carried out.

Wee Baby Elephant Excites Sympathy.

A wee baby elephant decorated with g. o. p. banners, and shivering in the cold, excited sympathy just as appealing as the mirth it was intended to provoke. Almost every state in the Union was represented, but the delegations had to be recognized by some distinctive costume as their banners were whipped and furled by the wind. New York had a delegation of 40; Wisconsin, 90. The Illinois and Chicago representation consumed over an hour in passing. One inscription on a banner still intact was:

"For the safety of the nation,
Let the women have the vote,
For the hand that rocks the cradle
Will never rock the boat."

"We congratulate the Sioux," a legend remindful of the franchise recently granted to Indians, was flaunted by the delegation from Iowa.

Missouri's delegation was 16 in number. St. Louis was represented by Mrs. George Gellhorn, Mrs. W. C. Fordyce, Mrs. B. F. Burch and Mrs. Fred Taussig, carrying yellow parasols advertising the yellow lane. Mrs. J. R. Leighty, new State chairman, and Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, retiring president, also were among the drenched, but unsubdued marchers. Nobody knows as yet if this trying effort will have any substantial effect upon the Republican Platform Committee, which granted a hearing to all sides of the suffrage question at the end of the parade. Mrs. Harriott Stanton Blatch, whose eloquence has been pitted against that of men orators several times in the past three days with admittedly vanquishing effect, seemed more than ever inspired as she made her appeal for the constitutional amendment.

Pointing her finger at the dignified and scholarly Henry Cabot Lodge, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, she said:

"Do you ask us to continue to stand upon the street corner asking of every passing man our liberty?"

Request for Suffrage Plank Presented.

Carrie Chapman Catt, Grace Wilbur Trout and Abbie E. Krebs presented the national association request for a suffrage plank. Miss Anne Martin, Sara Bard Field and Miss Mabel Vernon made the Congressional Union demand, not for a plank, but for immediate action by the Republicans now in Congress on a constitutional amendment. The words "request" and "demand" describe the sole difference between the divided suffrage factions. Mrs. J. L. George spoke on behalf of the antis.

The whole day was a teary one for the nationals, and their meeting, prematurely scheduled as a "victory session," was turned into one of mourning at the news from Iowa. Two delegates straight from the campaign of defeat betrayed in trembling hands and agitated voice, as they explained from the stage the cause of failure, the effects of nervous strain. Mrs. E. H. Deavitt of Oskaloosa, daughter of former Gov. Llewellyan of Kansas, attributed the defeat partly to advocacy by a Democratic candidate for Governor who had no chance.

"Ever since we circularized a letter written for us by him we have lost ground," she said. "But we are not without hope," she ended. "Iowa ranks first in literacy, first in the production of corn first in the production of hogs. Some day we women hope with the franchise, to produce as good babies as the men now produce hogs."

Mrs. Catt, in an I-told-you-so vein, implied that Iowa women had been too circumspect in their methods.

"You cannot expect to reach the voters in fine parlors and halls," she said. "You have got to get out on the soap box."

So affectingly did she speak that there was not a dry eye in the house and many women were sobbing audibly.

She called upon the women for a pledge of one-tenth of their time to the cause and a large majority stood up.

Dr. Anna Shaw to the rescue, brought cheer, declaring as she does at every campaign failure: "We are not losers. We had nothing to lose. Whereas, the antis, who have possessed the State of Iowa, have lost all except those 5000 votes."

1000 Women at Suffrage First Lunch.

"A suffrage first" luncheon closing the Congressional Union convention was attended by more than 1000 women. Helen Keller was among the speakers.

Crystal Eastman of New York made a witty speech. She is a young enthusiast, but recounting the progress and change of methods during her experience with the suffrage movement, she assumed the pose of a veteran, talking of the good old fighting days.

"No more campaigning, no more arguing, no more soap box speaking," she said. "That's all old stuff. All we've got to do now is pledge our voting sisters in the West to vote right and victory is soon won."

CHICAGO, June 8.

"NOW is the time for all good men—" I am new to the newspaper game. So when a youth with a fixed glare and an intense manner follows me up demanding material for the wires it makes me nervous. Yesterday, however, I succeeded in obtaining three interviews. The first was with Senator Boies Penrose.

I had waited a long time for Senator Penrose. Men came and went, the Suffrage Parade went by outside. It rained and I waited.

More men came and went. The liberty bell and more suffragists went by outside and I waited.

At last I was admitted to the presence Senator Penrose said: "The Republicans are working entirely in harmony. Practically the same men who worked during the convention of 1912 are working now. No steam roller is being used; no methods but open ones. We have no idea who the candidate will be. We expect to know before midnight Saturday night. The platform is not ready. But it will certainly contain mention of preparedness and a protective tariff."

Having received this information, I waited to see Senator Oliver.

He said: "The platform is not ready. But it will certainly contain mention of preparedness and a protective tariff. The Republicans are working entirely in harmony. Practically the same men who worked during the convention of 1912 are working now. No steam roller is being used; no methods but open ones. We have no idea who the candidate will be. We expect to know before midnight Saturday night."

Later on I talked with other delegates, men who are supposed to know the secrets of the situation.

One of these men drew me into a corner and closed the door. Then he whispered:

"Practically the same men who worked during the convention of 1912 are working now. No steam roller is being used. No methods but open ones. We have no idea who the candidate will be. We expect to know before midnight Saturday night. The Republicans are working entirely in harmony."

Confused by these differing but authoritative statements, I finally gave up, and sought no more interviews. But from what these men have said we may at least gather that harmony prevails.

A certain heaviness hung over the opening session of the Republican convention. Perhaps it was the weather, which continues atrocious. Perhaps it is because a certain amount of work must be done before the real business commences. Perhaps it is because the enthusiasm of the conventions is a cumulative thing, arranged to cover a certain period, and to increase with every day.

Something Inspiring, Even in Wet Crowd.

There is something rather inspiring in a crowd, even in a wet bedraggled and slightly dispirited crowd. People are more imposing in the mass than individually. And it is not very often that we gather together from the uttermost parts of the country for anything more serious than a football game.

A great hall, hung with golden yellow, its balconies festooned with flags; three tiers of spectators closely packed around its walls; high platform at one end, flanked by the press boxes, and between the press boxes, runing out from the main platform, a speakers stand—that was the Coliseum ready for business. On a table for the first few minutes stood a tall vase of American beauty roses. But before long an unesthetic gentleman puts it on the floor.

The gavel called the convention to order with three tremendous raps. The main floor, which was filled with delegates, settled down to attention. The press boxes, which were filled with cynics also settled down.

Veteran newspaper men filled the press boxes, men of many battles, political and otherwise. They looked interested or bored, as their pose might be, but one and all they looked intelligent, keen and humorous. They knew every one. They knew what most of the delegates stood for. They knew as well as any in the hall knew, what the convention would do.

I sat in the press box. But as I was among these men, but not of them, I may write of them. Next to me an artist was sketching heads. He drew the Governor of Ohio, who was chewing gum at the time; he drew Medill McCormick, lean and Irish in type, and looking extremely weary. He drew Boies Penrose's broad, heavy back and Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, wide of face and narrow of head, with gray hair parted in the center and shaggy gray eyebrows.

Even before the prayer we had our pictures taken. Two men with cameras stood on a press desk behind me. One of them was not quite ready when the flash came and what he said I shall not repeat.

It is odd, the way we must have our pictures taken. Yesterday, during a meeting where divers patriotic gentlemen sang national songs, and gave me a lump in my throat, a wild-eyed photographer with a camera planted an elbow in my side, vaulted a chair and rushed madly forward to where the

"Just a moment," he cried, mounting a chair. "Keep on waving."

So they did and he took a picture by shoving a lever and in five seconds was back again. This time, however, I was ready for him and dodged.

At the Coliseum we had our pictures taken and then had a prayer, with every one sitting down, which seems rather indolent, and not particularly good religious form. But, then, in church we are accused of setting form above matter, spiritually.

Now, at last, it was possible to see the convention. From the press box it looked orderly and tidy, delegates arranged in neat bunches sitting under the standards of their states. Behind them were the alternates similarly grouped.

Bearing this in mind, I looked them over.

It is strange how little men from different parts of the country differ in appearance, especially without their hats. Montana and Pennsylvania, Alabama and Connecticut, New York—any man, any delegate, might have come from any state. With this difference, perhaps, that the New England men had in some ways rather the advantage. The Massachusetts delegation, for instance, had some of the thinking types, but they looked conservative. New York, Pennsylvania delegations, all over the hall, showed prosperous, sleek types, men with corporation faces, many of them; few fine faces, but many strong ones. Average Americans, I should say, hairless heads predominating, not particularly idealistic, not annoyingly patriotic. But good, solid citizens nevertheless, to be trusted to do the safe thing politically.

The dominant figure was unquestionably Senator Harding. The delegates are saying that he made a great speech. I do not consider it a great speech. But it was a good one. He reiterated many platitudes; he stole some of Theodore Roosevelt's thunder and both platitudes and thunder were rapturously applauded.

Here and there he said a statesmanly thing which passed apparently unnoticed or received timid recognition. It is unfortunate that such a speech will be recalled, not in its general trend probably, but by one or two of those catch phrases which the Americans have a habit of picking up and remembering.

"Watchful Waiting and Wobbling Warfare."

His mention of the Democratic "watchful waiting and wobbling warfare" is one. That the Democrats "first coddled Villa as a patriot and then chased him as a bandit" is another. A reporter near me looked up to say "that is the only statesmanship we have now—to pull a clever phrase.

His appeal for harmony met great applause.

"Let up forget our difficulties. He said. "This is not the time for recrimination. This is the time for reconstruction."

Perhaps the greatest excitement produced by the speech was when he said:

"We don't want the greatest navy in the world. But we ought to have a navy that fears none in the world."

It is evident that preparedness is to be the keynote of the Republican campaign. But it is evident also today that the Republican leaders do not want its chief exponent, Theodore Roosevelt. In our political life, it seems to be impossible for a man to come back. We are never so satisfied with what we have had that we wish to give it a second trial.

Senator Harding talked for over an hour; a big man, aquiline in type and with a fine voice. He was, I fancy rather nervous when he began, although not with stage fright. He was confronting the big moment of his career. The speech might make him. There are some today who think it has made him. Unquestionable it has put him in the presidential running.

"The spirit of patriotism is calling," he said at the beginning of his peroration.

It did scream. But that is part of the game.

Altogether, Senator Harding's speech, while a much less statesmanly effort than that of Elihu Root before the Republican State Committee, was still a real speech. He made use of every obvious trick of the orator. He offered no new arguments. But it was a good opening effort, calculated cleverly to catch and hold the attention.

PRESIDENT HAS ABOUT COMPLETED PLATFORM DRAFT

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Wilson today virtually had completed a draft of the platform to be submitted to the Democratic National Committee.

The principal plank, it is said, will consist of a declaration of the administration's success in guarding the honor and interests of the United States and at the same time keeping the nation at peace.

Specifically the foreign office sections of the platform probably will praise these acts of the administration:

Protection of the neutral rights of the United States and other nations.

Refusal to allow the country to be drawn into the Mexican internal troubles and prompt dispatch of troops in pursuit of raiders on American territory.

Support of the policy of "America first."

The planks on Democratic affairs will refer particualrly to the merits of the Underwood tariff act, the Federal reserve act and the adminstration's preparedness plans.

The president has utilized as a basis for this work features of the Missouri State Democratic platform, which was prepared under the direction of the White House.

SHORTAGE OF ARENA SEATS FOR DELEGATES HERE

Chairman of Subcommittee Finds Many States Have Sent Double Allotted Number.

Bruce Kremer, chairman of the Subcommittee on Arrangements for the Democratic national convention, was confronted with a familiar problem today, when it became apparent there would not be arena seats in the Coliseum for all the delegates accredited to the convention.

Kremer tried to puzzle it out at the committee's headquarters at the Hotel Jefferson. The shortage of seats is due to the fact that several states elected twice the number of delegates to which they were entitled and gave each delegate one-half a vote in the convention. Thus Oklahoma, which has 21 votes, will send 42 delegates to the convention. There also will be 42 alternates.

24 Senators to Be Here.

At least 24 United States Senators will be in St. Louis for the convention. Charles P. Higgins, sergeant-at-arms of the United States Senate and formerly Excise Commissioner of St. Louis, arrived yesterday and completed arrangements for quartering the senatorial party.

The list of Senators who have announced their intention of coming to St. Louis, and the hotels at which they will stays, follows:

Tom Taggart of Indiana, William E. Chilton, West Virginia; Henry F. Hollis, New Hampshire; Charles F. Johnson, Maine; John W. Kern, Indiana; Francis G. Newlands, Nevada; James D. Phelan, California; Key Pittmann, Nevada; Willard Saulsbury, Delaware; John Walter Smith, Maryland; Thomas J. Walsh, Montana, at Hotel Jefferson.

Thomas P. Gore, Oklahoma; Paul O. Husting, Wisconsin; Atlee Pomerene, Ohio; James A. Reed, Missouri; F. M. Simmons, North Carolina; William J. Stone, Missouri; James K. Vardaman, Mississippi, at the Planters.

Ollie M. James, Kentucky; James E. Martine, New Jersey, at the Missouri Athletic Association.

Thomas S. Martin, Virginia; Claude A. Swanson, Virginia, at the American Hotel.

William H. Thompson, Kansas, at the Maryland.

Robert L. Owen, Oklahoma, at the Warwick.

Senator Taggart, who returned to his home after a visit here last Saturday, is back in town.

Chairman McCombs, Treasurer Rolla Wells and other members of the Democratic National Committee were entertained last night at dinner at Sunset Hill Country Club by Committeeman Goltra.

TWO INDICTED ON CHARGE OF PUTTING IN FALSE CLAIMS

Cattleman and Lawyer Alleged to Have Obtained Big Sums From Railroads.

Hal Mangum, a catttle rasier and shipper of La Pryor, Tex., and Levi Old, an attorney of Uvalde, Tex., were indicted by the Federal grand jury here today on charges of having placed false claims against railroads operating in Texas, in the shipping of cattle interstate from Texas to St. Louis and other points. A second charge of conspiracy to defraud was found against Old.

It is alleged that Mangum and Old would load cars with cattle and then put in claims for alleged delays, the bruising of stock in transit and failure of the roads to deliver in time to escape decline in market values. Claims were made by them against the Southern Pacific, International & Great Northern, Iron Mountain, San Antonio, Uvalde & Gulf and the M., K. & T. railroads. It is clamed by railroad attorneys that Olds has been making from $5000 to $6000 a year in the transactions.

Mangum is said to be the son-in-law of Ike T. Pryor, head of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas.

MANY BRITISH SOLDIERS TO TAKE HOME FRENCH WIVES

"Tommy Atkins" Finds Difference in Language Accessory to Romance, Rather Than Barrier.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, June 8.—One of the results of the presence of the British army in France is that a good many British soldiers will take French wives home with them. The difference in language, far from being a barrier, is an accessory. Tommy Atkins teaches Miss France English, and Miss France teaches Tommy Atkins French.

There is plenty of leisure for courtship. Frequently British battalions remain in the same section for months at a time. When the men have done their shift in the trenches they return, "in rest," as the saying is, to the same villages where they were before. Usually they have quarters in the French houses. In a sense they become members of the community.

U. S. TROOPS IN CHINA IN READINESS TO GO TO PEKIN

French Said to Have Dispatched Force There—Guards Assure New President of Fealty.

LONDON, June 8.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tien Tsin, China says that the United States troops at that place have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to Pekin.

The dispatch also says the French authorities already have dispatched a strong force of native troops from the French protectorate at Annam to Pekin.

A delegation of officers of the bodyguard of the new President Li Yuan Hung, has assured him of the fealty of the guard.

HISTORIC FRIGATE WILL BE TURNED INTO MERCHANTMAN

Franklin, 100 Years Old, Has Been in Port 25 Years as Navy Receiving Ship.

NORFOLK, June 8.—Henry Hinter's Sons of Philadelphia, who purchased the historic frigate Franklin from the Government, will put the vessel in service again as a merchantman because of the attractive rates on ocean freight.

The Franklin was built more than 100 years ago. She was used for 25 years as a receiving ship at this port and several months ago was sold at public auction for less than $4000.

The old ship is now in dry dock at the Norfolk navy yard and will be towed to Philadelphia, where she will be fitted out and sent back to sea as a sailing vessel.

The final commencement exercises were held this week when 287 students were released from their studies for the year, 36 of them as graduates.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR FRIENDLY SUIT OVER COUNTY BOND

Officials Want Courts' Interpretation of Law on Several Points at Issue.

Preparations are complete for filing in the State Supreme Court a friendly suit to determine certain technical legal points in connection with the $3,000,000 road bond issue authorized by St. Louis County at a special election Feb. 15. The legality of the bond issue itself is not questioned. The suit will be filed either tomorrow or Saturday by Attorney George Barnett, who will act for Prosecuting Attorney Ralph, the County Court's legal adviser in the bond matter. That such a suit was contemplated was told in the Post-Dispatch May 19.

It is understood that the suit will be in the nature of a mandamus action brought in accordance with a plan agreed upon between Ralph and the State officials. The plan is that Barnett tonight will take to Jefferson City and offer for registration by the State Auditor an issue of the bonds aggregating $520,000.

This issue, in denominations of $100, $500 and $1000, comprising 600 separate bonds, has been printed and the bonds were signed last night by Presiding Judge Wiethaupt of the County Court. It is understood that the State Auditor will refuse to register the bonds on the ground that they have not been prepared in accordance with the statutes. The mandamus suit will seek to compel their registration and is expected to result in an interpretation by the Supreme Court of the clouded points of the new State statute under which the bond issue was authorized.

Interpretation Is Important.

An intrepretation of this statute will be watched with interest by other counties which have followed the lead of St. Louis County in voting road bonds and by other counties contemplating such bond issues.

The legal points raised, Prosecuting Attorney Ralph said, do not affect the validity of the bonds but only the commercial value. One point is the denomination of the bonds. The statute seems to provide that one half of the issue shall be in bonds of $100 denomination. Ralph points out that if it is necessary to issue $1,500,000 of the road bonds in denominations of $100 the premiums will be much less than if the greater part of the issue is in denominations of $500 and $1000. He wants the statute so construed that one-half of the first issue of $520,000 in $100 denominations will fill the legal requirement. He estimates that this would mean a gain of $100,000 in premiums.

Another point is the duration of the bonds. Under the law they cannot run for more than 20 years, but they can be redeemed at any time within that period.

Question of Redemption.

Ralph holds that they would be more desirable as investments, especially for estates and trusts, if they could be issued for a certain number of years and could not be redeemed before that time. He will attempt to have the Supreme Court fix a schedule of the length of term for which the bonds can be issued without being subject to redemption in the meanwhile. There may be other points also that will be raised when the Supreme Court begins to consider the case.

Ralph says he will try to get the Court to advance the case on its docket so the legal questions may be determined as soon as possible in order to enable work to be started on the roads. County Highway Engineer Elbring said today no contracts have been let, but that the county is in a position to sign contracts as soon as the questions are decided. If the issue that has been prepared is ordered registered by the Court, those bonds can be offered for sale immediately.

Meanwhile Elbring and Special Engineer James C. Travilla, are going ahead with thee preliminary surveys. This work, Elbring says, will enable the actual road construction to progress much more rapidly when it is once started.

36 INDICTMENTS BROUGHT IN BY U. S. GRAND JURY

The Federal grand jury made its final report to Judge Dyer today and returned 36 indictments.

Among the 16 made public was one against Addie E. O'Hara on a charge of using the mails to defraud and one against J. Kervin Ross on a charge of stealing from the mails.

Miss O'Hara conducted a school for detectives in the Chemical Building. She was arrested a few weeks ago after one of her students complained at police headquarters.

Ross was formerly a clerk at the downtown postoffice. He was arrested after postoffice inspectors watched him and declared they caught him opening special delivery letters and extracting money. One of the letters was a decoy containing a marked bill which the inspectors said they found later in Ross' possession.

George Lang is charged with stealing pelts from parcel post packages at Union Station, where he was employed. William H. Barnes, Albert Herzog, Michael J. Gallagher, Charles Conrad, William Brown and Julius Jordan are charged with violation of the Harrison drug act. William E. Vosges, Thomas Klenstra, Thomas J. Norman, William Copanos and William F. Engler, Joseph Rutledge, Arthur H. Hamilton and Walter Himmler are charged with violation of the oleomargarine l

TWO NEW GIFTS OF $166,000 EACH FOR WASHINGTON U.

Edward Mallinckrodt and J. T. Milliken, Donors; $664,000 More From Rockefeller Board.

Announcement was made at the Washington University commencement exercises this morning that Edward Mallinckrodt of 16 Westmoreland place and John T. Milliken of 1150 Belt avenue, wealthy manufacturing chemists, had each donated $166,000 to the Washington University medical school.

Robert S. Brookings, president of the university corporation, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that these donations enable the medical school to receive $664,000 from the General Education Board founded by John D. Rockefeller. The total donations make a million dollars, which will be available for school work at the opening of the new term next fall.

"I am now going around the streets looking for another man with $166,000 in his pocket," Brookings said. "I will show him how he can do more good for humanity than in any other way."

Brookings said the third donation of $166,000 was needed so that the medical school could come into the entire million dollars which the Rockefeller board had promised to give the school, contingent upon the school itself raising $500,000.

Mallinckrodt's $166,000 and $332,000 from the Rockefeller Board, a total of $498,000, will be used for research and experiments in pediatrics, that branch of the medical science which treats of the hygiene and diseases of children.

Milliken's $166,000 and the $332,000 from the Rockefeller Board, which also is a total of $498,000, will be available next fall for research and experiments in medicine.

Brookings stated that the third donor of $166,000, for whom he is now searching, would enable the surgical department of the medical school to have $498,000 with which to conduct research work. He said, at the commencement exercises, that he hoped to have such a donation within a year.

Not a Prophet.

When a reporter called at Milliken's office for a statement about his donation Milliken simply said: "The gift speaks for itself." When asked if he contemplated making further donations of similar character, he said: "I'm no prophet."

Milliken recently announced that he had made about $5,000,000 profit in an Oklahoma oil deal. Both he and Mallinckrodt, as manufacturing chemists, are reported to have made large sums as a result of the high prices to which chemicals have soared as a result of the war.

Mallinckrodt, at the Noonday Club, told a reporter that his gift of $166,000 to the medical school was because of his interest in children's diseases and his desire to aid in research work in pediatrics. He said that his wife, before her death in 1913, had given much attention to the welfare of the Children's Hospital, part of the Washington University group. Mallinckrodt last January gave $100,000 to the endowment fund of the Children's Hospital, making total donations of $266,000 by him in six months.

The Rockefeller Board's announcement of its conditional million-dollar gift to the Washington University Medical School was made in 1914, at the same time that it gave over $1,750,000 similarly to endow Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore.

At the time members of the board stated that Washington University, in medicine, would henceforth take rank with Johns Hopkins and that the United States would have two institutions of the first rank and equal to the great surgical and medical institutes of Europe. The specific purpose of the Rockefeller donation was to create full time teaching and research departments in medicine, surgery and pediatrics.

Buildings Cost $2,750,000.

The Rockefeller board made a provision that the teachers procured by the gifts, which were announced today, shall be free to give any medical or surgical service of any kind, but must do so without personal gain and practically their entire time must be devoted to hospital work, teaching and research.

The medical department of Washington University is now quartered in a group of magnificent buildings on King's highway and on Euclid avenue opposite Forest Park. The buildings, which consist of Barnes Hospital, the Children's Hospital, a nurses' training school, and school structures, cost about $2,750,000, of which $1,000,000 was contributed by President Brookings, who, with the late Samuel Cupples, has contributed millions of dollars to the university.

The endowment of the medical school and Barnes Hospital, including the present Rockefeller - Milliken - Mallickrodt gifts, but without reckoning the cost of the buildings, now totals $5,000,000. A large part of this is the endowment created from $1,000,000 which Robert Barnes bequeathed, a quarter of a century ago, toward the erection of the hospital which now bears his name.

Acting Chancellor Hall conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws on Theobald Smith, director of the animal experiment station of the Rockefeller Institue for Medical Research in New York. He said Dr. Smith was one of the greatest living pathologists, being the discoverer of the fact that bloodsucking insects transmit disease.

Three girls who are engaged are members of the graduating class of Washington University and received their degrees at the commencement exercises. They are Misses Senta Retter, Mildred Searcy and Helen Anderson.

In the class were four married women—Mrs. Grace Gregory Haydock and Mrs. Lillian Browning Westbrook Shields, who received A. B. degrees; Mrs. Ethel West White, who received an A. M. degree, and Mrs. Mary Amelia Blass, the only woman member of the law school graduating class.

Three sets of brothers and sisters received degrees, as follows: Miss Mary Brotherton and Walker Payne Brotherton, Miss Marie Rassieur Kammerer and Webb Louis Kammerer, Miss Virginia Rhodes and Victor Harry Rhodes.

Seldon Palmer Spencer's degree of Master of Arts will be sent to him at Fati, Canton, China, where he is a missionary. He did his resident work at the University in 1911 and 1912 and wrote his thesis in China, where he has been for the past year.

Exercises in Gymnasium.

The commencement exercises, held in Francis gymnasium, were preceded by the academic procession from Graham Memorial Chapel. The commencement address was delivered by Bishop Tuttle. His subject was "Antiseptics." The degrees were conferred by Dr. Frederick A. Hall, acting Chancellor.

Bishop Tuttle, in his address, said:

"A look at war-stricken Europe and a thought of the Oriental multitudes of Asia almost force upon us the conviction that God's providence is entrusting the future destinies of the human race to our own America.

"Ah! what bravery of self-government and self-restraint to give us patience, and what bravery of self-forgetfulness and self-sacrifice to give us righteous leadership are needed for the discharge of such assigned duty.

"Ownership of the Isthmian Canal, the neighborhood of all Central America, the intimate nearness of Mexico, the growing power and wealth of South American peoples, and the claims and aims and complications of the Monroe Doctrine, all warn us that a vast more of opportunity is coming for us to do what we do not like to do and not to do what we should like to do.

Not Vain, Conceited.

"Evil is here. Ignorance, selfishness, sin are septic things. We may be, we have been, training to be, I hope we want to be—antiseptic forces. Not Pharisaic mentors, not aggressive personal reformers, not ill-natured critics, not persistent pessimists, but antiseptic centers of influence each one, to try to diminish the evil and increase the good of human life."

Bishop Tuttle, commenting upon college men and women and university men and women, said he did not believe that they, in facing life, are "vain and conceited, puffed and swollen."

THE OPTOMETRIST Is the EYE-STRAIN SPECIALIST

A person suffering from eye-strain, who at the same time is enjoying the best of health, is often at a loss to know whom he should consult. He does not feel that he needs a physician, but he knows that he wants relief.

Much of the suffering due to eye-strain could be relieved if the one so afflicted would consult the Optometrist, who is now being rapidly recognized by the world as the exclusive Eye-strain Specialist.

The Optometrist is now recognized by law in 37 states as the one trained in the science of determining the visual status of the human eye and the neutralizing of its abnormal conditions with lenses, while the physician is the medical specialist in eye diseases. Therefore, the Optometrist is the acknowledged Eye-strain Specialist and the maker of glasses for the correction of visual defects.

ROOSEVELT AT EVEN MONEY IS FAVORITE IN CHICAGO BETTING

CHICAGO, June 8.—Theodore Roosevelt has been made the favorite for the Republican presidential nomination by Chicago bookmakers. They quote his chance at even money.

Jim O'Leary, Chicago's premier layer, is strong for the Colonel as a betting proposition. "Looks like T. R. all the way," he said.

One freak bet was recorded. A Western cattleman put up $750 against $3000 that Roosevelt would be the nominee of both the Progressives and Republicans and elected over Wilson.

Justice Hughes was made second choice at odds of 6 to 5; Elihu Root, 5 to 1; Theodore Burton of Ohio, 6 to 1; Senators Cummins of Iowa and Weeks of Massachusetts, 7 to 1.

MURDER OF BANKER AND WIFE CHARGED TO SON-IN-LAW

Accused Man Removed From Texas Town Because of Fears of Violence.

WILLSPOINT, Tex., June 8.—R. J. Morau was arrested late yesterday, charged with the murder of his father-in-law, H. F. Goodnight, president of the Van Zandt National Bank, and Goodnight's wife. Mr. and Mrs. Goodnight and Mrs. Morau, their daughter, were attacked early yesterday in their home with an ax or hammer. Mrs. Goodnight was found dead and Goodnight died several hours later. Mrs. Morau, who still was unconscious early last night, probably will recover.

Morau soon after his arrest was removed from Willspoint on account of the intense excitement prevailing, according to the officers, who refused to tell where he was taken.

No motive for the killings has come to light. That robbery had not inspired the attack was apparent when officers found the house in order and apparently nothing missing.

Morau made a statement to the police in which he is said to have told that he was awakened at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning by hearing his wife scream. Hastening to her bedroom, he said, he found her on her bed in an unconscious condition, and in Goodnight's room he found his father-in-law apparently dying. The body of Mrs. Goodnight was found in the basement E27of the house. Her head had been crushed.

FRISCO, HELD AT $45,000,000, TO BE SOLD IN ROUNDHOUSE

Railroad Will Be Auctioned Off in Few Weeks at the Tracks on Chouteau Avenue.

The Frisco Railroad property, held at a minimum price of $45,700,000, will be put up at auction, within the next few weeks, in the roundhouse adjoining the Frisco tracks at Chouteau avenue. Thomas T. Fauntelroy, a lawyer, will be auctioneer, and will conduct the sale amid the hiss of steam and the ding-dong of the bells of locomotives.

Presiding Judge Walter H. Sanborn of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals arrived in St. Louis today, and entered an order appointing Fauntleroy special master, in charge of the sale. The time will be set soon, and the printing of the notices, at least once a week for four consecutive weeks, will be a required preliminary to the sale. Bondholders foreclosed on the Frisco March 31.

FEAR OF DAMAGE TO POSTERITY BASIS OF GIRL'S $20,000 SUIT

Dogs Savagely Assailed and Injured Her, and Possibility Upon Offspring Is Cited.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 8.—The possibility that Edna F. Allerton, the young daughter of Guy E. Allerton, will grow up and marry and that she will bear children who will inherit an insane fear of dogs and have hideous birthmarks, is made the basis for a $20,000 suit for damages filed in the Supreme Court.

The young girl was knocked down and bitten by three dogs at Athens-on-the-Hill. According to the complaint, her clothing was torn from her body and her flesh was torn on her arms and legs, as a result of which she was confined to her bed for weeks. When the wounds heal, it is alleged, they will leave big scars.

The suit is directed against Mr. and Mrs. George W. Law, owners of the dogs, and it is the possible effect on posterity as well as the scars and the pain suffered that is claimed to be worth $20,000.

COME, BRING YOUR CAMERA AND CATCH THE PICTURE BEFORE THE SCENE CHANGES.

Half the pleasure of an outing is the review later of familiar scenes on the trip as they appeared when the snapshot was taken. The old home, the automobile party, the lively bunch on the beach, or a pleasing bit of scenery on the mountain climb with the travelers in the setting, all tell of pleasures years afterward.

ARBITRATION FOR U. S. AND MEXICO IS CONSIDERED

President May Propose Board to Settle Disputes Between Two Countries.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Arbitration of differences between the United States and Mexico through an international commission today becomes a possibility.

Diplomats, particularly those of Central and South American republics, are interested in information that administration officials are considering seriously proposing such a course to Gen. Carranza. If they definitely decide to suggest this, it would be sent as the United States' answer to Carranza's last note. Acceptance will then depend on the de facto Government.

Authority in Treaty.

Under the treaty of 1848 between the United States and Mexico, the Presidents of the two nations might appoint an equal number of commissioners to whom could be submitted all the vexatious questions arising out of relations between the two countries during the past few years.

Among these might be: Withdrawal of American troops from Mexican territory; indemnification for American lives lost and property destroyed or damaged during recent Mexican revolutions; disposition of customs revenues collected during the American occupation of Vera Cruz and now held in the United States, and claims for property damages growing out of the Vera Cruz incident; long-pending disputes concerning the exact location of certain portions of the international boundary.

No Decision Indicated.

The commission probably would meet in some South American country. Whether President Wilson has reached a final decision on the question of proposing arbitration to Gen. Carranza is not indicated today.

The treaty of 1848 provides that "should such a sourse be proposed by either party it shall be acceded to by the other unless deemed by it altogether incompatible with the nature of the difference or the circumstance of the case."

Interest in the suggested plan here today is based largely on the belief that it would tend to benefit relations between the United States and Southern American nations.

THEY WANT DANCERS TO TALK

Masters Say Intricate Steps Have Made Conversation Impossible.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dancing masters attending their annual convention here have decided to encourage their pupils in the practice of more walking steps in learning modern dances. The purpose is to give the dancers a better opportunity for conversation.

"Heretofore dancers have been so intent upon thinking what steps are coming next that they have no opportunity to talk with their partners," said Charles McCrea of Philadelphia. "The mental strain of trying to remember how to dance has been so great that it has been impossible to think of anything else."

UNION ELECTRIC CUTS ITS RATE HALF CENT MORE

Company Announces Number of Users Is 70,000; Further Reduction at 75,000 Mark.

A reduction of a half a cent a kilowatt hour in the rates for electric current was announced today by the Union Electric Co., to become effective Saturday. This reduction is due to a gain of more than 5000 customers since the last reduction of a half a cent, last December, bringing the total number of customers at present to more than 70,000.

It had been announced that this reduction would be made when the number of customers reached 70,000, and the further announcement was made today by A. C. Einstein, general manager of the Union Electric, that another reduction of a half a cent will be made when the number of customers reaches 75,000.

The first step in the rate schedule is now reduced from 9 cents to 8½ cents, the second from 6½ to 6 and the third from 3½ to 3 cents. The first step applies to the first four kilowatt hours used for each room in a month; the second step applies to the next three kilowatt hours in the third to all excess over seven kilowatt hours.

For the purpose of calculating these rates three bedrooms are exempted from the room count. The minimum charge to residence customers remains at 50 cents a month, but no deposit is required.

GARDNER OPPOSES ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE PLAN FOR DRY STATE

Says He Believes Taking Right From People to Vote on Subject to Be Unconstitutional.

Paragraphs from Fred D. Gardner's speech in Springfield, Mo., are being quoted by his supporters here in his campaign for Governor, as showing his attitude on the enforcement of dramshop laws, and on the demands of the Anti-Saloon League. The league's present purpose is to get statutory Statewide prohibition voted by the next Legislature, with a "peace, health and safety" clause attached to keep it from being submitted to the voters of the State through the referendum.

Gardner, speaking at the Frisco railroad shops, told of the inquiry made of him by Supt. Shup, of the Anti-Saloon League, whether he, if elected Governor, would sign a prohibition bill with this emergency clause attached. Gardner answered this inquiry in his speech, saying he would not in any way obstruct a movement for the submission of a prohibition amendment to the voters, and that he would enforce a law so enacted. But he said he would not commit himself secretly to a program which, in his opinion, would violate the spirit of the initiative and referendum clause of the State constitution.

The "peace, health and safety" clause, he argued, was intended to be used only where a real emergency might exist, and where irreparable damage would be done if a legislative enactment were suspended by the use of the referendum. In the case of a prohibition law, he held, the use of this emergency provision would not be justified.

Gardner said it would be a dangerous thing for a Governor, "even under the direction of so sincere an organization as the Anti-Saloon League, to attempt to deny the people their constitutional rights." He termed the proposal "unfair, unwise and unconstitutional." He added that he believed in the rigid enforcement of existing dramshop laws, and would so enforce them if elected, and that he would not make political use of the excise departments in cities, or of police departments or State institutions.

The city hospital has a tall man patient who is far too long for any of its beds. He is Herman Toelken, 21 years old, an itinerant machinist, who measures 6 feet 8¼ inches. The longest beds at the city hospital measure only 6 feet 4 inches. The problem of taking care of Toelken has been temporarily solved by building up his bed with pillows so that his head can rest on the head rail. The management, however, intends to procure a bed 7½ feet long for him.

The patient came to the city hospital Tuesday, suffering from malaria. He had to stoop to get through the receiving room door. He said his home is at Brooklyn, N. Y., and that his father is 6 feet 6½ inches and his mother 5 feet 11 inches tall.

Man Dies of Exposure.

Harry Rogers was found dead on the west side of Woodlawn Cemetery in Edwardsville, yesterday. It was at first presumed he had been killed by a fall down a 40-foot embankment at the bottom of which his body was discovered, but the inquest conducted by Coroner Sims resulted in a verdict of death from exposure.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE LUTSK IN VOLHYNIA TRIANGLE OF FORTS

Several Brigades of Austrians Reported Taken; Their Line Said to Have Been Broken and Withdrawn Nearly 20 Miles.

Line of Muscovite Offensive in the Southwest Extends From Brody to Vicinity of Czernowitz.

Paris Admits Loss of Fort Vaux and London That Germans Have Driven British Out of Hooge.

LONDON, June 8.—It was announced officially today that restrictive measures affecting "Greek ports were being considered to prevent supplies from reaching the enemy."

LONDON, June 8.—The Austrians have evacuated Lutsk, one of the Volhynian triangle fortresses, according to information received at the Russian embassy in Rome, says the Central News dispatch from that city.

Several brigades of Austrians are reported in the advices to have been captured with the fortress.

It is stated that the Austrian lines have been broken in Volhynia and that they have been withdrawn nearly twenty miles throughout the Lutsk sector.

Yesterday's Petrograd statement, apparently issued before the fall of Lutsk, told of the capture of a total of 40,000 prisoners in the new Russian offensive.

Russian Offensive Extends From Brody to Near Czernowitz.

BERLIN, June 8.—One of the fiercest battles of the war in the East is raging against the Austrian lines, on a front extending approximately 200 miles from the westward of Brody (in east Galicia, close to the Russian frontier) to near Czernowitz in Bukowina. (This is the first intimation as to the general front along which the Russians have attacked, the Russian reports only saying, "between the Pripet and the Rumanian frontier.") The attack is thus entirely within Austrian territory, and at the extreme southern wing of the line.

The greater part of the Russian armies appear to be massed there. The Russian artillery fire is described as being overwhelming.

With their front trenches wiped out by the Russian artillery fire, the Austro-Hungarians Tuesday fell back three miles near Okna, north of Czernowitz, but are reported to have retaken part of the lost ground.

PARIS CONCEDES LOSS OF FORT VAUX TO THE GERMANS

Official Announcement Says the Stronghold Had Been Reduced to Heap of Ruins.

PARIS, June 8.—Heavy fighting continues in the vicinity of Fort Vaux, northeast of Verdun. The War Office report today says French troops still occupy the outskirts of the fort as well as trenches to the right and left of the works.

The loss of the fort itself, of which an intimation was given in last night's report, is conceded. The announcement says the fort was abandoned by the garrison after it had been reduced to a heap of ruins by an incessant bombardment of seven days. German attacks on the adjacent positions thus far have been unsuccessful.

Fort Vaux Stormed June 2 and Captured Tuesday.

BERLIN, June 8, via London.—Fort Vaux, one of the Verdun defenses, has been captured by the German troops, according to the official statement issued from headquarters today. What remained of the French garrison finally surrendered and an attempt to relieve the fort Tuesday resulted in the capture by the Germans of 700 unwounded prisoners.

The statement said the fort was stormed June 2 and occupied Tuesday, when French troops still in some underground positions were dislodged. The statement also tells of the capture of the village of Hooge, so long held by the British in the Ypres district, and of trenches to the westward and southward. The Germans now hold all the territory east and southeast of Ypres for a distance of two miles, the statement says.

Loss of Village of Hooge Is Admitted by London.

LONDON, June 8.—British trenches running through Hooge have been captured by the Germans, according to the British official statement issued at midnight, which reads:

"Last night and today there were heavy artillery bombardments on both sides of the Ypres. In the fighting yesterday the enemy succeeded in capturing our front line trenches running through the ruins of the village of Hooge."

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS OF BATTLE CRUISER LUTZOW, 26,000 TONS, IN FIGHT

Tells Also for First Time of Sinking of Cruiser Rostock—Total Vessels Conceded Have Been Destroyed Is Eleven.

BERLIN, via London, June 8.—An official statement issued today gives the total loss of the German high sea forces in the battle off Jutland and up to the present time as one battle cruiser, one ship of the line of older construction, and four small cruisers.

The statement says:

"Of these losses the battleship Pommern was launched in 1905. The loss of the cruisers Wiesbaden, Elbing, Frauenlob and five torpedo boats has already been reported in official statements. For military reasons we refrained until now from making public the loss of the battle cruiser Lutzow and the cruiser Rostock."

The destruction of the Lutzow was claimed in the first statement issued by the British Admiralty. At the same time the British claimed that two German battleships had been sent to the bottom and six destroyers as well as the ramming of a submarine. The British, however, only claimed to have sunk one German light cruiser.

This is the first mention of the loss of the cruiser Rostock, which was a small warship of 4900 tons and was built in 1912. She carried 373 men and was armed with 12 four-inch guns and two torpedo tubes. The Lutzow was a 26,000-ton dreadnought battle cruiser. Her destruction had previously been claimed by British naval officers.

BATTLESHIPS OF BRITAIN ROUTED BERLIN ASSERTS

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.

(Copyright, 1916, by Press Pub. Co.)

BERLIN, via Sayville, June 8.—That the German submarines and Zeppelins played no role in the great naval battle, and that German artillery, superior markmanship, the dash and daring of the destroyer flotillas and the excellence of German torpedoes, coupled with German naval strategy and tactical evolutions, were responsible for the fleet's success off the Skager Rak, was the statement made to me today in the Admiralty.

The assertions made by the English that the submarines, together with the reconnoissance work of the Zeppelins engaged in scouting May 31, are denied It is said that Zeppelins would have been able to do little because of the mistiness of the weather and the inability to see far. German officials declare the Zeppelins didn't reach the scene until the next morning, and that they then did valuable service.

Submarines, it was stated, cut no figure whatever in the battle and could not have done so, because the speed of the ships during the fight was too fast for submarines.

Question About Battleships.

Notwithstanding British assertions to the contrary, it was emphatically stated that the British battleship fleet was engaged in the action for a time, but turned to ward off the attack of German torpedo flotillas, and did not return to engage the German fleet, which, by reason of their superior speed the British dreadnoughts easily could have done had they so desired.

To support the story that the heavier class of fighters were engaged in the battle the fact is pointed out that the Marlborough was badly damaged, that a German submarine saw a ship of the Iron Duke class with a heavy list, 90 miles east of the Tyne, and that a vessel of the Warsprite class was sunk.

The Admiralty contradicts the British Admiralty's story that the British dreadnoughts remained on the scene of the engagement and points out that it was German ships which picked up the English survivors, and that a flotilla sent forward at the close of the day's fighting failed to find the big British ships. Furthermore, that the English, in their own reports, state that Jellico arrived at Scapa Flow (the British fleet's principal base harbor in the Orkneys), 150 miles from the scene of the battle, on June 1, and that this indicated that Jellico, at the close of the daylight fighting, steamed away to Scapa Flow at high speed, and did not remain.

The sinking of the Hampshire, with Lord Kitchener and his staff on board, has made tremendous impression in Germany.

The news was received too late in the day for comment. The morning papers had only two or three brief official announcements of the British Admiralty, but they devoted columns to a review of Kitchener's career and what Kitchener meant to England.

The substance of all this comment is that Kitchener embodied the traditionally tenacious bulldog qualities of the English, iron determination and great energy. He is pictured as England's most capable military leader and Germany's most inveterate foe among English military people. The blow to the English by his loss is compared with what Germany would feel if Falkenhayn and his staff or Hindenburg were killed. He is declared to have been England's one real hope in military matters.

Believe It Was a Mine.

The German Navy Department is not claiming credit for the destruction of the Hampshire and the loss of England's chief military expert and General. No reports from submarines in the area where the cruiser sank have been received. Therefore. nothing definite could be said. The impression, however, continues in navy circles that it was not the work of a submarine, but of a mine. The fact that it was a very rough sea is said to argue against the U-boat theory.

Notwithstanding this the Kreuz Zeitung, chief organ of the Conservative party, and some other newspapers, take it for granted that the Hampshire was sunk by a German submarine and speak of it as another evidence of the power of the German navy, which the English affect to despise.

The Kreuz Zeitung declares that Germany does not desire to deny the dead foe the respect due him, neither does it want to conceal its satisfaction that "one of the most dangerous and irreconcilable agitators for the world war has met death through the German navy."

It calls Kitchener a great figure, but at the same time pictures him as a man for whom human lives meant nothing, adding: "This man's whole career led over corpses. His life's path was drenched in blood. Thousands and thousands of mothers have cursed him."

The Tageblatt characterizes him as "England's only man who was an authority on all matters pertaining to war on land. He was our bitterest, hardest, most terrible foe, the discoverer of the civilian concentration system in war and a believer in the most unscrupulous use and application of the most frightful means in war. But the death of a soldier has overtaken him and we will not let salvos of hatred sound above his grave beneath the waves."

The Lokal Anzeiger says Kitchener was England's greatest military organizer, but unbeloved at home, and although perhaps few tears will be shed for him, it will be none the less hard to replace him in the army.

In army and navy circles it is believed that Kitchener probably had a large and important staff with him. Very likely it included some of the best brains of the British army, it is said. The opinion prevails that Kitchener's loss will be a discouraging blow to the British public, following so soon after the German success in the naval battle.

Eight Hours for Labor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A professor for nearly 40 years in one of the leading universities of the United States, and who was also a member of the Royal Society of Great Britian, used to deliver annually a free lecture to all the students of his institution on the methods of study. He told them to follow the example of Alfred the Great, and divide every 24 hours into eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep and eight hours for meals and recreation. He said for all his life he never worked for more than eight hours a day, and that any man who worked for that period daily with intensified energy could accomplish more and live longer, and more happily, than one who worked daily 12 or more hours. This man rose to the top of his profession, and remained there the rest of his long life.

If this advise applies to professional men it certainly should also apply to train and enginemen. There is no calling in life that produces any greater nervous strain than the physical operation of trains. Thousands of lives have been lost and millions of dollars worth of property destroyed, by the wreck of railroad trains brought about by the physical exhaustion of train and enginemen. The writer holds that the greatest asset to "safety first" on railroads, is that the men be free from physical exhaustion while operating the trains, and this can be made possible only by an eight-hour work-day.

The board of directors, presidents and general managers of railroads charge the attempt of the railroad men, in the transportation service to establish eight hours as the proper limit of daily labor, to be merely one to gain more wages. This is untrue. The real object of the men is to establish a limitation of the hours of labor, in order that they may enjoy the society of their family and obtain a chance to train their children, and by a rational period of labor increase the education of themselves and children, lengthen their own lives and thereby lengthen their usefulness and happiness.

Woman Suffrage at the Coming Election.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Of the male sex, and a strong friend of woman's suffrage, I cannot believe that the woman's party in this particular election will help their cause or gain them many new supporters. Taking the position that their four million votes will be swung to any party that will support their constitutional amendment, regardless of what the particular party stands for, and taking the position that equal suffrage is more important to the women of this country than any other issue, they are more to be condemned than those Americans who place the rights of foreign nations first and the rights of this country in second place.

Suffrage is not a more vital issue than the deaths of American boys on the battlefields of Europe or Mexico. It is not a more important issue than preparedness or Americanism.

The very life of this country may be at stake in this coming election—and the women of the country would have us believe that their right to vote overshadows everything else.

The Attack on Gardner.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why has Col. F. D. Gardner been selected by the Anti-Saloon League as their target? Why has not the same question of waiving the referendum been put up to all the other candidates? If so, what was the answer? Was it confidential?

If the other candidates granted the Anti-Saloon League's request, why not let the public into the secret? If they did not promise, why is there no fight made on them by the Anti-Saloon League?

The citizens of this State have adopted the referendum. The Anti-Saloon League says, "Promise to sign a bill to waive the referendum or we will vote against you for Governor." If Gardner agreed to this, even "confidentially," could he not be indicted and sent to prison? A man that would make all the promises requested of him by politicians, societies and associations of all kinds could not be elected and is not fitted for any office, much less Governor. So we are forced to the conclusion:

First, that all candidates for Governor not fought by the Anti-Saloon League have promised (confidentially) to do their bidding; or Second, that the fight is being centered on Gardner as the strongest candidate on the Democratic ticket, so as to insure the election of a Republican for Governor.

S. H. WALKER.

BLOCKING THE PEOPLE.

The Rev. W. C. Shupp, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, in a letter to the Post-Dispatch, admits that the league is asking pledges of candidates for the governorship and the State Legislature to approve a State-wide prohibition bill, with the health, peace and safety clause, to prevent submission of the bill to the people.

He justifies the nullification of the referendum on the ground that the initiative and referendum are failures. He says the people do not vote discriminately on measures submitted to them and therefore they should be deprived of the power to vote on prohibition.

Mr. Shupp and his associates assume the privilege of speaking for the people. They presume to decide when constitutional measures are failures, to be set aside, and to determine what is best for the people without consulting them or asking their consent. The people ought to have the Anti-Saloon League's measures, including prohibition, and therefore the people must be cut out of their constitutional right to pass upon them.

Because the people have refused to approve prohibition and other kindred measures submitted to them under the initiative and referendum, the Anti-Saloon League will have these measures adopted by the Legislature without the approval of the voters. The voters are to be barred from passing on them.

Mr. Shupp says the campaign will be open and not secret. Naturally, secrecy as to the campaign is impossible now, in the light of the publicity it has received. But will the pledges of candidates be open? This is the main point. The secrecy lay in the promise that the pledge to nullify the referendum would be regarded as strictly confidential. Will Mr. Shupp tell the people the names of candidates whose pledges he has received and thus make the real fight, the fight over the nullification of the referendum, an open fight?

Who are the candidates pledged to the Shupp anti-constitutional program; pledged to nullify the referendum and prevent the people from voting on State-wide prohibition?

One candidate for Governor—F. D. Gardner—has declined to make the pledge and denounces the plan.

The voters are forewarned. If they are deceived it will be their own fault.

1917 ADVERTISERS' CONVENTION.

In order to get the 1917 convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to meet at St. Louis next year, it will be necessary for a strong delegation of St. Louis business and advertising men to go to Philadelphia for this year's convention, from June 25 to 30, and convince the Advertising Clubs that St. Louis is the place for the 1917 convention.

The Advertising Club of St. Louis is urging upon the business and advertising men to do this. The club points out that getting the convention for St. Louis will mean bringing to this city, for a week, between 8000 and 10,000 business men. And, it may be added, that these business men are each and all "live wires." They are men who see things and do things, men with the power of appreciation and of expression. They will discover St. Louis. They will not be deceived or cajoled. If we get them to come here, we shall have to show them a wide-awake, flourishing city. By the time the 1917 convention meets, several steps in the city's progress that have been delayed can and must be taken. We shall be under the limelight, and our advantages and disadvantages will be published abroad.

We must get the convention, and then we must see to it that we are ready for its argus-eyed publicity agents.

THE UNFULFILLED COVENANTS.

Raymond Robins in his address as temporary chairman of the Colonel's convention at Chicago declared that some of the articles in the Bull Moose "covenant," as he calls the platform of 1912, have been translated imperfectly into terms of legislation and political action and some are in process of translation. He said:

> Others await a wider understanding of their true import and value in a time when present pressure of newer demands and needs for governmental action shall have been relieved.

"JUST BETWEEN US GIRLS".

Justice Hughes' "just-between-us-girls" speech, as William Allen White calls it, was a very pretty commencement day sentiment uttered to a young ladies' seminary. Furthermore, it was good, sound, patriotic, and nicely judicial withal. Neatly typed copies were prepared for the reporters—were they done up in blue ribbons?—and a highly decorous impression was left upon its readers of a gentleman in cap and gown and whiskers in confidential communication with a bevy of charming young ladies, similarly attired, with the exception of the whiskers.

No matter what the fate of the Justice at Chicago, and no matter what betides later on, the speech is doomed to be known as the just-between-us-girls speech, forevermore. Of course, a just-between-us-girls speech is always intended for the freest possible circulation. The telegraph and telephone are said to be limited mediums compared to the tell-a-woman medium. But the aspect and atmosphere of a feminine confidence it will always retain, by grace of that American humor which does not hesitate even to joke at Justices.

THE REPUBLICAN KEYNOTE.

Senator Harding's keynote proved to be a penny-whistle. His speech piped of far-past achievements and future expectations, but contained not one constructive idea nor strong conviction.

Yet, although it eliminated Senator Harding as a leader, it was a real keynote of the Republican convention. Its lack of ideas and convictions was significant of the temper and attitude of the Republican party.

The party leaders are not trying to express the convictions of a great body of voters, nor to find a candidate who embodies them, but to make a platform which will not offend the convictions of any of its factions and to find a man who has no convictions that may offend.

Instead of meeting, expressing its convictions and nominating a man who represents them, the Republicans are timidly trying to compromise with a third party—a party of bolters. It is unwilling to take the leader of the bolters, who has convictions and who fearlessly advocates them, but wants to steal his clothes and his followers.

The leading candidate of the convention is a man who belongs to a past period in politics, whose principal qualification is that he has not expressed an idea or a conviction on the political issues of the day. The party is willing to take Justice Hughes from the bench, where he has been wholly out of politics, on his character and his past record, in this day of vital new issues and an immediate future pregnant with possibilities.

No wonder Col. Roosevelt has the Republicans bluffed. The Progressive party is the strong party in Chicago. It represents the real opposition. Its leader is the only remnant of the powerful Republicans who led the party to victory and dominated the country. He alone has the courage of his convictions and the audacity of his ambitions.

The Republican convention must do something besides hesitate, dicker and compromise with its bolters if it is to prove that all its greatness has not departed and it is worthy of the support of millions of Americans.

"SAVING DAYLIGHT."

In consequence of pushing up the clock an hour in Holland, nothing has happened perceptibly except an added freshness to the morning and added length to the opportunities of the day, whether for work or pastime. The "saving of time" is imperceptible, but therein consists the vast value to the nation. Mr. Edison could compute it in dollars and cents.

Some of us, many of us, want a longer work-day in this country. Advancing the clock an hour at midnight will not lengthen the day's work for those who work limited hours and decline to work longer. On the other hand, many of us would be grateful for a schedule that allowed of more recreation, in broad daylight, in the outdoors season. Going to bed an hour earlier will equalize the change to any objector, and do it imperceptibly.

"Daylight saving" is as rational a measure as the human race has instituted in its own behalf within our memory, and it seems destined to universal adoption. It is strange that America, at once the principal industrial nation and most pleasure loving, should be so behind time in embracing it.

SUFFRAGE AND THE CONVENTIONS.

Thousands of women marched at Chicago to visualize to the Republican national convention in a new parable of the importunate widow and the unjust judge the insistency of the feminine demand for political rights.

At St. Louis delegates will pass to their meeting place through a golden lane of petitioners asking that the women of all the states shall be given the same privileges as the nine women delegates and 14 women alternates who will have seats in the Democratic national convention.

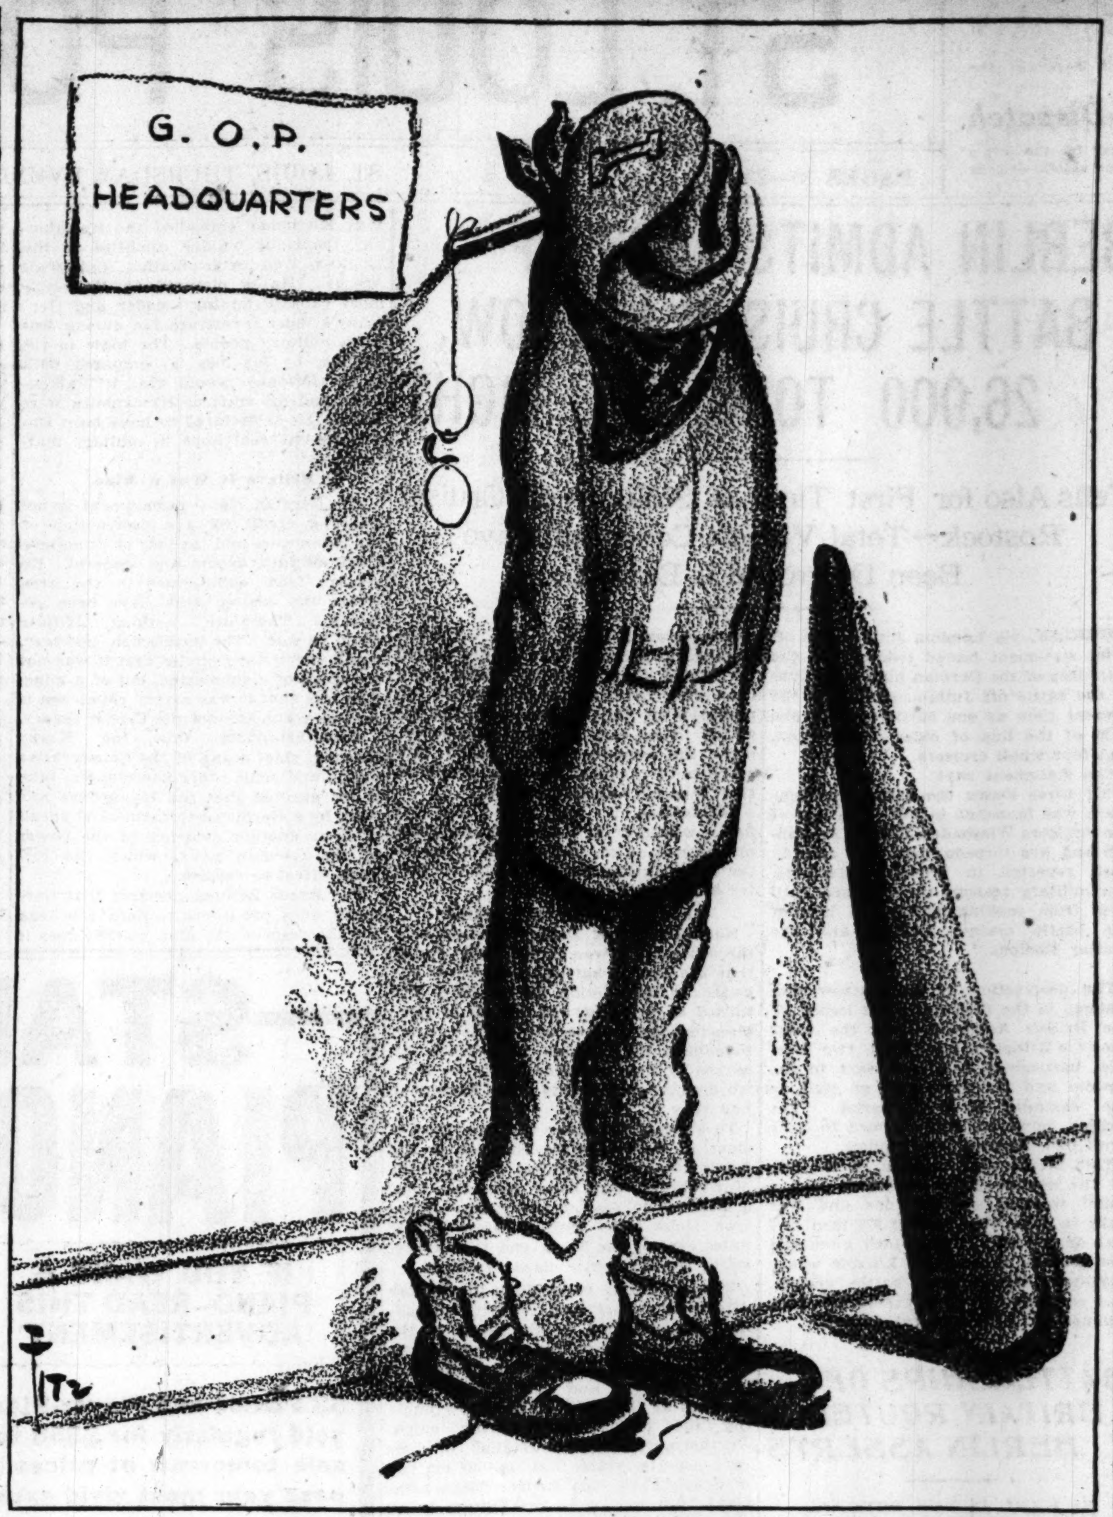
These are helpful forms of promotion for advancing the new political movement. But more effective and impressive than even moving demonstrations of this class is the vote on suffrage cast by Iowa on the eve of the conventions.

In a state which has an overwhelming preponderance of neither urban nor rural residents, which is as closely divided between conservative and sanely progressive sentiment—which, in short, is as truly representative of the intelligence and judgment and prosperity and general conditions of the entire country as Iowa—suffrage was defeated by a majority of only 5000 or 6000 in a total vote of 284,219. It emphasizes this movement to confer on women greater responsibility for public affairs in a new relation and significance.

It is more meaningful than the defeat of the same proposal in Michigan by less than 100 majority. That vote was taken in an election that gave 60,000 for the Bull Moose ticket and platform specifically committed to suffrage.

It signifies that the women organized for enfranchisement are gaining a strength too great to be ignored much longer by even the most stubborn and opinionated of party leaders. With this strength convincingly attested, the next stage will be a competition between parties to be the first to accord pledges to the mass of feminine voters destined to have the suffrage within the next few years.

This year's conventions may be unresponsive, but Iowa's vote is more than an expression—it is a prediction of the rapidity with which events will move by 1920.



WANTED, AN IMPERSONATOR.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
by Clark McAdams

MR. ANTWINE ON THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

"IT looks to me as if the Republican conventions at Chicago were going to a great deal of trouble for nothing," Mr. Antwine said. "The people have heard and seen enough of their squabbles to conclude that the harmonious Democratic party is a much safer reliance in these troublous times, and I imagine that when the votes are counted next November it will be found that Mr. Wilson is still on top.

"I wonder if it has occurred to any of us that if either wing of the Republican party got hold of the Government at this time it would be so intent upon showing the other wing what it could do in the way of going the Democrats one better that militarism would be pushed far beyond anyone's present expectation of what this country should do in that matter? I have been thinking about it, and I have wondered if what Congress is doing now isn't enough to satisfy either of those Republican wings, where we might reasonably expect to fetch up if either of them were placed in power. I judge by the news that neither considers the other to have the proper idea, though they are agreed that the Democrats are not going far enough. The inference is that either of them would double or treble the plans of Congress at this time, and that given Republican rule we might expect within a few years to occupy about the same position in our own hemisphere that the Germans occupy in Europe when the war began. That is, in my opinion, a very dangerous tendency. If the limit is to be the sky, and we are to place in power the party which stands for a greater degree of preparedness than any other party, it certainly cannot be long until we find ourselves feared and detested in exactly the way Germany was before this war began. In short, preparedness may be both a good and a necessary thing and still be a dangerous political issue. I can't help feeling that the people would dislike to see it become a political issue. Enough is enough."

LYRIC.

OFTEN in the eventide
When the throng has ceased to cheer,
I take a faded token
I've kept for many a year;
A little slip of paper,
Per chance a missive old,
A gift of love I prize above
All that the world can hold.

A lighter vein of pleasure,
A sadness brimmed with joy,
An earthly glimpse of paradise
That time cannot destroy;
I shyly press it to my breast—
No vulgar eyes are near—
And span the gulf of twenty years

THE WAR GETS AROUND WHERE THE HITTITES USED TO HIT THE ENDS.

From the Monroe County (Mo.) Appeal.

Two more Biblical points loomed up on the war map last week. One was Tarsus, birthplace of Paul the Apostle. The other was Nineveh, once the world's greatest city and scene of Jonah's call to reform, now know as Mosul. It is the meeting place of many caravan routes, a dominating point on the road to Bagdad and one of the keys to Mesopotamia, where Adam and Eve first saw the light. But it was the Russians, not the English, who were putting those points on the map. They were whipping the Turks at every turn.

The pleasantry of running for one of the presidential nominations without any hope of getting it adds a good deal of gayety to the occasion without damaging any of the real contestant's chances. This being so, we can't see why anyone shouldn't get in and run along quietly until the field enters the stretch. Senator Cummins of Iowa preserves his health with this exercise every four years, and Senator La Follette of Wisconsin has only desisted since he found out that pretty nearly everybody is running. We cannot commend this as the true democratic spirit. If the Senator still cuts his hair the way he did he is always sure of being identified, no matter how big the crowd, and even if he were not it could not constitute a truly democratic reason for not getting into the race.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

BEAUTY CULTURE.

D. B.—A piece of silk rubber worn constantly over the bust will in time, say a year, reduce it. Eat sparingly. Avoid fattening foods.——Skin regularly washed in milk is declared to be proof against sunburn. Red veil is said to prevent.

BILLIE.—Auburn color is given by using henna tea. It is impossible to state what the exact shade would be, for it depends upon the original color of the hair. When brown stain is wanted, one ounce and a half of indigo is added to half an ounce of the leaves powdered, and enough boiling water to make a paste. The hair is washed and dried, and the paste is then applied evenly. The length of time it stays on affects the color, the latter being darker the longer the paste stays on. It is finally washed off in clear water and again dried in the sun.

> I had some hard experience before I learned that the persistent use of collodion would pucker and dry up those minute blood veins and the mark would gradually fade away and leave no scar. It is perfectly harmless, but not very pleasant. It is composed of guncotton and ether and evaporates very rapidly. Keep a small bottle of ether and when it becomes too thick to spread nicely with the end of the finger thin it with the ether; it is more effective if used about as thick as cream. When one coating peels off put on more and keep it on night and day. The mark we removed was the deep red, raised like a very large blister, and grew very rapidly. I would advise anyone using it on a large surface to begin at the edge and cover only a few inches to begin with. I believe that with perseverence any red mark may be removed, but it takes a long time in bad cases. After the first two or three months I could see the mark begin to fade and get thin. I used it for more than a year. Do not use it where the skin is broken or near a fire. After the first few seconds there is no odor or sensation.

DATES.

MEIER.—Rabbi Spitz says that Pentecost date for 1880 was May 16.

W. O. F.—Gen. Leonard Wood was made Major-General of the regular army Au. 8, 1903.

S. H.—There were balloon ascensions from St. Louis in August and October, 1912. In May, 1913 Berry and Von Hoffman, St. Louis aeronauts, ballooned from San Antonio, Tex., to Roseville, Ill., trying to lift the Lahm cup. A storm forced the landing. The balloon raced with a railroad train, both making about equal speed. The balloon made an altitude of more than 24,000 feet.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

MIKE.—Dust sticky leather chair seats with talcum powder and rub well into the pores of the leather. Then wipe off all powder-so that it will not soil clothing.

M. G.—To renew old rug and give a finish like linoleum, first cleanse thoroughly, then cover surface with a thick starch, well boiled and cooled. Use whitewash brush and have surface perfectly smooth. When quite dry, put on coat of varnish and another coat a few days later.

J. H. S.—To keep colors from fading: For blue use a handful of salt; for green, a lump of alum; oxgall will keep gray and brown from fading; when washing tan, brown or linen color, use hay water, which is made by pouring water (boiling) over hay. A little vinegar in rinse water is said to keep color in stockings.

DOROTHY.—Mold on fruit jars does no harm. Remove it, however. If there is fermentation it is because the sealing has not been airtight. The fruit may be made fit for use by scalding in warm oven, or jar may be placed in hot water, which must then boil until preserves are scalded. Mrs. Atchinson says: When canning fruit, after putting hot fruit in jar, run knife to bottom of jar three times. This will prevent spoiling.

S. O. S.—Olive oil toilet soap: Put into a porcelain-lined kettle one quart olive oil and bring to the boiling point. Have ready three pints strained potash water made by dissolving four tablespoons refined potash in three pints boiling water. Strain, add slowly to the boiling oil, stirring constantly with long-handled wooden spoon, until thick like jelly; then cool on plate. When nearly hard and cold, perfume to your liking with lavender, violet or rose, pour into molds or dripping pan to harden. The longer it is allowed to harden and season the longer will be its lasting qualities.

LAW POINTS.

MRS. AMELIA.—A divorce court might free you from your drunken husband. We do not say that it would.

T. R.—Give landlord month's written notice. Unless you have in writing his promise to repair, it counts for nothing.

UNLUCKY.—Desertion one year is ground for divorce. If furniture was yours, you may replevin it. Alimony depends upon the facts in the case.

MISCELLANEOUS.

INQUIRER.—Phone U. R.

Y. Z.—Phone Police Chief.

C. S. K.—No national holiday.

MRS. L. M. S.—Phone court clerk.

THUESEN.—Dealer here says the revenue stamp you found among old deeds is of no value.

E. M. M.—The enrolled Missouri militia is not provided for by act of May 11, 1912, or any law.

JANE.—Just write a note to each of your girl friends asking her to join in an afternoon tea. You may serve tea hot or cold, ice cream, cakes, fruit; anything you please.

LETTIE.—The 4 girls lifted the 200-lb. man because they had strength, not because they breathed in concert with the man. Why, a single St. Louis girl, or two St. Louis girls, could have lifted that fellow.

EMMA.—There is no way of telling if a hen is losing its feathers, because of sickness, without seeing the hen. If the comb is good red, the hen must be healthy, and the cause other other than health. Blood spots in eggs will not hurt you. It is an indication that the hen that lays them has some defect, temporary or permanent, in the egg organs.

P. W.—Socialist vote in warring countries: Germany, 4,500,000 voters; 112 members in Reichstag. France, 1,500,000 voters; 84 members in Chamber of Deputies. England, 47 Socialist members in House of Commons; Italy, 70 members in Parliament; Russia, 14 Social Democrats in Duma, with the working class population strongly supporting the Socialists; Austria-Hungary, 2,000,000 voters; 89 members in Parliament. (In 1912 Debs received 901,873 votes for President of the United States.)

WAITING AND RAY.—Bardsley's English Surnames says: "Timidity or reserve, or perchance fleetness of foot, would find itself exalted in Geoffrey le Hare, Reginald le Raye, Walter le Buk, Hobart le Hart, Dorothi le Skagge, Henry Regael, Wm. le Du, or Alicia le Ro, the ancestors of our Hares, Rays, or Wrays, Bucks Harts, Stags, Does, or Roes, of legal notoriety, and Prickets." There is a Scottish Rae. Menzies (pronounced Menies) is from the Norman family of Menieres, Sieurs de la Gaudiniere. When surnames were introduced into Scotland and Menzies was among the first. We do not find the origin of Swope.

LINDEMANN.—The first automobile in St. Louis was William A. Stickney's. He says: From memory and the best data I have at hand it was in 1897. The machine was of German make, imported by a friend of mine. Mr. Oscar Reinach. He brought it to Indianapolis and from there sent it to me on trial in charge of a mechanic (chauffeurs unknown then). The "little thing" was as obstinate as a mule, occasionally starting off like a skyrocket, but most of the time declining to budge without considerable humoring and assistance. When stopping it gave out a noise resembling a clock running down and while in motion it wheezed like a wind-broken horse. The finish of this auto was unlike any I have ever heard of; the order of things was reversed. It was run over by a dray team on Eighth and Olive streets and completely put out of commission. The mechanic took the wreck back to Indianapolis and, never hearing from it again, I presume it was buried in a scrap pile there, a disgrace to the auto family, being the only member known to get knocked out by a horse.

Too Old For Dreams

The Romance of an Old Bachelor and An Old Maid

By H. M. Egbert.

I.

"AW, come off, Bill! I'm too old for them dreams!" said Dick Sittingwell to his fellow drummer in the train.

"No, but honest! I mean it! Why, Dick, you must be making your cool four thousand, and if your firm went bust you could get as good a job anywhere. And 45 if you're a day. Ain't you never had a girl, Dick?"

Dick Sittingwell moved in his seat uneasily. "Cut it out, I tell you," he answered ferociously. "Hello! Bourne End! Here's where I get off. So long, old man! See you next week as usual."

Dick Sittingwell had had plently of girls when he was a young man, but somehow all his romances had come to an untimely end. And it was only within the last two years that a new romance, sweeter than any, and more strange, had come into his life.

He never spoke about Miss Elsie van Nugent. It had never entered his mind that he could speak to her without profaning her.

Their acquaintance had begun by an accident. Dick, toiling up the hill at Bourne End on a hot summer day, with his sample case in his hand, had seen the old maid standing at the gate of her garden. He looked up at the big house in the village and, taking her for the housekeeper, said:

"Might I ask you for a glass of water, ma'am?"

"I'll get you one," stammered Miss van Nugent, and ran away, or rather hurried away, returning with a glass. Dick quaffed it at a draft.

Afterward, upon succeeding journeys, it often happened that he saw Miss Elsie at the gate. Then he would nod pleasantly and pass a remark. By degrees their intimacy increased. Dick Sittingwell would often stay as long as five minutes, talking and looking wistfully at the big house in the cool grounds. He learned Miss Elsie's name at the hotel. She owned the place, and was the daughter of the late squire. She was an old maid—and they said, maliciously, that she was 40.

II.

Elsie Van Nugent had never married because she had taken care of her father until his death, when she was 37. No opportunities came after that.

Her life had been utterly cramped. Her bookish learning had never been modified by contact with the world, for her father had always been a recluse, and, in his last days, a fretful invalid. When she met the drummer she thought him a typical man of the world.

The acquaintance was a wonderful thing to her. She felt guilty in stealing down to the garden gate when Dick was coming that way—Thursdays he always appeared in Bourne End. She invented little excuses at first to account for her presence there. Wistfully she thought how she would like to ask him in. But she never dared.

It was odd that the breezy drummer should exercise so strange a fascination over the old maid, but it was equally strange that he should find in her his ideal of womanhood. Two or three years passed, and their intimacy stayed exactly where it was. Neither dared to increase it, or to venture to speak of the thoughts in the heart. Dick was becoming balder and stouter, and Elsie more withered and lean.

Then came the day when Dick was amazed to see the house closed and a big "For Sale" sign in front of it. The town was buzzing with the news. Miss Elsie's lawyer, who had had charge of her property, had absconded, taking with him her whole available fortune, $10,000.

Miss Elsie had remained secluded in the house since the Monday before. Dick hesitated only a moment, then he went into the garden and knocked at the door.

III.

"It's too bad, ma'am," said Dick. "Just heard the news and called to say how sorry I was. I hope, ma'am, you aren't planning to sell the place because of that?"

"I certainly am. It's all that I have left now."

"Might I ask your price, ma'am?" inquired Dick.

"Eight thousand dollars," answered Miss Elsie listlessly.

Dick thought hurriedly. He knew that would mean about $3000 cash and a mortgage. Dick was worth about $3000.

"You!" gasped Miss Elsie.

"Yes, ma'am. You see, I've had my eye on the place for a long time, in the hope you might some day sell."

"I suppose you can have it, then," he heard her answer vaguely.

"Everything in it as it stands, lock, stock and barrel?" asked Dick.

"Why, I guess the furniture's not worth much," said Miss Elsie. "You'll have to see my brother, Mr. Van Nugent, at Staples. He has charge of the matter."

"But if he is willing, you are?" persisted Dick.

"Yes," she replied.

Dick withdrew. He clenched his fists as he thought of the lawyer. He had known Sharples well; the man was a convivial person at the hotel. "If ever I run across him, I'll break his head," he swore.

IV.

And Dick ran across him the following week in the most amazing way. He was sent out to a Western city to cover a territory left vacant by the illness of a fellow drummer. The business done, Dick retired to his room in the hotel.

A door opened softly, and Dick saw the head and shoulders of Sharples. In a minute he had leaped across the passage and entered, before the lawyer could draw the bolt.

"You know," said Dick. "You'll give me ten thousand for Miss Van Nugent."

"It never was ten thousand."

"It's going to be."

"D'you suppose I've got it about me, you fool?"

Dick went to the telephone and touched the receiver. The lawyer grabbed him by the arm. "I'll give you two," he blustered.

Dick turned and faced him. "I said ten, and meant it," he returned. "And see here! I promised myself the pleasure of breaking your head. However, I guess I can't have everything. Will you hand over that ten thousand, for the last time?"

V.

"So, you see, I guess I can't buy the place after all," Dick explained to Miss Elsie as he handed her the money.

She was crying softly. "I don't know what to say or how to thank you," she sobbed. "It's wonderful It's wonderful!"

And in her happiness, more at the proof of his interest than at the return of the money, the years seemed to fall from Miss Elsie, and there was almost a girlish flush upon her face.

Dick breathed heavily. "I guess I'm sorry we can't carry out our arrangement," he mumbled. "It wasn't the place I wanted, but the contents, as we agreed."

"The furniture? Do you really want that?"

"No," stammered Dick. "I wanted you."

The Firefly's Lantern

Sandman story of how an ugly, but good insect was changed into something better by a water nymph.

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

ONCE upon a time there was in a far-off land a beautiful lake.

In a crystal rock at one end of the lake lived a water nymph and her little boy of 4. And at the other end was a band of naughty gnomes.

In the flowers about the nymph's cave was a family of flies. The mother fly was brown and thin and looked very much ashamed of the ill looks of her family, but they were kind insects. The flies could see as well in the night as in the day.

One morning it looked very much like rain, so when the little water nymph was about to set out on her day's journey she told the boy to stay at home.

THE boy soon grew lonely after his mother left, and when one of the little gnomes came paddling up through the mist and called him, he forgot his mother's words and ran out of the cave.

"I tell you what we will do," cried the gnome, capering about in glee. "I will show you the way down to the Gray Marsh and we will gather a bag of mushrooms for supper."

So away in the rain they sped over the meadows, across fields, past the streams and right down into the deep, dark, ugly old gray marsh. For hours the bad little gnome waded about, followed by the elf, but the boy began to grow tired.

"Oh! you are a big baby," laughed the gnome. "I only brought you out here to scare you, anyway, so good-by." And away he ran, leaving the poor nymph baby alone in the midst of the great marsh. It was getting dark.

Now it happened that the mother fly was just skimming over the marsh on her way home, and she saw the poor nymph baby. "I will lead you back," she cried, as she flew down in front of him. "Just follow me and we will soon be home."

"But it is dark. I can't see how to walk," the boy wailed. The good fly did not know what to do. Then she saw not far off a flash of light and understood that it was the glow from some rotten wood. So she bit off a bit of the wood, held it down in her feet and flew along before the boy, who was thus able to find his way.

AT last they came in sight of the cave. They could hear the mother weeping inside and the boy raced in to throw himself in her arms. More slowly came the fly, for she was weary with carrying the bit of shining wood so far. "What reward can I give you for saving my naughty boy?" cried the nymph.

The humble little fly thought a moment. "I think," she said at last, "that I would like to always carry a lantern—it might help things that get lost."

So the nymph touched the fly with her want and right at the end of the fly's slender body was hung a shining light. Very proud was the fly as she looked at herself in a pool of water.

"Now down the ages you shall be known as the 'firefly,'" said the nymph sweetly. "In the soft summer evenings you and your children shall flit among the flowers, glowing as with sparks of light, little fairies of the blossoms shining like tiny stars."

"Showing Off" Baby

IT is quite natural for a mother to take pride in her baby and to find pleasure in exhibiting her offspring to visitors, but it is a mistake to take up the baby every time someone calls and to permit the caller to handle the child. Some mothers seem to have an idea a baby is too young to mind such things, and when the child later on becomes fretful or shows symptoms of nervousness the cause is never attributed to the frequent attention of visitors.

They do not realize that a young baby receives a nervous shock when suddenly picked up while asleep and carried into another room to be handled by several people. Baby probably will be quite as cross as any grown person becomes when disturbed in slumber. Too much handling of a young baby is quite liable to be the cause of the colic that comes on a few hours later.

It is quite bad enough to take up a baby when awake—infants thrive best when not handled, and they should be taken up only for feeding, bathing, etc.—but when a sleeping child is carried into another room and deliberately awakened by the visitors it is positively cruel. If the mother must show off her baby, she should take the visitors to the infant and permit them to gaze upon the child, but in no wise disturb it.

One proud mother once raised her baby's eyelids while sleeping to show some friends the beautiful eyes of the child and one of the visitors was greatly amused when the startled child began to cry lustily. The mother seemed astonished that so young a baby should notice such an act.

Another detriment to the child comes when it is able to do cute things or make bright remarks. When a visitor appears, the little tot must display its achievements and this is repeated with each caller.

Do not do this with your child. It is a mental strain for the baby and if the visitors are many it may lead to serious brain trouble.

A very young child should never be encouraged to show off its abilities indiscriminately. Keep your baby quiet; then, if your visitors cannot "rave" over your precocious child, you at least have the satisfaction of a healthy infant who will be a constant joy to you.

Dustless Mop and Duster.

TAKE about a dozen old clean stockings, cut off feet and dip in equal parts of turpentine and kerosene, mixed with 5 cents' worth of oil of lavender. Wring out and dry. Then put in mop handle and you have a dry mop that not only gathers all the dust without scattering, but polishes the floor as well.

Dustless dusters are made by hemming yard squares of black cheese cloth and dipping in the same turpentine and kerosene many times.

JOBBERS, RETAILERS, CONSUMERS

The Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has ruled "that 'Salad Dressing,' if made with oil, must be labeled to indicate the kind of oil used, unless that oil is Olive Oil."

"That the word 'MAYONNAISE' cannot appear anywhere on the package unless eggs are used."

There are any number of Salad Dressings made with cottonseed oil, without the proper indication appearing on the label.

The Jobber, Retailer and Consumer should learn to discriminate between these various so-called "Mayonnaise" and "Salad Dressings."

All food products should be plainly labeled and branded in accordance with the rulings of the Bureau of Chemistry, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

MARSHALL APPARENTLY CHOICE OVER MAJOR IN FLORIDA VOTE

Returns Indicate Governor Is Second Choice in Democratic Primary for Vice President.

TAMPA, Fla., June 8.—Governor Park M. Trammell has a lead of 8,000 votes over United States Senator Nathan P. Bryan for the Democratic nomination for the United States' Senatorship in the returns from Tuesday's primary so far received.

Vice President Marshall appears to have received a larger vote than did Gov. Major of Missouri as the choice of Florida Democrats for Vice President. President Wilson was the only presidential candidate to qualify.

In the five-cornered race for Governor, Sidney J. Catts has a slight lead over W. J. Knott. Democratic nomination in Florida is regarded as equivalent to election.

Robert Hoe Leaves $9,832,296.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Robert Hoe, printing press manufacturer, who died Sept. 22, 1909, left a total estate of $9,832,296, having a net value of $8,374,619, according to a transfer tax report filed here yesterday.

"AS YOU LIKE IT" ON OUTDOOR STAGE IDYLLIC IN BEAUTY

First-Night Rain Stops at Moment Predicted by Pageant Drama Officers.

By CARLOS F. HURD.

OPEN-AIR community drama was a picnic for last night's "As You Like It" audience, at the new Forest Park municipal theater. A picnic, as everyone knows, is an occasion on which it rains.

Admiration for the stage production—and it was a most admirable affair—must yield to a still more intense admiration for the way in which the officers of the Pageant Drama Association handled the rainstorm.

Never was there a more unwelcome bit of precipitation. The first two nights of the week's schedule had already gone to waste because of wet weather. Now, on the third night, a first-night audience was waiting, when, just as the orchestra was about to commence the overture, the rainfall began.

Those who had umbrellas raised them, and others fled to the protection of trees or tents. "Keep your seat checks!" Boy Scout ushers called to the departing throng, while other scouts proclaimed reassuringly that "The show will go on if the rain stops."

But it did not stop, and it had begun to look like an all-night drizzle, when an announcer with a megaphone appeared on the stage.

He Called the Turn.

"The officers of the Pageant Drama Association," he declared, "believe this rain will stop in six or seven minutes."

To fix a time, within six or seven minutes, for a change in the weather, is gilt-edged, morocco-bound weather predicting. It was so good that the folks in the amphitheater didn't believe it. But all the same, it was not less than six and not more than seven minutes after, when even the scoffers suddenly became aware that the rain was over. The violinists began the hard task of tuning their dampened strings up to pitch, and at 8:25 the orchestra was playing the overture, while the persons who had forsaken seats were returning to them.

Those who had "official" and other versions of the play put them down as "books in the running brooks" on the exposed chairs. Thos who did not have books wiped up the rainfall from the seats with newspapers, or with paper towels brought by Boy Scouts from the dressing tents.

And then—and then there appeared first a star, which set everyone to wishing; and next the moon, which was soon shining so brightly as to make the blue spotlight, over beyond right stage, seem almost an impertinence. The moon was not on view at all times in the play, but it was beaming benignly when Orlando addressed it at the opening of the third act, begging the "thrice-crowned Queen of Night" to look at the job of bill-posting he had done, to advertise his affection for Rosalind.

Setting Is Beautiful.

But this is getting ahead of the story. For the audience the full beauty of the outdoor theater came into view when, in the third scene of Act 1, the bridge at the rear of the stage was revealed, and the villagers came tripping over it, to view the wrestling match.

Beautiful as was the scene of life and color on the stage, one was tempted to look above it, to the more beautiful trees, whose damp leaves glistened like alabaster. The stage lighting was so bestowed on these trees, particularly on the majestic one at the audience's left, as to form a rare union of nature and art.

For the latter half of the play, which is set in the Forest of Arden, the landscape gardening at the rear was changed into shrubbery, and the banished Duke, the melancholy Jaque (pronounced Jake Weeze by his companions in exile), the masquerading Rosalind and the sighing Orlando, not to forget the merry-wise Touchstone and his Audrey, made their exits and their entrances and spoke their parts, in a manner accommodated to the width of the stage and the depth of the big open-air auditorium.

The result proved that the new municipal theater is a place to hear, as well as to see. In the 50-cent seats the sound was as clear as in the $2 section, and the view, by added distance, was even more idyllic. Even in the bleachers at the rear, the actors' words were heard distinctly. The upper seats, including the free section, were but sparsely occupied, this part of the audience having apparently been kept away by the weather. The $2 and $1.50 sections were well filled, except for some seats abandoned by those who fled when the rain came.

Players' Work Well Done.

Margaret Anglin, as Rosalind, was worthy of Orlando's most fervid ballads. Her love-tutoring of her amorous swain was a charming mixture of shyness and boldness. Frederic Lewis, as Orlando, was a doughty wrestler and a lover whom any maid, Elizabethan or modern, might covet. Carolyn Brent as Celia talked about making herself unattractive, but by no means succeeded in doing so. Sidney Greenstreet as Touchstone brought laugh after laugh at witticisms which are but dull reading. Raymond Koch, as Amiens, sang "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind" in almost too realistic fashion, considering the state of the temperature at that moment. Tall young Louis Calhern was an engaging shepherd, and Genevieve Hamper, Mrs. Robert Mantell, was a resolute Phoebe.

Robert Mantell, in the role of Jaques, spoke the "Seven Ages of Man" with the unction of the lifelong student and actor of Shakspeare. Max Montesole, as William, was a laughing and laughable bumpkin. Two old-men parts, those of Corin and Adam, were played by Montesole and Harry Barfoot, and Henry Hull, a local player, was the wicked brother Oliver.

The play was followed by 15 minutes of folk dancing by St. Louis amateurs, forming the "community epilogue." This was prettily done, the circles of lads and lasses about the trees being especially pleasing. The choosing and kissing of the May Queen, about which much was said in advance, was not visible to the spectators. The Pageant Choral Society sang an effective interlude. A different cast of dancers will present the epilogue tonight. The performance begins at 8 o'clock, the music a few minutes earlier.

The "As You Like It" production is St. Louis' share in the Shakspeare tercentenary. It is scheduled to continue through next Monday night, with a matinee Saturday.

Alienation Suit Is Dropped.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., June 8.—The $30,000 suit brought against Mrs. Julia R. Moore by Mrs. Lillian Wert for the alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Wert's husband was dismissed today, when the plaintiff failed to appear in court. Wert was employed as chauffeur by Mrs. Moore, a wealthy society woman.

EAST ST. LOUIS SALOON MAN ROBBED OF $1260 BY NEGROES

Two Men Enter His Room Over Bar by Means of Ladder and Force Him to Open Safe.

George Merkovich, proprietor of a saloon at 2101 Kansas avenue, East St. Louis, told the police today that he had been robbed of $1260 by two negroes who entered his room over the saloon about 2:30 a. m. The negroes had placed a ladder against a 12-foot fence in the rear yard and a second ladder against the window ledge of the room occupied by Merkovich and his wife.

The saloonkeeper reported that one negro entered the room and shook him to awaken him, holding a revolver against his head. The second negro remained at the top of the ladder and kept a revolver pointed at Mrs. Merkovich.

The money was in a small safe which Merkovich asserts he was forced to open. He said that $710 was his own money and that he had borrowed $550 to cash pay checks given by the American Steel Foundry, the plant of which is across the street from the saloon.

JURY IN ORPET CASE COMPLETED AND TRIAL STARTS

Prosecution Outlines Its Evidence and Girl's Father Will Be First Called.

WILL PRODUCE LETTERS

Most of These Are Merely a Boy's Love Notes, but Some Hint at Relations.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 8.—With the jury in the murder trial of Will Orpet completed after the examination of more than 1200 men in 16 venires, the actual trial of the University of Wisconsin student charged with the murder of his sweetheart, Marion Lambert, was begun today. At the completion of the examination of jurors yesterday, when the men had been sworn in and David R. Joslyn, assistant to the State's Attorney in the prosecution, was opening his statement, the defense asked that the trial be adjourned until today on account of the sudden illness of Orpet's senior counsel, James H. Wilkerson. The request was granted.

Attorney Josyln made his statement outlining the case of the prosecution and telling what the State hopes to prove.

It is said the defense will reserve its opening statement until after the evidence for the prosecution has been presented.

Girl's Father a Witness.

Upon the conclusion of Attorney Joslyn's statement, Frank Lambert, father of the dead girl, will take the stand as the first witness for the State. State's Attorney Ralph Dady is said to have 125 witnesses, while the defense is reported to have decided to call but 25. According to estimates of attorneys in the case, the trial probably will occupy another month. The examination of veniremen occupied about three weeks.

Letters from Orpet to the girl will be introduced as evidence by the State and are expected to form an important part of the prosecution's case. A number of the letters published in a Chicago paper today were written by Orpet while he was at the university in Madison, Wis., and run the gamut from infatuation to a decided coolness on his part.

Most of the letters are but those of a boy to his sweetheart, but in some of them is a hint of the relations of the two.

Of the jury as accepted, 10 are married men and most of them have good-sized families. The average age of the jury is 29 years. The men are: Len Barthell, 34, Antioch; George Thompson, Newport; H. F. King, Area; T. Willoughby, Millburn; Samuel Bradbury, Waukegan; James O'Shea, Waukegan; E. J. Bock, Highland Park; J. J. Brand, Highland Park; W. J. McNanly, Highland Park; David Carlson, Highland Park; E. R. Walsh, Warren Township, and Edward Fabry, Lake Forest.

PRESS SUPPORTS LLOYD-GEORGE TO SUCCEED EARL KITCHENER

Lord Derby Also Mentioned for Place—Cause of Sinking of Hampshire Still Undetermined.

LONDON, June 8.—The British people are still staggered by Kitchener's tragic fate, and there is a strong disposition to criticise the Admiralty for failing to provide a proper escort for the Hampshire, which ship so far as is known, was unattended. It is still, of course, a mystery whether the Hampshire was sunk by a mine, a torpedo or an internal explosion. The theory of a floating mine is most generally accepted.

By far the most important part of Kitchener's duties had been transferred to Gen. Sir William Robertson, the chief of staff, and Kitchener's future work was intended to lie in such missions as the ill-fated one to Russia, where he was to discuss war organizations, especially in relation to munitions.

Nothing is settled about his successor, but Lloyd-George seems to have the bulk of the press support, although Lord Derby is also mentioned. Lloyd-George was only prevented from accompanying Lord Kitchener on his ill-fated trip on the cruiser Hempshire by the Irish crisis, according to statements in political circles here today.

CLIMBING—LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN IN DENVER'S NEW MOUNTAIN PARKS

COME TO DENVER
Enjoy Our Playgrounds This Summer

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN—Is in the most wonderful of the world's municipal parks. A few years ago the idea of a city recreation ground fourteen miles away from the city itself would have been regarded as an impossibility. Yet today Denver has reached out and crowned a distant mountain top as the most alluring of all its parks. It has flung a marvelous scenic highway to the top of this mountain in a startling, yet enticing, series of loops and curves. What a thrill must have come to the pioneers when they left the plains and began to climb this first parapet of the Rockies! The same thrill comes to anyone today who makes the climb to Lookout Mountain Park. In series of easy grades which can be negotiated with proportionate ease by the "one-lung" motor or the proud twin-six, the modern pioneer rises past Golden, the Colorado School of Mines, Clear Creek Canon, Lariat Trail, the Double Hairpin Curve, Windy Point, Wildcat Point (2,000 feet higher than Denver), and finally emerges on top of Lookout Mountain, with the plains below him to the east, and to the west of the continent, snowy white, towering over his head.

Here, on this rounded mountain top, Denver has set aside a park for its residents and for its visitors, for all time to come. Aside from a necessary pavilion as a shelter in time of storm, and outdoor fireplaces for those who would cook their meals in the open, the park has been left as Nature made it. Here is a carpet of wild flowers and native grasses, shaded with pines and quaking aspens, and stirred by the cool breezes from the snowbanks of the Great Divide.

Lookout Mountain is part of the unique chain of mountain parks which Denver has established, and which ends at Genessee Peak, six miles west of the Lookout summit.

GERMANY SEIZES PAPER CONTAINING HARDEN ARTICLE

Writer Declared His Country Was Responsible for the European War.

PARIS, June 8.—The Imperial German Government has seized the latest number of Die Zukunft, in which Maximilan Harden writes:

"Germany is responsible for the war. She should have helped Lord Haldane and come to an agreement with England. The Chancellor is unreasonable to expect the allies to make peace based on 'the situation on the map.' They will not do that until convinced that their cause is lost, and such a moment cannot be foreseen.

"All the belligerents must agree to an organized peace, guaranteeing absolute sovereignty to every one, with an international agreement on military questions and the establishment of an international tribunal with the power to make unruly nations respect their decisions. Let Germany beware if she discountenances such a solution.

"The allies continue the war only because they fear if peace is made now the German armaments would force them to continue competition. Organized peace may be possible now, but the opportunity will soon go forever."

GETS STATE SUPREME COURT DECISION BUT NO SALARY

Mississippi Factory Inspector Applies for Money, but Governor Refuses It.

JACKSON, Miss., June 9.—The fact that the State Supreme Court upheld the Circuit Court in its decision that State Factory Inspector David McDowell had not been legally removed from office, did not move Gov. Bilbo when that official applied for at least a portion of his salary for the past five months. The Governor informed McDowell that he did not recognize the opinion of the Court as binding while the case was pending, and would not approve the account until he had consulted with his counsel, Judge R. B. Mayes, who is general counsel for the Illinois Central Railroad Co. in this State.

Gov. Bilbo, it is stated, recognizes Hobbs as the State Factory Inspector and has approved his account for the five months' salary, but the State Board of Health declined to pay Hobbs or anyone else until the Supreme Court passed upon the proposition.

ASSERTS SOUTHERN ARMY WAS BEST BECAUSE OF ITS BLOOD

LEXINGTON, Va., June 7.—In his address at Confederate memorial exercises in Lee Memorial Chapel of Washington and Lee University, Gen. Julian S. Carr of North Carolina stated that the Southern army was superior to that which fought on the Northern side, because the former was composed of the best blood of the South, while the other was largely made up of mercenary soldiers.

At the conclusion of the address Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, Professor of History in Harvard University, arose in the audience to take issue with Gen. Carr. He declared that his father commanded a brigade in the Federal army, and that it was composed of as fine men as could be found in any army. The incident received no further attention.

GET-RICH-QUICK LYMAN LIABLE TO 30 YEARS IMPRISONMENT

Man Found Guilty of Using Mails to Defraud May Also Be Fined $6000.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dr. John Grant Lyman, get-rich-quick operator caught in Florida and who was found guilty in the United States Court yesterday for using the mails to defraud, will be arraigned some time today for sentence. The maximum penalty is 30 years and $6000 fine.

Lyman operated here under the name of John H. Putnam & Co. He is said to have made more than $300,000 in a short time by means of an alleged scheme to sell oil and mining stocks on the installment plan. He acted as his own attorney.

Hairs Quickly Vanish After this Treatment

(Helps to Beauty)

Science has aided in simplifying the banishing of hairy growths from the face, and according to a beauty specialist, the most effective treatment yet devised consists of applying a delatone paste to the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. When this paste is removed and the skin washed every trace of hair has vanished. Be sure to get real delatone.—ADV.

A Real Flesh Builder For Thin People

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak stagnant blood with millions of fresh, new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Johnson-Enderle-Pauley Drug Co., 7 stores; Weipert Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co., 3 stores, and all other good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.—ADV.

STUDIED AT NIGHT TO BECOME LAWYER

MRS. EDNA A. ANDERSON.

WOMAN EDITOR TO GET LAW SCHOOL DIPLOMA

Mrs. Edna A. Anderson Took Up Study After Separation From Husband, Who Was Attorney.

Mrs. Edna A. Anderson of 4763 Greer avenue, who has had considerable experience in the courts in three divorce suits to which she has been a party without any decree being granted, will get a diploma tonight from the Benton College of Law and intends to go to Jefferson City, June 19, to take the State bar examination. If successful, she will practice law.

This is the realization of her girlhood ambition born from reading Blackstone with her law-student sweetheart who later became her husband. Through 15 years of domestic life, the thought of a legal career was abandoned. When she separated from her husband, Charles J. Anderson, in 1910, and was later sued by him for divorce she again resolved to take up law.

For four years she has been attending the Benton College, which is a night school. She had to support herself. At first she was a physician's office assistant, but a year ago she became editor and manager of the Viking, a Scandinavian weekly newspaper.

QUESTIONS VALIDITY OF RENO DIVORCE IN $1,000,000 SUIT

William E. Smith Says Woman Who Sued Him for Breach of Promise Knew Decree Was Void.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Validity of a Reno divorce decree granted his wife was questioned and offered as a defense by William E. Smith, heir to $5,000,000 from his father, the late William Van Rensselaer Smith, in an answer filed yesterday to the suit brought against him by Cassie Mansfield Doty for $1,000,000 damages for breach of promise to marry.

He admitted he agreed to marry the plaintiff on a "set date," that he gave her an engagement ring and that she made certain preparations for the wedding. He contended, however, that Miss Doty knew his promises were "null and void" because he already was married.

KANSAS HIGHWAYMAN KILLS A GIRL, WUNDS ANOTHER

WICHITA, Kan., June 8.—A highwayman held up a party of 12 sightseers in the oil fields east of Wichita last night and shot to death Miss Ellen Miller and dangerously wounded Dorothy Snider.

Miss Miller thought the robber joking and shouted: "Come on kid, and shoot." She walked toward him and when his gun pressed her breast he fired, the bullet entering her heart.

The "Handy Volume" Issue of the New

Encyclopaedia Britannica

If you want to be perfectly sure—

—if there is a style of binding you prefer

—if you don't want to be told the sets in this binding are all gone

You send us a single dollar. We ship you the books. Then we allow you three weeks in which to examine them, use them, find out their value to you. If then, for any reason whatsoever, you wish to return the books, you may do so and your money is refunded with freight charges both ways.

Our remarkable offer of the new "Handy Volume" Issue has brought the Britannica within the reach of thousands of persons who never dreamed of owning it before; and likewise of thousands of persons who do not know its everyday value in the everyday home.

We want them to know it. We want you to know it. So we make an offer that has never before been made on this incomparable work of reference.

It costs you nothing to examine the books. You do not have to make up your mind to buy now. You have three weeks for that; after you get the books.

But you should not wait to send in your order. Some of the bindings, especially the morocco leather, are now very hard to obtain and only a small number of sets remain. We cannot guarantee to fill all orders received up to the date named.

All you have to do is to cut out the order form below, mark it, sign it, and send it with a single dollar.

Are You Hesitating

TIME is a PIRATE—always at your elbow, threatening, bullying, forcing you to a decision. Most people, not very strong of will, let things go. They can't decide. They hesitate—and lose out. They never foresee, or grasp opportunities. Take two instances.

After the long depression which ended about '96, came a tremendous wave of industrial prosperity to the United States. Anybody with half an eye could see that real estate would have a tremendous rise as well. It did—it doubled and tripled in value. But there were not very many people who bought land for this big rise. Now if you want to buy a farm, you have to pay two or three times as much for it as you did ten or fifteen years ago. You pay dear because you hesitated.

The great war in Europe is another example. Anybody could see that it would bring a tremendous scarcity in metals, chemicals, dyes and other things, and force high prices. It has. But very few people bought iron or copper, or quinine or dye-stuffs, for the inevitable rise. Now they pay dear.

You can now buy the "Handy Volume" Issue of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica at one-third the price of the Cambridge University issue of the same work. This phenomenally low price was possible only by making contracts for an enormous printing, when prices were very low. Now prices for paper and printing and binding have risen rapidly, unexpectedly, and we cannot obtain from the publishers any more sets at present prices.

After June 17th you will have to pay from $11 to $19 more per set for identically the same work, $11 more for the cheaper to $19 more for the more expensive bindings. We believe you will never be able to buy it as cheaply as you can now.

Which are you going to do—decide, or wait—and pay more?

Standard for 148 Years

For 148 years the Encyclopaedia Britannica has been not merely the standard encyclopaedia in the English language, but the foremost work of its kind in all the world.

The new Eleventh Edition cost more to produce than any other set of books ever issued—more than a million and a half dollars for the editorial preparation alone.

Of this new edition, issued by the Cambridge University Press, more than 75,000 sets have already been sold at a total exceeding fourteen million dollars.

This issue, costing from $166 to $250 per set, was beyond the reach of a large number of people to whom the Encyclopaedia Britannica is a keener need than to many who could afford it at this price.

Our Absolute Guarantee

We Guarantee that the "Handy Volume" Issue is authorized by the publishers of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica; that its contents are identical, page for page (including every map and illustration), with the Cambridge University issue now selling at three times the price; that it is manufactured by the same printers and binders as the more expensive book; that it is printed on the same quality of India paper, from newly made plates; and that, because it is smaller, it is easier to handle than the Cambridge issue.

We Guarantee complete and entire satisfaction with the contents of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and with the form of our "Handy Volume" Issue. To any one, who for any reason is not satisfied and returns the set within three weeks, we guarantee to return all he has paid (including shipping charges).

BOY DESERTED AT PLANTERS HAS NEW CHUM IN AGED MAN

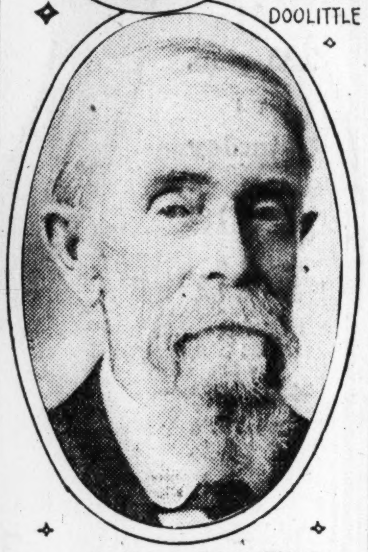
The sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Doolittle, celebrated last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Corbett of 5588 Waterman avenue, was of particular interest to one member of the Corbett household. This was Charles William Peel Jr., 11 years old, who was taken in as a member of the Corbett family about March 1, after his parents, known as a formerly wealthy English family, had abandoned him at the Planters Hotel.

AGED COUPLE, FRIENDS OF DESERTED BOY, 11

MRS. JAMES D. DOOLITTLE



JAMES D. DOOLITTLE...

Since Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle, 87 and 78 years old, respectively, whose home is at Catsworth, Ill., came to the Corbett home for an extended visit, the aged man and the Peel boy have been constant companions.

Hero in Boy's Eyes.

Doolittle is a Civil War veteran and his stories of the great conflict have made him a hero in the boy's eyes. The war veteran has developed a fondness for moving pictures and he and the Peel boy are frequent visitors to the "movie" theaters. They also take many walks together, and at such times are joined by boy's other companion, "Halloo Prince," the Corbett's prize-winning Boston terrier.

Doolittle's philosophy for a long life is "a clean life, with plenty of normal amusement." He tries to impress this upon his youthful companion. Both Doolittle and his wife are vigorous and in good health. Mrs. Corbett is their daughter.

His Parents Disappeared.

The unusual circumstances that resulted in the Peel boy making his home with the Corbett's began last January. At that time Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Peel registered at the Planters Hotel with their son. Later the parents disappeared.

The Corbett's took the boy to their home, where he immediately became a favorite because of his good manners and courteous disposition. Mrs. Corbett has since heard from the parents, who gave loss of their fortune on account of the war as the reason for their action. The mother is in Canada and the father is in France.

BROTHERS ROOSEVELT ON THE STAND CONTRADICT EACH OTHER

NEW YORK, June 8.--Two Roosevelts —John Ellis and his brother, Robert B., cousins of Theodore Roosevelt—contradicted each other yesterday as witnesses in the action for separation brought against J. E. Roosevelt by Mrs. Edith Roosevelt, on trial in the Supreme Court.

Robert Roosevelt, a witness for the wife, said he had heard his brother use profane language toward his wife. When the defendant took the stand he denied this testimony and that of his wife that he had beaten her in three countries.

Telling of a quarrel in the Savoy Hotel in London he said it started because his wife was unable to unhook her evening gown and he tried to help her. She would not permit his assistance, he said, so he shook her once or twice.

Roosevelt admitted that since his disagreement with his wife he had changed his will and transferred practically all of his property to his daughters. He has nothing but an income of $5000 a year, he said.

"My little girl's trouble began with red blotches on her head and matter came out of these blotches which looked like perspiration. They itched and burned and when she scratched them they would bleed and it caused scales to form. They made her very cranky and at night she would keep me awake. The breaking out caused her hair to fall out and her head was disfigured.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and then bought more. In less than three weeks her head was entirely healed." (Signed) Mrs. C. M. McCraney, 535 Fairview Ave., St. Paul, Minn., July 13, 1915.

In Making Keynote Speeches to Hurlers, Managers Might Use a "Pitch" Pipe

JOHNSON FAILED 5 TIMES, ERRED 3, BUT WON GAME

EVERY SUBSTITUTE USED

Had Ernie Failed, Manager Would Have Been Forced to Use Pitcher in Center.

By W. J. O'Connor.

Only 12 more victories to equal the Giants' high run of the season! That's the specious, spatial speculation of Sportsman's Park sophists who are stymied by the specter of a pennant drive. The Browns have won five in a row and are still in seventh place, but only four games out of first division and 8½ games behind the Indians.

Yesterday's victory, 6—5, was the choicest of the season, culminating as it did in the twelfth frame when a grave crisis faced Fielder Jones. The Brown manager had exhausted his supply of reserves. Seventeen in all had been called upon and, after Umpire Evans had banished Armando Marsans, Jones had nobody but Bob Groom or Tim McCabe to send to center field.

Many of the fans left the park unaware of the fact that Marsans had been expelled from the box score. However, a brief interview with Umpire Evans soon settled all disputes on this question.

"Was he through? Well, I should say he was, and very decisively so," said Evans to the writer after the game. "Yes, indeed, Marsans was all through for the day, after he set up a howl on a play that wasn't even close. When I say that, I mean he was out fully a foot, which isn't considered close by umpires. And really I thought he would faint! He was so wrought up! I figured a cool shower would do him good."

All Substitutes Used Up.

Prior to this Borton, Tobin and Lavan had appeared as pinch-hitters. All the catchers had done duty. Four pitchers were used up, leaving only Groom, Koob, Fincher, McCabe and Baumgardner available for any emergency. Even Fielder Jones had been banished earlier by Umpire Nallin. Indeed the Browns were strictly up against it.

And that's why we regard Ernie Johnson's single, which scored Sisler with the run which shattered the deadlock, as the pinchiest pinch-punch of the entire year.

Had it not landed, the Browns probably would have been beaten, because the Yanks were landing hard on Wellman, and only in the previous inning Marsans negotiated the most sensational catch of the year when he went to deep left center and snared Gedeon's drive with Magee on first. This was some whale of a catch. It saved the old ball game.

It enabled Ernie Johnson, who had committed everything but hara-kiri in the early portions of the game, to finally erase no fewer than five blots from his escutcheon. It was Johnson's error in the seventh frame, when he had a cinch double play in front of him, that caused the withdrawal of Plank and opened the flood-gates for four Yankee runs. Of course, Davenport's wild heave helped the enemy along; but the transgressions of this pair nullified the nifty lead of two runs the Browns had acquired previously.

Browns' Rally Ties It.

But it was just when they seemed hopelessly beaten that the Browns braced and, by a beautiful attack, sharp and tactically perfect, sewed the old box score up in the last half of the ninth. Wellman began pitching in the tenth, and he was an enigma, whereas the Browns were always belting the everlasting life out of Ray Keating, who must have something on Bill Donovan.

Sisler's single exploded as the opening gun, in the twelfth. Pratt, who is just learning how to murder the ball, withered under the command to sacrifice and popped to the pitcher. Marsans hit to Mullen, who was subbing for Pipp, and there was a tremendous race for the bag. Both went into the bag feet first and Umpire Evans, by a fast dash in that direction, was right a-top the play, as he usually is. Never a kick on Evans. He's always trying, at least.

Evans yelled "Yer out!" and Marsans jumped to his feet and said a mouthful of unweazel words. Evans then wildly gesticulated towards the bench and Marsans started in that direction. There was great activity in the Brown dugout, where Fielder Jones was trying to find a substitute for the Cuban in center field.

Johnson Atones.

But it was during this mix-up that Ernie Johnson, with five successive swat failures and three egregious errors afield to his discredit, smacked a single through Gedeon, and Sisler broke all previous records running from second base to the home plate. Curtains!

Schaefer Earns His Salary.

Upwards of 5000 fans, including the ladies who were guests of the management, attended yesterday's game and a vast majority of the grand stand contingent gravitated towards the third base section, attracted by Prince Henry Schaefer. He's the Frank Tinney of the baseball profession.

After the Browns had scored two runs in the second inning the rooters got their halters out and began to "ride" Schaefer. Whereupon Germany made a speech. Holding up two fingers and pointing to the Browns' score, he announced:

"Our daily handicap—two runs. We always spot the enemy two runs."

"Tie 'em tight, Eddie, or we'll knock 'em off your feet," said Schaefer, who was slowly but surely building up a clientele in the stands.

Local fans haven't yet lamped Mr. Sawyer, of Washington; but if he can follow Schaefer in and get his stuff over he's some actor. Schaefer really is an attraction.

Jimmy Austin Doing Well.

Jimmy Austin is getting better every day. He walked three times yesterday, stole one base, scored one run and drove home the tieing run in the ninth with his only hit. The persistent encouragement which the grand stand patrons are giving Jimmy is having its good effect.

A fiendish double-play saved Plank in the third. A pass to Nunamaker was followed by Keating's sacrifice. Gilhooley was beaned and Johnson then booted Magee's grounder, filling the bases. Gedeon boosted to Pratt in short center and Nunamaker bluffed a steal of home. Pratt whipped the ball to Hartley, who passed it to Austin and Nunamaker was doubled off third. Lovely billiards!

LIGHT HITTING IS HUG'S COMPLAINT WHEN CARDS LOSE

Batting Punch Is Lacking and Hall's Good Game Is Wasted, 3—2, at Boston.

BOSTON, June 8.—Miller Huggins, the Cardinal director, like everyone else, is complaining of the weather. The absence of the sun, with its warmth that generally comes in June, are needed to make his men hustle. In the two games played at Braves Field a cold, raw wind has swept across the diamond, making it necessary for the players to wear their sweaters all the time. Despite yesterday's defeat, 3—2, which more strongly entrenches the Cards in last place, Huggins says his team will be heard from.

"There is not a club in the league but what has been having trouble in getting under way, no matter what way you look at it. Now, the Cards are about as good a choice as any of the others. There is not a team that is walking away from the others, and with the season so young, many changes are sure to take place within the next month.

"The Cards are not hitting the ball, and when they don't, like all other teams, they look bad."

Hall Deserved to Win.

Sea Lion Charley Hall, well known in this city because of his connection with the Red Sox three years ago, was given a great reception by the small crowd that shivered in the stands. Two passes, one in the fourth and another in the sixth, counted greatly against him, for both were converted into runs.

Hank Gowdy is laid up with a "bum wing," but if Tragessor, who worked behind the bat in the two games against the Cards, keeps on, Stallings will not call on Hammering Hennery for some time. Tragessor drove over the Braves' only run on Tuesday, and yesterday he smote a timely single to left that scored two runs.

Miller Huggins put himself into the game when the Cards were doing things in the eighth. He took Long's place as a base runner after the outfielder had singled, and sent in the Cards' second run. Huggins' reason for going into the game was apparent to everyone, and when he, with Butler, who was on third, tried a double steal, Butler was cut off at the plate, Maranville making a fine return of Tragessor's throw. Tragessor blocked the plate so perfectly that Butler was not even close to the platter after he slid in.

Braves Effect a Blockade.

Only two Cards got as far as second base up to the eighth, Bescher, in the fourth, on a single and a steal, and Betzel by the same procedure in the sixth.

Bobby Bescher lost a chance to get into the limelight in the eighth, when with men on first and second base, Magee raced over into foul territory and made a sensational catch of his effort.

Gonzales did not look very good behind the bat. Three steals were registered against him, Wilhoit making two and Konetchy one.

Neither team hit much, but the three-base blow by Wilhoit to the left field fence would have been good for a home run on most any field but for the fast work of Bescher.

Red Ames and Steele both worked in the bull pen, but Steele was sent in to relieve Hall after Butler had batted for the ex-Red Sox twirler.

Less than 2000 saw the battle. It was cold and raw, and but for the numerous postponed games the Braves have, yesterday's battle would have been called off.

PUBLIC PARK PLAYERS ESCAPE WITH WARNING

The players of the Municipal Baseball Association escaped without a suspension being handed out last week. Two of them, Adams of the Cote Brilliantes of the Sunday School League and Lester Slattery, were warned. Slattery will have to make apology to the umpire through Abeken before tomorrow or stand suspended for two weeks. Peterson of the St. Louis Suburbans of the Independent, Harry Temperle, Grand Gravois, and O. Jurgens of the Campbells were reinstated, as were all the players of the St. Ambrose team with the exception of James Belgeri. The setdowns still standing are those of J. Bisesi, Catcher Rigoni and James Belgeri.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Meredith, World's Greatest Athlete.

BOB SIMPSON, the Missouri University athlete, may one day occupy alone the athletic spotlight; certainly his achievements this season and the undeveloped possibilities in him make it probable that he will one day be heralded the most conspicuous figure in athletics. But today we have to remove the chapeau to one J. E. P. Meredith, now graduating from the University of Pennsylvania.

This athlete is, without doubt the greatest all-round runner of all time, barring no one. Imagine a singer who could hit high C like Caruso and who could also sing second base like Edouard de Rezke. That represents something like the range of ability shown by Meredith, in his specialty.

• • •

MEREDITH'S MARKS.	WORLD'S MARKS.
100 yards in 10 seconds flat	9 3-5 seconds.
220 yards in 22 seconds flat	21 1-5 seconds.
440 yards in 47 2-5 seconds	47 2-5 seconds.
880 yards in 1 minute 52 1-5 seconds	1 min. 52 1-5 sec.
One mile in 4 minutes 16 seconds	4 min. 12 3-5 sec.
Two miles in 9 minutes 31 seconds	9 min. 17 4-5 sec.

• • •

In the short sprints Meredith showed what he could do in the dual meet with Dartmouth. He won both events with ease, in time that would arouse envy in many a sprinting specialist. Meredith has made his longer distance marks in private exhibitions.

There is little doubt that if he devoted all his attention to any of the distances other than those he usually favors—the quarter and half—he would come close to setting new world's marks in them, also.

Welsh HAS Sidestepped White.

IT came a little sooner than we expected, but here it is, according to New York sources of information: Freddie Welsh has refused to sign to fight Charley White at Buenos Aires, July 7.

This "info" was promulgated in the following item, published in Monday's New York World:

> "Now that the match between Freddie Welsh and Charlie White has been declared off, it is almost a sure thing that White and Johnny Griffiths will fight an open-air bout at Canton, O., July 4."

• • •

IT'S a debatable question if Welsh will ever again risk his title in a long bout. He already has money. He's in the game to stay only as long as he can pick up additional EASY change. He admits he'll retire shortly.

Isn't it a joke the way these "champions" kid the public along and give nothing in exchange for about $300-a-minute?

Allows One Hit in Three Games.

PITCHERS come and go, but the outstanding record of the present season in any class or league was made by Earl Brooks, the Saginaw, Mich., High School boy, who has a succession of achievements that force the astounded reader's mouth to drop open. Here are his notable feats in the seven games he had taken part in up to Monday:

Allowed only one hit in three successive games.

They will try to beat this record for a long time without succeeding. N. B.—Despite Tennyson, Brooks cannot go on forever. We'll read of his defeat some day. Or that Connie Mack has got him.

Benny Kauff's "Number" Missing.

BENNY KAUFF'S number, "23" (no, this is NOT the size of his hat), is missing. It is reported that the National League pitchers have taken it and intend to keep it.

There have even been heard certain blasphemous whispers about benching him in favor of Rousch. Rousch-mit-'im, so to speak.

• • •

And, speaking of expense, Kauff is German for "buy." "Benny"—as all those who have ever pawned one know—means overcoat.

Hence, freely translated, Benny Kauff signifies "buy an overcoat." Shall we, therefore, unkindly infer that a frost is awaiting Benjamin?

Convincing Signs, Eh Matty?

CHRISTY MATHEWSON, who is still selling his name for use over some pretty good baseball gossip, turned out by a syndicate, stands for the statement that there are not wanting signs which indicate the Giants will win the pennant. Here are some of the signs, as we view them out here: $ $ $ $ $ $.

In the first two games played at home by McGraw's men, the team played to 40,000 paid admissions. In the Giants' park this is almost equivalent to $30,000. That's the kind of money that will keep the league in kale.

DETROIT TO NEW YORK TIME RECORD SHATTERED

NEW YORK, June 8.—Driving a Chalmers 34-horsepower, six-30 roadster, B. F. Durham of Detroit shattered all records for Chicago-New York run yesterday, making the trip in 31 hours flat, total distance 1047 miles. Old record for the distance was held by E. C. Patterson of Cillier's Weekly, made July 15, 1915. Patterson drove a Packard six-38. His time, 35 hours, 43 minutes.

Durham drove a stock roadster model, carrying full equipment, including fenders. From Cleveland to Elmira he was relieved by A. E. Walden. Run Chicago to New York practically continuous. No stops made save for gasoline, oil and water. Drive from Chicago to Cleveland, a distance of 375 miles, made by Durham in 11 hours, 4 minutes. Drive from Cleveland to New York City made in a steady downpour of rain, slowing up car and making constant use of chains necessary. Many narrow escapes from accidents were encountered by drivers, especially when crossing the Alleghanies by night.

The Yanks missed a chance to crawl up on the Indians, yesterday. It was not to be as the Browns needed that game to keep their winning streak intact.

DAVENPORT VS. SHAWKEY IN SECOND GAME TODAY

Dave Davenport, who made such a mess of his job as relief pitcher yesterday, will be sent back against the Yankees this afternoon in the second game of the series. He probably will be opposed by Bob Showkey, who whipped the Browns in New York. Shawkey is considered Donovan's best pitch-in bet. In the absence of Wallie Pipp, who has an ulcerated tooth, Charley Mullen will continue on first for the Yanks. He doesn't weaken the team any.

475 Athletes in Meet.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The entry list for the annual interscholastic meet which will be held on Stagg Field at the University of Chicago on Saturday contains the names of 475 high school athletes from all parts of the United States, it was made known today. Two boys who are almost certain to figure in the scoring are Loomis and Landers of Oregon, Ill., who captured, unaided, the Michigan preparatory schools' meet last Saturday. Heavy rains for the last two days give promise of a rather heavy track and few records are expected to be broken.

MADISON TO PLAY COTE BRILLIANTE FOR SCHOOL TITLE

Teams Will Fight It Out Saturday Afternoon for Post-Dispatch Trophy.

The Cote Brilliante team, winner of the title in Group G, and Madison of Group C will fight it out Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at High School Field for the championship of the Public School League and the Post-Dispatch trophy, which at present is held by Benton.

The Post-Dispatch also will give medals, emblematic of the championship, to the 12 players of the winning team. These medals will be of gold and will have the name of the school and the players' name engraved on them.

Madison yesterday gained the right to compete for the title by walloping Emerson in the semi-final, 24—4. Cote Brilliante worked its way into the final, trounching Shaw, 8—2.

In the clash yesterday, which was played at C. B. C., O'Donnell, on the hill for the winners, allowed four hits, while his mates pounded Ritzer for 11. Six errors behind Ritzer, five of them by Catcher Jackson, helped swell the Madison total. Ritzer also issued 18 passes, which helped to his own downfall.

Madison started scoring in the first inning and never let up until the final batter of the clash had been retired. Emerson tallied three in the second and one in the third. After that O'Donnell was invincible. Phelan was the batting star, getting four out of seven, one a triple.

Two Star Hurlers Meet.

When the two finalists meet Saturday, a pitching battle should result, as both O'Donnell and O'Malley, the Cote's star have been hurling good ball all season. O'Malley last Saturday held the heavy hitting Shaw aggregation to three bingles. During the regular season he hurled a no-hit game and in his first contest beat Benton, last year's champion, by a big score.

O'Donnell, while he owns no no-hit contest, has held his opponents to comparatively few bingles this season. Last year Madison was a semi-finalist, being beaten out of a chance for the title by Shaw in a well-played game, 2—1.

In reaching the finals, Madison won five straight in Group C, defeated Sigel, 13—5, in the elimination game, O'Donnell giving three hits and then taking yesterday's semi-final. Cote Brilliante went through Group G, taking five in a row. The team drew a bye in the elimination round and then downed Shaw, a finalist last season, for the right to play for the honors.

Leonard-Dundee Match on Again; to Meet June 12

Both Boys Are Working Hard for 10-Round Bout to Be Staged in Gotham.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Now that the bout between Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee is on again and will be fought in Madison Square Garden on Monday evening, June 12, both lads resumed training for the scrap today. Leonard is doing his training at Grupp's gymnasium and Dundee is working out at Dal Hawkins' roadhouse. At the racetrack yesterday Dundee declared that he would surely win over Leonard by a big margin this time.

Bob de Vere, the Kansas City heavyweight, who is signed up for two fights during the fistic carnival at Buenos Aires next month, will engage in one more battle before he sails for South America on June 17. His opponent in this scrap will be Larry Williams, the good Philadelphia heavyweight. They will box 10 rounds at the Fairmont A. C. on Saturday night. Murray Perkel and Young Rago also battle for 10 rounds.

Jimmy Dunn, manager of Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, declares that he has matched Kilbane to meet Johnny O'Leary, the fast Canadian lightweight, in a 10-round bout at the Queensberry A. C. of Buffalo, N. Y., on the night of June 13. Dunn says he would like to have Kilbane meet Benny Leonard in a six-round bout in "Philly" or a 10-round go in this city.

Coulon to Meet Burns.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 8.—The matching of Bobby Burns, Dallas, Tex., and Johnny Coulon, former bantam champion, for a 10-round match in Kenosha, Wis., on July 4 was announced here today.

C. A. C. ONLY CLUB EAGER TO SPONSOR A. A. U. TITLE MEET

Western District Officials Will Probably Award Local Club 1916 Championships.

DATE WILL BE IN AUGUST

Only Hitch Now Appears to Be Over the Division of the "Gate" Receipts.

Thomas G. Watts Jr., president of the Western division of the A. A. U., announced this morning that something definite concerning the annual championships probably would be done at the next meeting, which will be held in the next two weeks. There is only one club willing to stage the events—the C. A. C.—and all the A. A. U. officials will have to do is name the dates.

It is hardly probable, though, that the events will be run off before the latter part of August, as the Tangled C's new track will not be completed until early in that month.

"Something definite concerning our championships will without a doubt be decided at our next meeting, which will be called some time within the next two weeks," was the announcement from Watts.

But before anything is done, the A. A. U. will have to figure with the South Side Club concerning the receipts. At present the A. A. U. wants half the gate, but the Tangled C, which is willing to buy medals for the winners, is unwilling to split 50—50. This is about the only tangle that will have to be straightened out.

Club Assumes the Risk.

"We are willing to purchase medals for the winners of all the events," said Paddy Fitzgerald, the Tangled C. coach, "but we do not like the idea of having to split the gate with the A. A. U. If the gate is $10 we will be the losers. Then again, should it be $3000 we should be the winners, because we are taking the chances."

Without a doubt this difference will be straightened out to the satisfaction of both sides and for the good of athletics, which at present are in none too healthy state in this city.

Watts, who is a member of the championship committee of the National A. A. U., also stated that he had heard from the New York officials asking him if any of the clubs in his district wanted to hold any of the outdoor swimming championships this summer. During the indoor campaign, two events, the 500 yards and plunge, were decided in the Missouri A. A. tank.

If any club in the Western Division wants to stage a paddling championship, Watts will be glad to try to land an event for them.

Long Straightaway Planned.

When the new C. A. C. track is completed there will be a 220 yards straightaway, it was stated by Paddy Fitzgerald. The stretch will run east and west on the north side of the park. This will be the only track in St. Louis which can boast of a 220-yard straightaway, the one at Francis Field having a slight turn.

"It's going to cost something to do all this, but we will have something to show them when we get through," is the way the officials of the South Side club put it when talking about the track.

New Talent in Distance Runs.

There are several youngsters breaking into the long distance game who before long will be ranked as stars. They are Burns, Luxen and Gilbert of the Columbian A. C. Gilbert, who is just 15 years old, landed fifth in the 10-mile race last Sunday. Fitzgerald will enter him in the junior race of the M. A. A. and expects him to clean up.

Christy Burns, who finished in eighth place, is 17 years old, and E. Luxen, who took down ninth place, is just 16. Then Hamilton, a youngster from Maplewood High School, also looks like a comer.

"These youngsters, when starting out, make one big mistake," says Fitzgerald. "They think the more water they get the better, when all that is needed is to wet the tongue. It's all right for the old-timers, who can take care of themselves, but it is bad stuff for those just breaking into the long distance game."

Joe Forshaw, the veteran M. A. A. runner, kept more than one of the boys from breaking down in the C. A. C. race last Sunday by his first aid treatment. The youngsters generally followed advice when Joe told them anything.

Chicago Speed Trials Today.

CHICAGO, June 8.—If the rain stops and the sun shines forth today to dry out the track by afternoon, elimination trials at the Speedway delayed for the last two days by wet weather, will be run off rapidly. Forty-one cars have been entered for Saturday's derby and but 32 of them can compete under A. A. A. rules. Consequently nine will be eliminated and it is expected that the trials will bring out as great speed as the race itself, all the drivers striving to be among the 32 starts.

Weather permitting, De Palma today will try to establish a new American track record for an hour's driving.

Echoes of the Frolic.

THE Browns have won five straight, b'gosh!
They made the Yankees take their wash
And swamped 'em in an extra inning session;
Far be it from us to predict,
But Fielder's boys are far from licked
And soon they'll be right up in the procession.

UP to the sixth the Brownies led
And then the Yankees forged ahead—
It looked as though our boys would get a beating;
But in the ninth they tied the score
And in the twelfth they got one more
And slipped the k. o. punch to Mr. Keating.

MY friends, it was a noble game,
It thrilled the multitude that came
And sent them on their homeward way rejoicing;
And though for supper they were late
As they went surging through the gate,
The praise of Fielder's boys they all were voicing.

ARMANDO MARSANS caught a fly,
As did our old friend "Lefty" High,
That made the bleachers set the welkin ringing;
George Sisler, Pratt and "Pepper" Jim
All played the game with dash and vim,
As home the well-known bacon we were bringing.

'TWAS Jimmy Austin's timely rap
That tied the Yankees in the scrap,
And in the twelfth George Sisler made a bingle;
Then Pratt and Marsans both went out
And Johnson gave the pill a clout,
While Sisler crossed the plate on Ernie's single.

ALL hail that noble team of ours,
They're winning games between the showers,
No longer are they subjects for derision;
And when October rolls around,
Our Brownie heroes will be found
Up there with the elect in first division.

The Yanks are a nice little team but they are no stronger than Germany Schaefer.

We heard a guy say yesterday that the Browns were no stronger than Gus the Barber, but he was a knocker.

The hot dog brigade couldn't do much with Ump. Nallin. There seemed to be a lack of the cohesion and team work that marked their work against Tommy Connolly last week.

Ernie Johnson appeared in the dual role of villain and hero in yesterday's festivities. He lost the game and won it.

"Lefty" High, the distinguished native son, shone with refulgent glory when he plucked Hank Severeid's drive off the fence and converted a perfectly good three-bagger into an out.

No Joke.

WHEN Eddie Plank stopped the game to tie his shoes, Germany Schaefer advised the Gettysburg hero to tie 'em on tight as the Yanks intended to knock 'em off. The said Yanks forthwith proceeded to demonstrate the truth of the well-known adage that the truth is oftimes told in a joke.

ST. L. U. GRIDIRON SCHEDULE FILLED; COACH NOT NAMED

Candidates for Football Leader's Berth Have Sifted Down to Two Applicants.

HARD GAMES TO BE FEW

Lightest Season in Years Will Confront the Billiken Elevens, Next Fall.

By keeping the telegraph wires hot during the past two days, Director of Athletics Father Hermans of St. Louis University has managed to complete the 1916 schedule for the Billiken football eleven. Until last week only two contests had been arranged for the coming season, and it was feared by many followers of the blue and white athletic affair that the school year would be brought to a close without a gridiron schedule.

The games that have been arranged form the lightest schedule that has been placed before a Billiken eleven in years. Washington University, which will be played on Thanksgiving day, is by far the strongest opposition that will be met by the Grand and Pine gridders. Games with teams of four minor colleges and three universities which, of the past few years, like St. Louis University, have taken fearful tumbles as regarding football strength, will complete the schedule.

Here's the Massive List.

The season will open on Oct. 7, the locals meeting the Cape Girardeau Normals, on a local campus. A week later the Southern Illinois College of Carbondale will be entertained, followed on Oct. 21 by the Illinois College eleven. De Pauw University of Greencastle, Ind., a team which the 1914 Christian Brothers College team walloped by over 70 points, calls on Oct. 28. Creighton U. of Omaha, Neb., a team that in former years was an annual opponent of St. Louis University teams, the opposition of Nov. 4, seems to be about the stiffest battle, with the exception of the Pikers.

The only abroad encounter of the season will be played on the following Saturday, when Marquette U. is met at Milwaukee. A few years ago Marquette had one of the strongest teams in its district, outside of the Big Nine. The gridiron class of the school seems to have deteriorated, however, the school having unsuccessful seasons during the past two years. The locals will be idle on the following Saturday, resting up before the Thanksgiving struggle with the Pikeway eleven.

Quigley Has a Rival.

Together with the schedule, it was also announced that the name of the new coach would be given out, either tomorrow or on Saturday, following a meeting of the Athletic Board. Father Hermans stated that the race for the position has narrowed down between E. C. Quigley, former athletic director at St. Mary's (Kan.) College and another candidate, who desires that his name should not be given out until a final decision is reached.

Quigley is at present employed as an umpire on the National League staff and has during the past year often acted in the capacity as referee of Missouri Valley Conference basket ball and football games. According to the St. Louis U. authorities, the only hitch between him and the school depend upon Quigley's possible opportunity to work in the world's series.

He does not wish to pass up the assignment if he is chosen, while the Billiken moguls will demand that he be on the job by Oct. 2. If he worked in the post-season games he could not arrive until the 15th.

As soon as a coach is employed the next move will be to land an assistant, who will take care of the reserve and freshman squads. It has been definitely decided that Eddie Grogan will not hold down the position this year.

Seven British Citizens on U. S. Soccer Football Team Fear Foreign Trip

NEW YORK, June 8.—C. L. Kornerup of Swedish Gymnastic Association, Stockholm, yesterday cabled T. W. Cahill, secretary of the U. S. F. A., $2000, to cover half the estimated expense of sending an American Association Football team to Sweden for a series of five games, to begin July 13 and end July 26.

To make the dates the American team must sail from here June 24. It has been contemplated sending over the Bethlehem Steel Co. team, winners of the American championship for the past two seasons; but seven members of the club are British born and, though they have taken out their first papers seeking American citizenship, there is a fear the British Government might take them off the ship and impress them in the British army or navy.

A declaration of intent to become an American citizen does not relieve a native of the British empire from his obligation to his nativity. He would not be recognized as a citizen of the United States until he had completed his naturalization.

Browns, Geared High, Defeat Yanks By Brilliant Work on Base Lines

HONORS in yesterday's 12-inning victory, 6—5, over the Yankees were most judiciously distributed among the Browns. For instance:

Sisler scored the first run with a titanic homer and the winning run in the twelfth on his single and some sensational running.

Pratt drove in a run in the sixth and contributed three hits, a steal and run to the Brown uplift.

Shotton's single, after he was in the hole with two strikes and one ball, put Chapman in a scoring position in the ninth.

Chapman, by the way, broke into the game long enough to score the tieing run. He worked smartly.

Speed Won the Game.

The Browns ran the bases with great eclat and it was their tremendous speed which finally carried the day. Sisler's dash from second to the plate in the twelfth, when he scored on Johnson's scratch infield hit, was worth the price of admission. Pratt pilfered a sack. So did Marsans. Everybody ran on "high." Of course they won.

Plank pitched a poor game. Withal most of the batters he faced were left-handed hitters. However, the Yanks have faced so many southpaws this season that they no longer have any terrors for them. But Plank was not altogether to blame. Umpire Nallin was atrociously bad on balls and strikes and Eddie lost his nut and fought the arbitrator.

Park Is About Due.

We mustn't overlook Jim Park. He toiled only one inning, but he worked like a machine. Even in the face of Ernie Johnson's boot which gave High a life. Park is due to win a game soon. His last nine-inning attempt resulted in a 3—2 defeat at the hands of Guy Morton, a rattling good pitcher.

The Seventh Finished Plank.

Plank went up in a puff in the seventh. Nunamaker singled and was forced by Keating. Gilhooley singled and that was the tip-off on Plank. Magee singled and the bases were filled, Nunamaker having effected a blockade. Johnson booted Gedeon's grounder and one run scored. Baker was up. He swings from the port side, but he lifted Plank's first pitch over the garden wall for a foul home run. Jones then exercised the recall. Davenport went in and forced Baker to top a dinky drive to the box. Another double play was in sight. But Davenport threw the ball entirely past Hartley and two runs scored. Mullen scratched an infield hit and the fourth run scored, but Baker was picked off when he overran third. Mullen was flagged on an attempted steal.

POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

RAILROADS ARE STRONG STOCKS IN WALL STREET

Reading and Coal Shares Score Gains; Business Is Fairly Active.

NEW YORK, June 8.

Railroad stocks showed a strong tone at the opening of the market, today, with considerable activity centering in Reading and the coal shares. The industrial issues and motor stocks were irregular.

At the moment outside speculation is held in check by the foreign developments and domestic policies, but sentiment generally is cheerful over the outlook. So far the hardening of money rates has been ignored as a market factor.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 8.—A broad demand for rails, particularly coalers, featured today's early dealings. Reading opened with a block of 6500 shares at 106¼ to 106, soon advancing to 106½, an extreme overnight gain of 1⅝. Chesapeake & Ohio was taken in 1000-share lots up to 66¼, an advance of 1⅝, and Lehigh Valley changed hands in round amounts at fractional gain. Shipping shares were next in favor, United Fruit advancing 2¼ to the new record of 169. Later New York Central, Northern Pacific, St. Paul and United States Steel were added to the list of strong issues. Specialties were relatively backward.

The erratic trend manifested before the end of the first hour of the stock market today was attributed by observers to the complex domestic political conditions. Leading stocks receded 1 to almost 2 points and other issues suggested profit-taking. Meanwhile specialties of mixed descriptions, including motors, Mexicans, tobaccos, minor steel and similar industrials had risen 1 to 5 points. United Fruit was especially feverish, surrendering most of its early gain, but speedily mounting to a new record. At midday, however, general irregularity prevailed. Bonds were firm despite a moderate concession in Anglo-French 5s.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—First official intimation of the size of this year's spring wheat crop and more definite information as to the size of the winter wheat crop now being harvested were given today by the Department of Agriculture in its June crop report. In addition a forecast was given of the prospective production of oats, barley, rye, apples and peaches. These production forecasts were made by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, which based its calculations upon the condition of the growing crops on June 1, as reported by its thousands of correspondents and agents throughout the country. The total yield probably will be above or below these estimates as conditions from now until time of harvest improve or decline.

The estimated total production of the various crops, based on their June 1 condition, with last year's production and the average for five years, 1910-1914, for comparison, follow: (Figures in millions of bushels, i. e., 000,000's omitted):

CROP.	1916.	1915.	1910-14 Ave.
Winter wheat	469	655	495
Spring wheat	246	357	233
All wheat	715	1012	728
Oats	1255	1540	1158

Barley	189	237	186
Rye	44	49	38
Apples (bbls.)	72	77	66
Peaches	42	64	44

Other details of the report follow:

WINTER WHEAT.—Area planted 33,020,000 acres, compared with 40,453,000 last year. Condition 73.2 per cent of a normal, compared with 82.4 on May 1 this year, 85.8 on June 1 last year and 82.4, the 10-year average. Indicated yield 14.2 bushels per acre, compared with 16.2 last year and 16.3, the 1910-14 average.

SPRING WHEAT.—Area planted 17,851,000 acres, compared with 19,445,000 last year. Condition 88.2 per cent of a normal, compared with 94.9 last year and 93.9, the 10-year average.

ALL WHEAT.—Area planted 50,871,000 acres, compared with 59,989,000 last year. Condition 77.7 per cent of a normal, compared with 88.2 last year and 86.2, the 10-year average. Indicated yield 14.1 bushels per acre, compared with 16.9 last year and 14.8, the 1910-14 average.

OATS.—Area planted 40,599,000 acres, compared with 40,780,000 last year. Condition 86.9 per cent of a normal, compared with 92.2 last year and 88.6, the 10-year average. Indicated yield 30.9 bushels per acre, compared with 37.8 last year and 30.5, the 1910-14 average.

BARLEY.—Area planted 7,757,000 acres, compared with 7,395,000 last year. Condition 86.3 per cent of a normal, compared with 32.0 last year and 24.6, the 1910-14 average.

RYE.—Condition 86.9 per cent of a normal, compared with 88.7 on May 1 this year, 92.0 on June 1 last year and 90.2, the 10-year average. Indicated yield 16 bushels per acre, compared with 17.2 last year and 16.3 bushels, the 1910-14 average.

There was a firm tone in the wheat market today, despite a break of 1d to 3d in Liverpool, and perfect weather for the domestic crop. The Government crop report, to be issued after the close of the market today, made traders cautious in selling aggressively on the breaks.

The Liverpool cable said:

"The wheat market was heavy, with continued large arrivals and scarcity of storage. Demand was quiet and pressure of Manitobas urgent. Cargo market was easy. Winters and Manitobas 6d lower; Plates and Australians nominal and neglected. Millers' supplies are large and attempts to resell Manitobas are in evidence. The corn market was dull; cargoes were unchanged. Argentine freights are very firm and Plate offers are dearer."

Broomhall's foreign news:

"Spain—Crop promises large. Stocks are large with fully 5,000,000 bu of foreign wheat in store. Further purchases will be limited.

"Argentine—Broomhall's agent estimates a record acreage for wheat as ewather is ideally favorable. Wheat surplus remaining June 1 is placed at 70,000,000 bu; corn 76,000,000 bu; oats 32,000,000 bu.

"United Kingdom—Weather warm with occasional showers. General prospects for wheat are favorable and farmers are delivering freely at lowered prices. Foreign arrivals keep large and freights declining, which indicate more liberal export purchases as circumstances demand and more in line with buyers' views.

"France—Consumption is liberal and foreign arrivals fair, but stocks are increasing slowly if any and needs for foreign wheat will be on a large scale. The recent cold rain caused considerable delay in late seeding also planting of potatoes. Autumn sown crops are growing well but spring seeding is not favorable. Native wheat is selling at 54s 3d per 480 pounds."

Russell's News: "No charters were reported yesterday. Rates continue weak with full cargo boats offered quite freely with considerable pressure owing to the difficulty of selling wheat on the other side. The decline in full cargo boats' rates from the high of last month is equal to 15 cents a bushel and even at the decline rates are not on a working basis.

Export sales were reported yesterday of about 400,000 bu wheat and about 260,000 bu oats. Some oats are being taken nearly every day. There is very little wheat business for export excepting the transactions by the different Government representatives."

Northwest cars:

COTTON DIPS SLIGHTLY IN THE NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 8.—Reports that some Southern hedge selling had developed on the advance of yesterday and relatively easy cables seemed to cause some scattering liquidation at the opening of the cotton market here today. First prices were 2 to 4 points lower and active months worked off another 3 or 4 points after the call, with October selling down to 12.90c and Dec. 13.08c.

Liverpool was again a buyer to undo straddles, operations of that sort being promoted by the easier ruling of ocean freights, but New Orleans was a seller here, and there was also local selling on an idea that the scattering short interest had been pretty well covered on the advance of the previous day. Private cables reported a quiet market in Liverpool, with the advance checked by a little hedge selling.

Canadian Pacific Railway Head Offices Montreal

Building the Canadian Nation

Constructed with the express object of linking the Pacific with the Atlantic Provinces of the Dominion of Canada, the Canadian Pacific Railway has grown to be an immense system—
—owning and controlling over 18,000 miles of track
—operating over 100,000 miles of its own Telegraph system
—owning and operating a chain of first class hotels from Coast to Coast —settling vast areas of its own agricultural land with genuine settlers —possessing rich mineral and other natural resources
—controlling subsidiary Ocean Services on both Atlantic and Pacific with fleets totalling nearly 400,000 tons.

THE Head Office of the Canadian Pacific is the outstanding building in Montreal, Canada's commercial metropolis, just as the Chateau Frontenac is the landmark of the ancient political capital of Quebec.

The enormous growth of manufactures and industry in the East is part of the Canadian Pacific's contribution to the building of Canada. So that the banker or investor desiring to study Canadian conditions by personal investigation should consider East as well as West. Montreal is Canada's banking centre and the Place Viger is close to St. James Street.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By Roy L. McCardell.

Mr. Jarr Comes Home Early, but Mrs. Jarr "Argues" Him Out of the House.

A BEVY of young girls were passing by, and Mrs. Jarr, looking down on the street, said: "Isn't it terrible the way young girls dress these days? Why, girls of 16 dress like women of 30!"

"Huh!" remarked friend husband. "More often you finds it's women of 30 dressing to look like girls of 16."

"Oh, my! How observing you are!" said Mrs. Jarr.

"I'm observing enough to be on to that," replied Mr. Jarr. "The young girls are all right. It's the old hens who are making a show of themselves. It's just like all this talk of the high cost of living. Living as people of moderate means lived 20 years ago would be just as cheap today. The trouble is that people don't want to live cheaply. The high cost of living is because so much money goes for small luxuries—luxuries we didn't use to have."

"What luxuries do we have, even small ones?" asked Mrs. Jarr.

"Well, take the moving pictures, for instance," replied Mr. Jarr. "There are 30,000 moving picture shows in the United States. I'll bet it costs 50 cents every week taking our children to see the movies."

"As we can't afford to go to the regular theaters, where tickets cost $2, the moving pictures at 5 and 10 cents are no great extravagance."

"Then there's the telephone. That costs $3 a month."

"Have it taken out!" cried Mrs. Jarr. "All it's used for is for you to call me up and tell me an important matter keeps you from coming home to dinner. Women don't use it!"

"They don't, hey?" asked Mr. Jarr. "Say, women are the original telephone fiends! Half of them have telephonitis. Don't I see them?"

"I dare say you do," replied Mrs. Jarr icily. "But go on!"

"Well, you know the women of today are so addicted to the telephone habit that they neglect the piano," said Mr. Jarr with some heat. "Look at that Clara Mudridge-Smith! She's hanging on to the telephone, gassing to all the other women she knows all day long. Why, if you try to get her telephone you only get a clacking in your ears and then hear Central say: 'Wire's busy!'"

"It's too bad you are thwarted in your attempts to talk over the telephone with fascinating Mrs. Mudridge-Smith!" remarked Mrs. Jarr, grimly "Be careful you don't talk too much!"

"I'm talking about trying to get her husband on the telephone," said Mr. Jarr. "My business is with him, and you know it. Great Scott! Can't a man talk to you about anything in this world without your taking a wrong meaning out of it?"

"You started it. You betrayed yourself!" said Mrs. Jarr.

"Now, look here!" cried the exasperated man. "You are always asking me to come home early. But what's the use? The earlier I come home the more time it gives you to fuss with me."

And seizing his hat, he rushed out. Whereupon Mrs. Jarr went to the phone and called up Mrs. Mudridge-Smith and conversed with her for half an hour because, as Mrs. Jarr said, "Mr. Jarr was out and she wanted somebody to talk to."

Just the Very Nag.

A SCOTTISH farmer of a miserly disposition bought a horse at a fair. On the way home he thought a drink of water would refresh it, so he got a pail of water, but the animal would not take it. When he got home he offered it a feed of corn; but to his surprise it would not touch that, either.

"Well," he muttered to himself, "if only I was sure ye were a guid worker, ye're the verra horse for me."

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell You This as a New One

MAMMA, I guess you'll have to turn the hose on me."

"Why?"

Probably Not.

WHEN you promised to be a sister to me, did you mean it in the Scriptural sense?"

"How would that be?"

Unsatisfactory.

YOU told me that if this safety razor didn't do the work as well as any barber I might return it and get my money back, didn't you?" asked the customer.

"I did,' replied the salesman, "and I stand ready to back up my guarantee.

"Well, I guess you'll have to come across with the coin. This razor hasn't got any opinions on national politics or the European war, doesn't know the batting averages of a single player in any league, and can't even tell me that it looks like rain or that my hair is getting thin on top."

Not Without Warning.

Husband: Not exactly without warning. She told me this morning I had better bring home some dyspepsia tablets tonight, but I didn't quite understand what she meant.

AN optimist is a fellow who believes that maybe some day, Summer is comming.

Courageous Child.
